VOTING ELSEWHERE IN ILLINOIS.

Clerk............... FREMONT GUNDERSON

By a fortunate discovery of seven ballots on the floor after the votes in the ballot-box had been twice counted the Citizens' ticket at the Evergreen Park election yesterday was declared elected.

On the first count the Republican ticket was ahead by 97 to 93, but when the seven ballotts got in their work the result was announced as 100 for the Citizens and 90 for the Republicans.

It is altogether probable the election will be contested, though Mr. Bailey, who represents the Republicans, was not certain what course would be pursued. Others said the property-owners intended to fight the matter to a finish. There is no doubt more warrants will be sworn out for the arrest of persons on charges of voting illegally. However, unless the courts intervene "Brother" Leppin's saloon will continue to do business at the old stand and the present board will continue to administer the affairs of the village.

After the result of the counting was announced the Republicans accepted it as a foregone conclusion. They had no representative among the judges and clerks and they had no one in the room when the final count was made. They were glad enough, too, to hunt their homes at dark and stay there through fear it wouldn't be safe to argue matters since some of the opposition had shown a tendency to drink too much of "Brother" Leppin's beer.

How the Election Progressed.

Owing to the feeling engendered during the campaign, trouble was feared yesterday. President Foley of the Village Board swore in six special policemen. Besides there was the regular village policeman and constable, while Deputy Sheriff A. J. Porter of Maywood and A. C. Boeher of Blue Isand were around.

The election was held in the new village hall a block from the saloon. Every other man was challenged, but affidavits were promptly made and every one voted. As the Citizens' ticket men were certain of victory there was no objection to the Rev. Mr. Moore, Attorney John C. Bailey, and other Republicans being present when the count began. The "Citizens" had the entire board of judges and clerks. President Foley also had Attorney Weber of Chicago present.

Trouble Over the Count.

The ballots numbered 190 and corresponded with the count of the two challengers. But soon the trouble began. The separation of the ballots resulted in a great surprise. It showed 97 Republican votes and 93 Citizens. The Republicans were about to shout when some one said:

"There are some ballots on the floor."

The Republicans had kept their eyes on the ballot box, but when they saw Citizens' tickets being picked up they began to shout fraud. Confusion followed.

The count stopped and then with considerable unanimity the judges began to demand that the room be cleared. Everybody was hustled out. The judges found seven more ballots than had been cast. After pondering awhile they sent for Attorney Weber. When he came out of the room he said:

"They asked my advice and then acted on it. The box was shaken and eight ballots drawn out and burned."

"Did they shake the box?"

"Yes, the box was shaken and I saw the ballots taken out and burned."

Republicans Declare It a Farce.

Mr. Weber's announcement differed in the number of ballots presumably picked up by one, but there was a great deal of excitement. Meanwhile the Rev. Mr. Moore was outside declaring the whole thing was a farce. Mr. Bailey and Constable Hamilton also declared the ballots were not dropped from the box. That, however, was subsequently admitted. There is not much doubt the original count was against the Citizens' ticket. Fred Leppin, who acted as challenger for the Citizens' ticket, left the room and started for his brother's place of business. As he was leaving he said the Republican ticket was two votes ahead. This was just before the hubbub.

After deciding on a recount the judges labored till nearly 8 o'clock. They gave out while they were at it, however, that the Citizens' ticket was a winner by a majority of 10.

REPUBLICANS WINNERS IN EVANSTON

The Republican party elected its ticket at Evanston yesterday, with the exception of City Attorney. The vote varied so in regard to the different candidates as to show that party affiliations did not play as important a factor as was expected. The city voted overwhelmingly to adopt the civil service act and voted down the proposition to bond the city for $88,000 to build an electric lighting plant. The vote on city officers was as follows:

Ward.	—MAYOR.— Dyche (R.)	Parker (Ind.)	—TREASURER.— Quinlan (R.)	Hemenway (Ind.)
1	294	138	278	134
2	290	93	280	90

7	305	210	217	305
Totals	1,906	721	1,332	1,354
Majority	1 185			22

Every ward in the city voted in favor of Dyche, Quinlan, and Bogart. The Seventh, the university ward, cast 532 votes, the greatest number of any ward in the city. Of these 300 were students. But ninety-seven straight Republican votes were cast in the ward.

The vote for Alderman in the Seventh Ward was remarkably close. For the full term of two years there were two candidates, F. McFarrey, R., and George Dickson, Ind. A dispute arose over three votes, and the disposition of these will decide the contest. For the short term of one year there were three candidates, C. J. Tisdel, R., Joseph McCallum and P. Greiner, Ind. Tisdel and McCallum received a tie vote. A new election may have to be called.

NORTH HARVEY CITIZENS WIN IT.

They Defeat the Administration in a Hot Fight.

The series of municipal rows at North Harvey culminated last night in the triumph of the Citizens' ticket over the Prohibition or administration ticket. The North Harvey Election Board being parties defendant to the popular charge of collusion with contractors in awarding special assessment contracts, refused to allow the names of the Citizens' candidates to appear upon the official ballot and the court sustained this decision. Not to be outdone the "Citizens" printed a ballot having on it the names of the Prohibition or administration candidates, but reserving a space and a square opposite for interpolation and checking of the names of the Citizens' candidates. The Citizens' scheme worked, however, and they elected all their candidates yesterday by comfortable majorities. The vote:

For President—S. F. Swantes (Pro.), 25; S. E Gardner (Cit.), 66.

For trustees—Allan Winans (Pro.), 24; Erwin Cranson (Cit.), 67; W. W. Gernsey (Pro.), 24; F. Cushman (Cit.), 65; J. M. Shuward (Pro.), 26; R. W. Plumb (Cit.), 64.

For Clerk—W. A. Jones (Pro.), 26; C. E. Taylor (Cit.), 65.

Treasurer—C. J. Cowan (Pro.), 27; M. M. Green, 63.

President Swantes, against whom a warrant issued Monday for tearing down election notices, gave bonds in the sum of $500 to appear before Justice Everett April 19.

F. C. Ward, a holdover member of the Village Board, resigned last night.

In the election at Grossdale A. A. Cranwell was chosen President of the Village Board. The other officers elected are: Village Clerk, John Hahn; Trustees, Arthur Sintsen, A. L. Brouse, and John Deckney. There were two tickets in the field, the Citizens' and the People's tickets. Out of 155 votes cast the Citizens' ticket received a majority of 86. The issue was whether local improvement should be immediately inaugurated.

The election of town officers for the Town of Lamont, held yesterday, was a quiet one. There was only one ticket. The following are the officers for the ensuing year: President, J. W. McCarty; Trustees, P. Fishbach, S. Spence, S. Markiewicz; Clerk, W. Cafferty.

A. P. A. MEETS DEFEAT IN ROCKFORD.

Hottest Campaign the City Has Ever Experienced.

Rockford, Ill., April 16.—[Special.]—The hottest municipal campaign ever experienced in Rockford culminated today in the election of Edward W. Brown as Mayor over Amasa Hutchins, the present incumbent. Hutchins was the avowed candidate of the A. P. A., and the fight was waged on that issue. Brown won by a majority of 53. The city is ablaze with bonfires and red lights and bands are parading the streets followed by exulting hundreds. Both candidates were no license men. The Council elected shows a gain of two Aldermen for the no license party, but a majority of the Council will still be for license. The license issue was lost sight of in the campaign, the fight being between A. P. A. and anti-A. P. A. The vote polled was over 6,000, fully 1,000 more than was ever cast in a municipal election before. The newly elected Mayor is being taken about town to make speeches to crowds congregated at different points.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY AT PEORIA.

W. M. Allen Elected Mayor—Total Vote Heaviest Ever Cast.

Peoria, Ill., April 16.—[Special.]—The Republicans won a glorious victory here today, electing William M. Allen Mayor against the Democratic, Populist, and Independent church element candidates. His plurality is 257, and the total vote 9,507, the heaviest ever cast here. The Republicans elect their entire ticket except Police Magistrate, but only elect three of seven Aldermen.

OTHER TOWNS AND VILLAGES VOTE.

Results in Joliet, Aurora, Waukegan, and Many Other Places.

Following are brief returns from other places in the State:

Alton—The city election passed off quietly. Much interest had been excited as to the result of the vote for Mayor, both candidates for which were Republicans and ex-Mayors. It turned out to be an overwhelming majority for Henry Brueggeman, who defeated H. G. McPike by 887 votes out of a total vote of 2,300. The balance of the ticket was elected as follows: City Clerk, Patrick Ward; City Treasurer, Louis J. Hartman; Aldermen, A. N. Young, George Burton, H. A. Hoffman, William H. Rippe, Charles Holden, August Leur, Harry Lessner.

Aurora—The city election resulted as follows: Mayor, L. K. Scott; Clerk, William Pfrangle; Attorney, Frank G. Plain. The People's ticket was elected entire, except one Alderman. The vote was the largest ever polled—about 4,800. Mayor-elect Scott is at the head of one of the largest dry goods firms in the city.

Cairo—C. R. Woodward, A. P. A. candidate, elected Mayor over three rivals.

Champaign—Republicans carried the city for the first time in six years; E. E. Chester is the new Mayor.

Danville—The Republicans elected their entire city ticket today and seven out of the eight members of the City Council. The Democrats had no city ticket in the field and only ran Aldermanic candidates in three wards.

Elgin—At the city election today the following were elected: Mayor, C. H. Wayne; City Attorney, F. H. Schultz; City Treasurer, A. B. Church; City Clerk, W. F. Sylla; Aldermen, Cornell, Jencks, Alden, Snell, Grove, Anderson, Linkfield, and Schram. The vote was a large one.

Freeport—The municipal election today was the most exciting in the history of the city. It resulted in the election of James P. Younger, Democrat, for Mayor by 60 majority. The balance of the Democratic ticket was also elected. Younger was bitterly fought by Democratic State Committeeman Wright, ex-Sheriff McNamara, and Chief Clerk W. H. Mitchell of Secretary of State Hinrichsen's office. The vote was the largest on record.

Galena—At the municipal election today J. G. Schmel, independent candidate, was elected Mayor by 68 plurality over G. S. Avery, Republican, and T. J. Bermington, Democrat. There was a lively contest and the remainder of the ticket was divided about evenly between the Republican and Democratic candidates.

Geneva—Irving L. Howell, People's party candidate for Mayor, was elected; license carried by a large majority.

Jacksonville—The election was one of the most exciting and hotly contested ever known. The returns are not all in, but enough is known to say the election of Charles Widmayer (Dem.) is certain and by a majority of from 150 to 200 over Henry Schoenfield (Rep.), the present incumbent. The Republicans elect seven Aldermen while the Democrats secure five. The Republicans elect the Treasurer and Attorney, while the Clerk stands in doubt. The question of placing the schools under the general law was voted upon, but at this hour no returns have been given out. Women in large numbers voted for members of the Board of Education, but the result is not known.

SHE DIES IN THE LAKE

ANNA C. INGHAM'S BODY FOUND ON SHORE NEAR HIGHLAND PARK.

Coroner's Jury for Lake County Finds a Verdict of Suicide While Temporarily Insane—Victim Was a Teacher in the Girls' Collegiate Seminary in Dearborn Avenue—She Disappeared Last Sunday—Daughter of W. H. Ingham of Algona, Ia.—Her Parents Here.

The body of Miss Anna C. Ingham, a teacher in Miss R. S. Rice's Girls' Collegiate School, No. 481 Dearborn avenue, was found in the lake at 3 p. m. yesterday a mile south of Highland Park. She had been missing since 9:30 a. m. Sunday, when she left the school, it was thought, to go to the Sherman House, where her father, mother, and sister were stopping. A letter which she wrote her parents and other indications leave no doubt that Miss Ingham deliberately threw herself into the lake while under the influence of a fit of despondency caused by physical debility.

Miss Ingham was 34 years old. She was the daughter of W. H. Ingham, Algona, Ia., President of the Kossuth County State Bank and a pioneer of the State, he having settled in Algona forty-one years ago.

The story of her suicide is a strange one, the deed having been committed when it would seem natural that Miss Ingham should have been overjoyed at the prospect of meeting those who were most dear to her. Mr. and Mrs. Ingham and their younger daughter, Cornelia, reached the city Saturday night on their way home from a trip to Florida. They stopped over at the Sherman House to have a visit with Anna. The same evening they sent a note by messenger to her, apprising her of their arrival and asking her to attend Easter service at the Central Church with them. To this Anna replied in an affectionately worded letter saying she would do as they asked. She did not, however, go to the hotel Sunday morning and the parents, at that time suspecting nothing wrong, went to church with their other daughter, leaving word at the hotel that Anna should wait until they returned.

Surprised She Had Not Come.

When the family came back from church they were surprised that Anna had not yet arrived. They waited until 3:30 p. m., when, becoming thoroughly alarmed, they went to Miss Rice's school and learned their daughter had left there between 9 and 10 a. m. A search was organized, but there was absolutely no clew to direct intelligent effort. One of the teachers had noticed that when Miss Ingham left the house she walked north on Dearborn avenue toward Lincoln Park—that was all that was known.

The police were informed of the matter and given a description of the missing woman. Nothing definite was learned concerning her until 11 o'clock Monday, when her parents received a letter from her. The letter was undated, but the envelope bore the Highland Park postmark and had been stamped that morning. Its contents were such as to show Miss Ingham had left the school in a state of great depression. She said she was discouraged over her continued ill-health and thought it would be better for everyone if she were dead. The letter was full of love and tenderness for her friends. It contained no directly expressed intention of self-destruction, though it was intimated that such a course was contemplated. One phrase used was: "If the spirit lives, I will watch over you."

Searches for His Daughter.

As soon as the letter was received Mr. Ingham secured the assistance of Detective Alexander of the Central Station and went to Highland Park in search of his daughter. They reached the suburb Monday afternoon and prosecuted their inquiries until late at night. They did not find her. They found people who had seen a woman whose description corresponded with that of Miss Ingham wandering around the streets in Highland Park Sunday afternoon. Detective Alexander thought it probable from the time Miss Ingham left the house she had gone north on the Northwestern funeral train which leaves Chicago at 10:45 a. m. and runs no farther than Highland Park. At 10 o'clock Monday night he found the conductor and brakeman of that train, and the brakeman remembered assisting a woman off the train at Highland Park, and from his description the detective concluded she was Miss Ingham. Mr. Ingham and the detective returned to the city Monday night, but went back to Highland Park yesterday morning. They started searching parties out in every direction, through the woods and up and down the lake shore.

It was learned that Miss Ingham had been in Highland Park Monday. She went into a store and said she had left a veil there. She was evidently under an hallucination, as so far as those connected with the store knew she never had been in the place before. She was also seen on the lake shore at nightfall.

Where she passed Sunday night is a mystery.

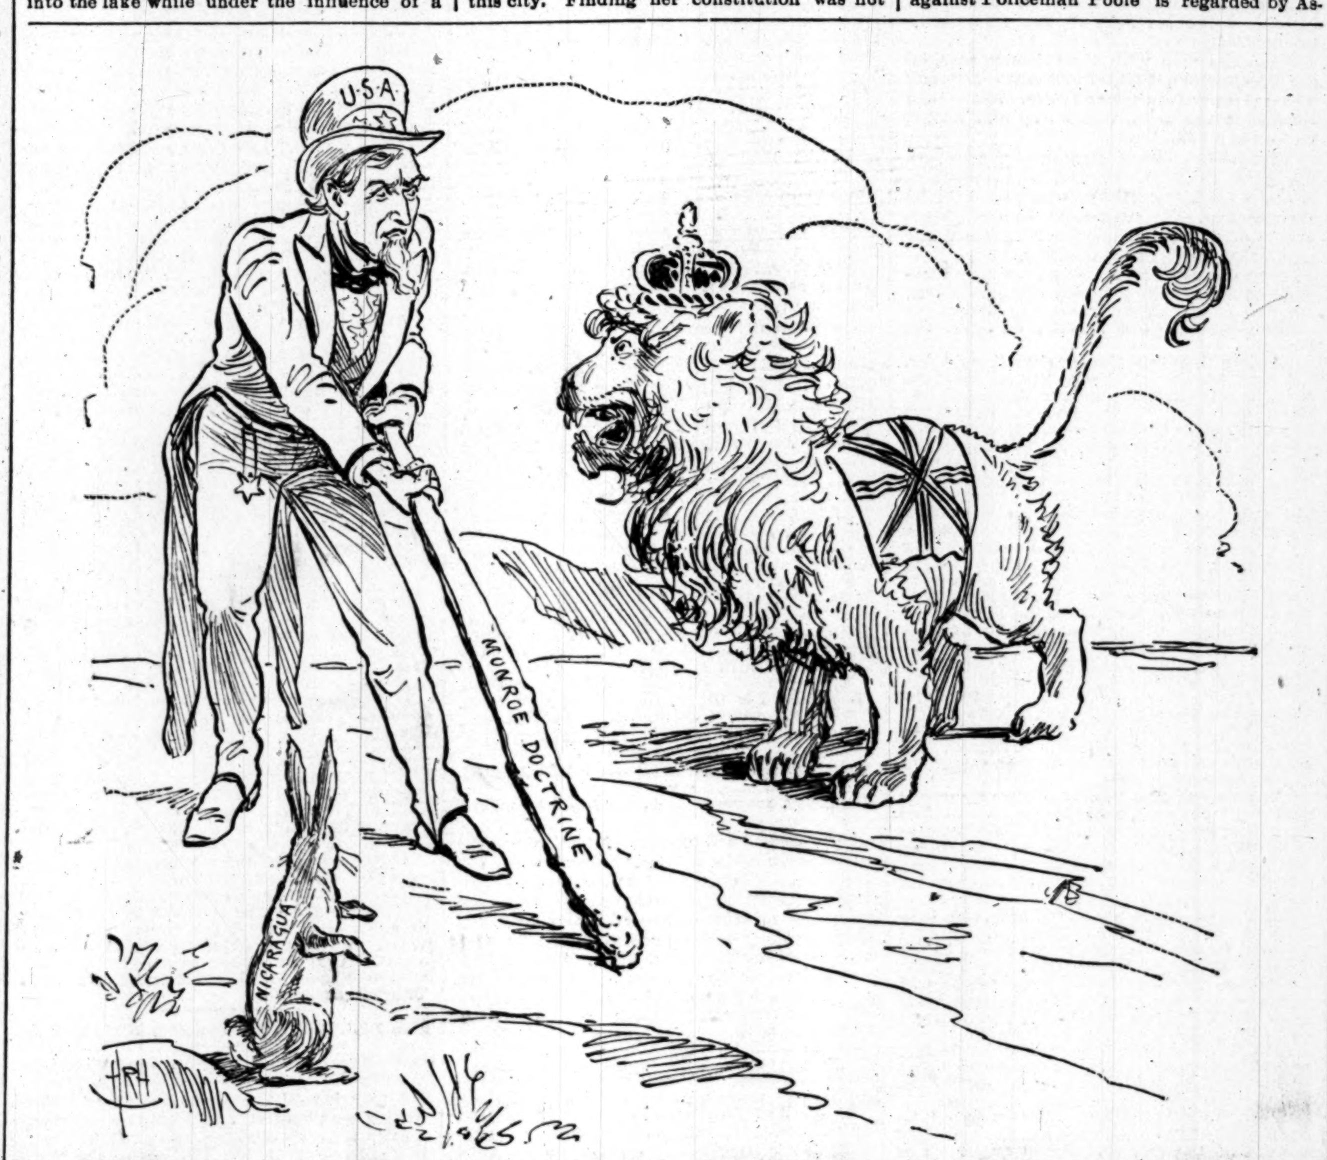
At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon one of the searchers who had gone south along the shore saw her body a short distance from the land in three feet of water a mile south of Highland Park. A hundred feet to the north a small breakwater juts into the lake and it is thought it was from this she threw herself into the water.

The body was taken to the village, where Coroner Knight of Lake County held an inquest. The verdict was suicide by drowning while temporarily insane.

The news was broken to the mother and sister by J. Irving Pearce, who has known the family for forty-three years, Mr. Ingham having been his guest when he first came West seeking a home. Miss Rice and several pupils and teachers of the school went to Mrs. Ingham to give such consulation as they could. Mrs. Ingham said she knew her daughter was in sound mind and that her death was caused by despondency, the result of ill health.

Miss Ingham had been connected with Rice's school ten years—three years as a pupil and seven years as a teacher. After graduating she attended Cornell University one year and then took a two years' course in the Honoré Training School for Nurses in this city. Finding her constitution was not strong enough to follow the profession of nurse, she returned to the Girls' Collegiate School, where she has taught ever since. She was greatly loved there. The beautiful pet name by which she was known among her school associates was "St. Anne."

Beside the relatives named Miss Ingham has a brother, Harvey Ingham, editor of the Algona Upper Des Moines, who will arrive in Chicago this morning. The remains will be brought in from Highland Park today and forwarded to Algona at 1:30 p. m. or this evening.



UNCLE SAM GIVES A WOULD-BE INTRUDER A TIMELY WORD OF WARNING.

DESTRUCTION CAUSED BY HIGH WATER.

Towns Flooded, Mills Stopped, and Thousands Rendered Idle in New England.

Boston, Mass., April 16.—[Special.]—Reports of damage by floods in Northern New England continue. More than twenty miles of railroad in the Pemigewasset Valley, New Hampshire, are washed away, and it will be a month before trains will be running again. Both the Boston and Maine, and the Concord and Montreal will lose upwards of $200,000 each. Fourteen bridges over Passumpsic River alone have been carried away.

At Bellows Falls William Burke fell from a bridge and was drowned, and S. N. Alexander Jr. and James Fitzgerald attempted to rescue a woman from a partially submerged building when their boat was overturned, and both perished.

At Concord, N. H., fifty families are homeless, and at Haverhill, Mass., the shoe shops are all shut down, the business part of the city being practically under water. Fully 10,000 operatives are out of work. In Nashua, N. H., nearly all business is stopped, all railroads tied up, and telephone and telegraph services suspended.

All the mills along the Merrimac River near Manchester are shut down. Fully 3,000 people have been made temporarily idle. In the eastern part of the city the streets are under water.

The dam of the S. D. Warren Paper company at Portland, Me., was carried away today, throwing over 6,000 men out of work. At Saco the mills are closed and the tenement-house section of the city is flooded.

LOCKED IN ICE CHEST BY A THIEF.

Barkeeper, Released by a Later Visitor, Finds $66 Stolen.

William H. Larson, bartender in Adolph Kruse's saloon, No. 195 East Madison street, was locked in the big ice box in the saloon at midnight by a robber. The thief carried a revolver and Larson promptly entered the ice chest when told to do so. When he was secure the robber took $66 from the cash drawer and left the place without releasing his victim. A few minutes later another man entered the saloon, saw nobody and was wondering why, when he heard noises from the ice-box. He opened the door and the bartender stepped out and went to Central Police Station, where he reported the occurrence.

MYSTERIOUS CASE OF WILLIAM HOSHOR.

Dr. Noel Thinks He Has Been Arrested, but This the Police Deny.

Dr. E. P. Noel of No. 577 West Congress street is looking for William Hoshor, who roomed at his house. Officers searched Hoshor's room yesterday, presumably to find claim papers of the West Chicago Street railway company, by whom Hoshor was employed until recently. Dr. Noel, thinking that possibly Hoshor might have been arrested, made inquiries of the police and of the detective agencies, but they denied all knowledge of the case. Officials of the railway corporation also plead ignorance and the doctor is mystified.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR IS KILLED.

Run Down by a Train the Night Before Election at Bluffs, Ill.

Jacksonville, Ill., April 16.—[Special.]—John Worthcutt, a prominent citizen of Bluffs and candidate for Mayor on the license ticket, was killed near Chapin last night by a freight train. The election occurred today.

POOLE IN THE GANG.

POLICEMAN SUSPECTED OF BEING AN ACCOMPLICE OF THIEVES.

He Is Suspended from Duty in the Desplaines Street Station and Orders Are Issued for His Arrest—Police Believe He Was Connected with the Ream and Keith Burglaries, and Have Evidence Indicating His Connection with Clarence White's Gang of Burglars.

Policeman Charles J. Poole of the Desplaines Street Station has been suspended from duty and orders have been issued for his arrest. Circumstantial evidence gathered by detectives from Central and Desplaines Street Stations indicates the policeman was connected in some way with the gang of burglars of which Clarence White, alias "Whitey," is the head. White is now under bonds on charges of participation in the Ream and Keith burglaries and the evidence against Policeman Poole is regarded by Assistant Chief of Police Ross and Inspectors Shea and Lewis as strong.

For a week Poole has been watched by detectives both when on duty and off. According to the statements of Ross, Shea, and Lewis, and as told in The Tribune yesterday, damaging evidence was found against Poole Monday night, when detectives made a raid on a house at No. 58 South Sangamon street. In a wardrobe there, owned by Mary Ryan, alias Clara Blackwood, were found a vest and pair of trousers belonging to a policeman's uniform. Private marks found on the clothes showed they belonged to Policeman Poole, and the finding of the articles in the possession of the Ryan woman was regarded as indicating the policeman had some connection with White's gang of burglars.

This, however, was not the first suspicious circumstance which pointed to Poole as a probable accomplice of the White gang. For some time the policeman's beat has been in the neighborhood of a saloon at Lake and Morgan streets, where the men, White and Smith, who are said to have committed the Ream and Keith burglaries, made their headquarters. The night before these two men were arrested—Monday, April 8—Poole, it is said, was seen in conference with White and immediately after he arrested a private detective named Schuttler, who was watching the gang.

Instead of taking the detective to the station as soon as he was arrested Poole, it is said, led him around for an hour in spite of the protests that he was a detective. Finally Poole took the man to the Desplaines Street Station and Schuttler at once was released. Poole is then said to have gone back to the saloon and told the members of the White gang or the woman, Mary Ryan, that the man he had arrested was a detective. As a result, it is asserted, the next day Detective Schuttler, who was acquainted with a member of the gang named Gray, was asked to step into a buggy in which Gray and the Ryan woman were seated. They said they would take him to a man named Budd, for whom Schuttler was looking. Schuttler was driven to West Fifteenth street and Sawyer avenue, where an attempt was made to murder him.

Detectives who have been watching Poole think the policeman arrested Schuttler at the request of the White gang and that the delay in taking him to the station was for the purpose of allowing the men to conceal the property they had stolen from the Ream and Keith houses.

Two days later Desplaines street policemen arrested a private watchman named Numeister and took him to the station. In his possession was found a gold watch, which had been stolen from a South Side residence. Numeister, when closely questioned, said the watch had been sold to him by Policeman Poole. He was released, but is still under surveillance.

Poole did not appear at roll-call at the Desplaines Street Station last night. Formal notice of his suspension was made and all officers were given orders to arrest him if they should see him.

VATICAN ON MANITOBA'S SCHOOLS.

Canadian Bishops Receive Unofficial Congratulations on Their Attitude.

Winnipeg, Man., April 16.—[Special.]—Much excitement was created here today by a rumor that the Vatican had sent a mandate to the Manitoba Bishops upholding them in their attitude in the agitation against separate schools. In an interview tonight Archbishop Langevin denied he had received an encyclical letter from Rome. He had, however, received a letter from the Cardinal-General at Rome saying he was pleased with the attitude of the Canadian Episcopacy on the matter. His epistle was, however, a mere matter of courtesy and not an edict from the Vatican. The Cardinal-General was opposed to godless schools. Archbishop Langevin said Catholics would not necessarily be excommunicated if they supported Manitoba's public schools. The policy in Manitoba was practically the same as that enunciated by Mgr. Satolli.

CLEW IN THE HUNTER MURDER CASE.

Roughly Dressed Stranger Seen Departing About the Time of the Assault.

Detectives from Inspector Hunt's district fairly besieged the Exchange Building and other parts of the Stock-Yards yesterday in an effort to find clews to the murderer of E. R. Hunter. A man who was at work in the cow pens near the south end of the Exchange Building about the time Mr. Hunter was assaulted Friday night last says he saw a roughly-dressed stranger leave the building hurriedly by the south door just before 6 o'clock and walk hurriedly across the viaduct towards the south shipping chutes. One of Hunter's old solicitors, who is now in Missouri, has been asked to come to Chicago and tell the police about some threatening messages he had carried from Hunter to various men about the yards. John Weir, the brother-in-law of Hunter, who had a long talk about the murder with Inspector Hunt Monday night, was at the yards yesterday working with the police.

FEAR LYNCHING AT STEELVILLE, MO.

Mob Threatens to Kill A. M. Green and His Five Sons.

Steelville, Mo., April 16.—Alexander M. Green and his five sons, who are accused of the murder of David Hildebrand, arrived here this afternoon from St. Louis, where they were taken to prevent them from being lynched. A telegram from the Sheriff's office was sent to Gov. Stone today apprising him of the situation and asking that a force of militia be sent to prevent a lynching here. Gov. Stone replied that the Sheriff must protect his prisoners at all hazards. The prisoners were given a hearing while a crowd of 400 or 500 people surrounded the court-house, standing in a heavy downpour of rain. The Sheriff will have a heavy guard on at the jail tonight to prevent trouble.

JUDGE GROSSCUP PASSES AN UNEASY DAY

Fever Adds Complications and Two Physicians Are in Attendance.

Redlands, Cal., April 16.—[Special.]—Judge Grosscup passed an uneasy day. His heart caused considerable worry both for himself and his associates. It is evident a fever has come on to add to complications already serious in consequence of his worn system and the weakness and irregularity of his heart while two physicians, his wife, daughter, and sister are constant attendants upon him and there is nothing left undone. More depends upon the vitality of the patient than on medical attendance. It is evident that those about him have grave fears.

SENATOR WILLIAM GOEBEL ACQUITTED.

Case Dismissed on the Ground That He Killed Sanford in Self-Defense.

Cincinnati, O., April 16.—The trial of State Senator William Goebel for killing Col. John L. Sanford was held in Covington, Ky., today before Judge Stephens of Kenton County Court. The charge was manslaughter. A great many witnesses were examined. The predominant testimony was that Sanford accosted Goebel first and fired first. Attorney-General Hendricks was positive on this point, and his testimony was corroborated by many witnesses and contradicted by none. On the ground that Senator Goebel acted in self-defense he was acquitted and his case was dismissed.

BASEBALL KILLS AN OBERLIN STUDENT.

During a Practice Game George Cowan Is Struck on the Head.

Oberlin, O., April 16.—[Special.]—The accidental death of George Cowan, a student of the Oberlin Academy, which occurred at the Athletic Park this afternoon, has cast a gloom over the entire college and community. While practicing for the 'varsity Cowan was struck on the head by a liner and almost instantly killed, the blow soon being succeeded by convulsions. Mr. Cowan was an estimable young man, 22 years of age, and a splendid student. He would have been a freshman next year. Mr. Cowan's parents reside in Oberlin.

UNITED STATES FLAG IS REFUSED.

German School Refuses to Subscribe to the Words, "One Language."

Saginaw, Mich., April 16.—[Special.]—The Women's Relief Corps recently decided to present American flags to all public school rooms in the city, and included the German Lutheran School of the Sacred Heart. Following the presentation it was arranged the school children should take a pledge to the flag, embracing the words: "One country, one language, and one flag." R. H. Richter, the Superintendent of the German School, refused to accept the flag, owing to the words, "One language."

MAY FORCE A FIGHT.

Nicaragua Is Trying to Make a Catspaw of Uncle Sam.

CORN ISLAND IN DANGER.

Its Cession in Lieu of Cash Would Not Be Permitted.

COMMANDS THE BIG CANAL.

Important Changes Are Made in Japan's Peace Terms.

EDICT BY EMPEROR OF CHINA.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—[Special.]—If Nicaragua's counter proposition to Great Britain for the submission of the whole question in dispute to arbitration has been rejected by the latter government, as reported, administration officials will expect another strong appeal for assistance from the weak republic. Up to the close of office hours this evening the State Department authorities asserted nothing official had been received concerning Great Britain's reply. They are inclined to believe, however, the press reports are correct. While they had hoped Great Britain might accede to the terms of settlement proposed by Nicaragua the general policy of her Majesty's government to adhere to an ultimatum when once proclaimed has led them to expect noncompliance with Nicaragua's request.

The whole question has now reached an acute stage and no one at the State Department ventures to predict what the outcome will be. It is well known to the authorities Nicaragua cannot well afford at the present time to pay the $75,000 indemnity demanded without borrowing the money. It is understood Nicaragua has confessed in a semi-official way her inability to meet the demand.

May Be a Nicaraguan Trick.

There has been so much talk from Nicaraguan sources about the necessity for ceding Corn Island to Great Britain in lieu of the indemnity demanded that the authorities recognize the possibility of having the United States drawn into the controversy. This talk may be only a trick on the part of Nicaragua to force the United States into coming to her rescue, but it is nevertheless a fact that the officials are more concerned today about the Nicaraguan situation than they have been for some time past.

While Great Britain has disclaimed any intention of acquiring Nicaraguan territory it is appreciated that Nicaragua could force the administration into a vigorous assertion of the Monroe doctrine by offering under stress of circumstances to give Great Britain Corn Island in lieu of the indemnity. Although Nicaragua might of her own motion suggest the cession of Corn Island to Great Britain as a means of escaping the payment of the indemnity demanded such action would nevertheless be indirectly the result of coercion on the part of Great Britain. Hence the authorities would consider a move of this kind a violation of the Monroe doctrine and, as one official remarked today, the administration would be compelled to step in and prevent by force, if necessary, the consummation of any such deal. This is no doubt what Nicaragua would like.

Efforts to Enlist Uncle Sam's Aid.

From the beginning of the controversy with Great Britain every possible appeal has been made to enlist the assistance of our State Department in preventing Great Britain from securing the reparation she demanded for the outrages upon Consul Hatch and other British subjects. Until the present time the State Department has turned a deaf ear to all of these entreaties and has used its good offices to induce Nicaragua to comply with the demands made upon her by her Majesty's government.

The Corn Island dodge, therefore, seems to be the last resort for Nicaragua, and it is currently believed if Great Britain does not accept the arbitration proposition Nicaragua will play this little game to the full limit. There is good ground for the statement that if the cession of Corn Island is either demanded by Great Britain or offered by Nicaragua the United States will at once interfere, with force if necessary, and, so far as can be learned, this intimation has been conveyed to Ambassador Bayard and through him to the British Foreign Office.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, has not received any definite advices concerning the latest Nicaraguan developments. Sir Julian has not been kept advised of the negotiations, but such a decisive move as the one reported, indirectly involving the United States, undoubtedly would be communicated to him.

Two Views by Diplomats.

There are two views taken by diplomats of the status of affairs. One is that Great Britain's ultimatum was one submitted for acceptance or rejection. Nicaragua's answer proposed other terms, but is indirectly a rejection of the British terms. If Great Britain considers this an evasion she will proceed to enforce the ultimatum, which expires today. The other view is that Great Britain would not exert immediate force until the Foreign Office had taken the usual diplomatic course of rejecting Nicaragua's counter-proposition, in which case it would still be a subject for diplomacy and not force.

A well posted diplomatic authority, explaining matters from a British standpoint, indicated that a show of force probably might be made but that war would not happen. Some of the commercial vessels of the offending country might be seized or its commerce crippled until the terms of the demand were acceded to. The course adopted, if events reached the acute stage, would be to send a war ship to Nicaragua, as the United States did recently in the Renton case. The cruiser Montgomery, under Capt. Davis, proceeded to Honduras and naval instead of diplomatic representations were made, whereupon the latter country acceded to the demands of the United States for the settlement of the Renton case and the payment of an indemnity.

Says It Is None of Uncle Sam's Business

The State Department has made no protest against any proposed British action in Nicaragua for the reason that the British Government has regarded the issue between itself and Nicaragua as one in which no other nation can have any concern and has not acquainted the Government of the United States with its exact purposes. No vessel of the United States is now at Greytown, but the six vessels comprising the squadron of Admiral Meade are at Colon, within a day's sail of Greytown. It is said at the Navy Department that the fact that the six vessels are now within reach of the Mosquito coast is due to accident and not design. The department has been informed that Admiral Meade expects to reach Key West the 26th of this month, and as he is now only five days' sail from that point he can remain five days in the vicinity of Greytown and still carry out the itinerary agreed upon. There are no orders compelling him to be at Key West at the date named, although it was a part of the general plan approved by the department before the squadron left on the cruise. It is probable the Atlanta and Raleigh will remain where they have been (at Colon) for some time after Admiral Meade with the other four vessels departs. The Monterey arrived at Mazatlan, Mexico, today on her voyage southward.

SHE WILL NOT BOMBARD GREYTOWN.

Britain Will Take Other Means to Collect the Nicaraguan Indemnity.

London, April 16.—It is stated on good authority that the question of a protest upon the part of the United States against the bombardment of Greytown and the landing of British troops in Nicaragua has never been raised between Great Britain and the United States so far as the British Government is aware. In any case, it is added, the British will not bombard Greytown in the event of Nicaragua refusing to comply with the demands of Great Britain. But steps will be taken to insure the payment of the indemnity demanded by the British Government and the necessary orders have been sent to commanders of British warships. But the nature of the orders sent to the British commanders and whether they include the landing of troops is not stated.

The Press Association this evening issued the following statement:

"Upon inquiry at the Foreign Office it was ascertained that the Washington dispatch giving Nicaragua's reply to the ultimatum of Great Britain is substantially correct. The reply, however, falls very short of Great Britain's demands. The British ultimatum demanded reparation for the expulsion of Mr. Hatch, the British Consular Agent, and for personal injury sustained by British subjects, and the appointment of a commission to arbitrate the amount of damages done to the property of British subjects, etc., indicating the composition of the commission and stipulating that no American should be chosen as a member. Nicaragua now seeks to refer the matter to an impartial commission of arbitration, apparently ignoring the main demand respecting the expulsion of Mr. Hatch. The Foreign Office is unable to state now what Great Britain's course will be, as the position is extremely delicate, but apparently Great Britain can without loss of dignity accept such a compromise as Nicaragua suggests."

The Globe says the answer of Nicaragua to the ultimatum of Great Britain regarding the expulsion of Minister Hatch, British consular agent, from Nicaraguan territory is not acceptable to the British Government, and steps to enforce the ultimatum will be taken immediately.

CONFIRMED BY EMPEROR OF CHINA.

Issues the Edict Authorizing Peace—Slight Changes in the Terms.

Tien Tsin, April 16.—An imperial edict has been issued authorizing Li Hung Chang to sign the terms of peace in accordance with the Japanese ultimatum. The indemnity to be paid by China, according to the edict, is 200,000,000 taels (a tael equals $1.33). The edict further authorizes Li Hung Chang to grant possession of Liao Lung peninsula to the fortieth degree of latitude and the island of Formosa to the Japanese; also to consent to the opening of Pekin and four new ports to commerce and to giving the Japanese power to open cotton factories and other industries in China. Another imperial edict grants sick leave to the Viceroy of Canton and orders his retirement to his native province.

The peace decree further provides that the import dues at the open ports shall not exceed 2 per cent.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—Secretary Gresham has received a cablegram from Minister Dun, at Tokio, confirming the signing of the peace convention between China and Japan. The terms agreed upon are in conformity with those already published saving the amount of the indemnity, which was subsequently reduced, probably to an amount estimated to be sufficient to pay all of Japan's war expenses. It is doubted, though, whether it has been brought down as low as $100,000,000 in gold. As to the territory which Japan is to possess it is understood here that aside from Formosa, which is absolutely ceded, the remainder will be subject only to temporary occupation, probably until all of the indemnity has been paid. This would leave Japan in temporary possession of the entire Liao Tung Peninsula, from Port Arthur, at the Southern extremity, clear up to Moukden, the capital of Manchuria on the north, and from the Liao River, on which Newchwang is situated on the west, to the Corean border on the east. This amounts to about 3,000 square miles and is populated by about 2,000,000 people.

The report of a condition that there should be an alliance offensive and defensive between Japan and China is not credited in Japanese circles, where it is not believed to have been even suggested. Such a consummation as this would mean the destruction of European commercial interests in the Orient, and it may be strong opposition will soon develop on the part of some of the powers to this feature of the agreement. It is noted, by the way, that this agreement is not final in all respects, but is simply a preliminary agreement, indicating on broad lines the ultimate terms of the definite treaty of peace, which may not be perfected for months to come.

London, April 16.—The Japanese Minister here, in an interview today, said the terms of peace stated in the press dispatches omit several particulars which he knew Japan had advanced, notably the favored nation treatment, and other commercial concessions. He also said an offensive and defensive alliance between China and Japan was scarcely reconcilable with the present requirements of Japan.

Berlin, April 16.—Owing to political considerations the government has decided to reinforce the German squadron in Eastern waters.

RUSSIA READY TO FIGHT JAPAN.

Statement That a Conflict Between These Powers Is Inevitable.

London, April 16.—A dispatch to the Standard from Vienna says that the inspired St. Petersburg correspondent of the Politische Correspondence declares that a conflict between Russia and Japan is inevitable if the published details of the Chinese-Japanese treaty of peace are correct.

INSURGENT LEADER IS NOT CAPTURED

Maceo Has Escaped to the Mountains of Cuba—Campos Takes Charge.

Havana, April 16.—Chagrin and anger succeeded the premature elation of Captain-General Calleja over the supposed capture of Jose Maceo. Anticipating unusual efforts to capture him the wily Cuban General donned a disguise and went to the front in command. Col. Guerra was the one captured, while Maceo escaped to the mountains with a few of his followers. At the head of one of the regiment of Cubans was Brig.-Gen. Crombet, who died a hero. An instant before he died he raised his head and cried: "God save Cuba from Spain." On his body, which was terribly mutilated by his enemies, were found papers giving names of all the leaders and estimates of the strength of the revolutionists.

Maximo Gomez, who has been in Hayti enlisting recruits, landed near Santiago with 600 men. He has gone to the mountains and will attempt to join Maceo. Havana hospitals are overcrowded with wounded. The dead are buried at night in order to avoid comment. About 500 patients are now in the hospital, 75 per cent of whom will die.

Captain-General Martinez Campos arrived at Guantanamo this morning. He met an enthusiastic reception from an immense crowd, which acclaimed him as "the peacemaker." Gen. Campos took possession of the island as Captain and Governor-General of Cuba at the moment of landing.

A body of 1,000 mounted insurgents has appeared in the District of Puerto del Padre. All prosecution against American citizens growing out of political offenses were today transferred from the military to the ordinary civil jurisdiction. This is an honor never before granted to any one.

GRESHAM'S EFFORT AS PEACEMAKER

Extracts from His Letters to Bayard on the Venezuela Boundary Dispute.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—The published correspondence of the State Department for 1894, made public today, contains but two letters in reference to the Venezulan boundary dispute. They are addressed to Ambassador Bayard at London and are dated July 13 and Dec. 1 last respectively. The first letter recites the efforts made to have the dispute settled by arbitration and England's gradually widening claims to territory and concludes with the opinion there are but two solutions to the question—arbitration or the creation of a new boundary line "in accordance with the dictates of expediency and consideration."

The second letter is a reference to Britain's contention that the validity of her claim to territory in dispute shall be a condition precedent to the submission of the matter to arbitration and hopes Mr. Bayard will succeed in securing an honorable settlement of the difficulty.

HONORS PAID THE WHITE SQUADRON.

Bouquet to Admiral Meade and His Officers at Colon.

Colon, April 16.—[Copyright, 1895, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—United States Consul Josiah L. Pearcy gave a banquet this afternoon at the Hotel Suisse to welcome the officers of Admiral Meade's squadron. There were present, among others, Admiral Meade, Capts. Cromwell, Sumner, Miller, Evans, and Glass, Inspector of Customs Wintersmith and Cole Tunedal of the Pacific Mail Steamship company. The Admiral's band gave a public concert in front of the Consulate. Tomorrow there will be a grand ball at the Washington House, attended by the officers of the United States warships. The fleet will, it is said, leave for Key West and intermediate points Thursday afternoon. One ship will go to Jamaica.

HONOR THE STARS AND STRIPES.

Occupies a Conspicuous Place at a Honolulu Banquet.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—Advices from Honolulu say the Hawaiian sentiment toward the United States is shown by the annual banquet and election of the National Guard. The Stars and Stripes were on either side "as defenses" to the Hawaiian flag. The music of the event was "Marching Through Georgia" and "Rally 'Round the Flag," and "The Star Spangled Banner" as a finale.

The Hawaiian Legislature is expected to convene next month and frame laws as to passports and lands. In order to set at rest rumors of torture inflicted on Capt. Davis as a result of the recent insurrection, Davis has made a statement denying all the charges made.

KILLED IN AUSTRIAN EARTHQUAKES.

Six More Shocks Felt at Laibach and Enormous Damage.

Vienna, April 16.—A dispatch from Laibach, capital of the Duchy of Carniola, announces that there were three fresh earthquake shocks there yesterday evening and three more at 9 o'clock this morning. These shocks, however, were not serious, and the people are returning to their homes. The fatalities at Laibach by the other shocks of Sunday amount to nine persons killed. They all met their death through being buried under falling buildings. In addition, three children were killed in the village of Rodica. Enormous damage was done in many towns and villages of the Laibach district.

RUMOR OF A ROYAL BETROTHAL.

Queen Wilhelmina May Marry One of Queen Victoria's Grandsons.

London, April 16.—The World publishes a report to the effect that Prince Alfred of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, eldest son and heir of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha (the Duke of Edinburg), is likely to be betrothed to the young Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. It has been announced here that Queen Wilhelmina, accompanied by the Queen Regent, will leave Amsterdam May 26 for London via Flushing. Prince Alfred is 20 years old.

The Hague, April 16.—The report of the bethrothal of Queen Wilhelmina to Prince Alfred of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha is denied here.

FRENCH DRAW A FINE DISTINCTION.

President Faure Causes Comment by the Way He Addresses an Archbishop.

Rouen, April 16.—President Faure arrived here today on his way to Havre, his electorate, where grand fêtes have been arranged in his honor. Much comment has been caused by the fact that the President addressed the Archbishop as "Monseigneur" instead of "Monsieur," as President Carnot was in the habit of doing. The incident is interpreted as showing President Faure's desire to conciliate the church.

HE HANGS HIMSELF TO A GAS JET.

Man Who Registered as W. L. French Kills Himself at Gault House.

A man who registered as W. L. French, Chicago, committed suicide at the Gault House some time between Monday night and yesterday afternoon by hanging himself to a gas jet with strips of a towel. The clerk looked over the transom yesterday and saw the body. A boy was pushed through to unlock the door and the body was cut down by a policeman. It now lies at the County morgue waiting identification. The man carried no baggage and had no papers in his clothing to give a clew to his identity. He was about 45 years old, well dressed, and appeared to be a man of business.

James Varney, a tailor, No. 592 Throop street, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself through the heart.

Dr. K. J. Nielsen, No. 39 Ray street, committed suicide yesterday by swallowing chloral. Mrs. Nielsen said her son had been despondent of late owing to illness. He died at Mercy Hospital.

RACHEL SPAAR MISSING FOR A MONTH.

Girl from McHenry County Comes to Chicago and Disappears.

Rachel Spaar, a 19-year-old girl, No. 1445 Wolfram street, has been missing for the last month, and yesterday the police were asked to look for her. Miss Spaar's home is in Union, McHenry County. Three months ago the young woman came to this city determined to earn her own living. Miss Spaar was well known in the neighborhood where she resided and was a member of the Episcopal Church. As far as known she had no male admirers, and the theory that she might have eloped is ridiculed by her father. The question of suicide is unlikely, as the girl was a devout member of her church and was to have been confirmed last Friday. According to the description furnished to the police Miss Spaar is five feet seven inches tall, with blue eyes, dark hair, and a fair complexion. Officers have been detailed on the case by Inspector Shea.

PERRY IS RUN DOWN.

FUGITIVE INSANE TRAIN ROBBER CAUGHT IN WEEHAWKEN, N. J.

He Is Found Wandering About Aimlessly and Tries to Escape, but Is Forced Finally to Surrender—He Acknowledges His Identity and Tells How He Escaped—Several Notable Weddings Celebrated in New York—General News from the Eastern Metropolis.

New York, April 16.—[Special.]—Train-robber Oliver Curtis Perry, who escaped from Matteawan Asylum for the Criminal Insane last Wednesday night with four other convicts, Maguire, O'Donnell, Quigley, and Davis, has been captured. He was taken into custody at 5 o'clock this morning by the police of Weehawken, who found him wandering in the train-yards of the West Shore railroad.

Policeman McAleece, on duty in the yards, saw a strange man lurking about early this morning and immediately thought it would be an act of wisdom to take him into custody. But when it came to putting the stranger under arrest there was trouble. When the policeman started for the man the stranger started to run for the hill near the railroad yard. Detective Clifford joined in the chase. After going about 100 feet one of the policemen struck Perry on the back with a club as he was running. He stumbled and fell, and holding up his hands exclaimed: "Don't strike me again." He was easily handcuffed.

When the men with the prisoner reached the Weehawken Police Station the prisoner was taken before Chief Kelly. Kelly was convinced the man was Perry and locked him up in a cell.

Chief Kelly at once telephoned the facts in the case to Supt. Byrnes, and Detective Reap, who knew Perry, was sent over to Weehawken. He took with him a photograph of Perry, and when he arrived the man acknowledged his identity.

Perry described how he and his four companions made their escape from Matteawan. He was released from his cell by one of the other prisoners, but refused to name the man.

"Before leaving the asylum," said he, "it was agreed we should use no weapon. After overpowering Keeper Carmody we made our way to the chapel, where we found the keys we had would not unlock the door. We discovered a long ladder and raised it to the roof of the chapel. Then we broke a hole through the boards and passed over to the isolation room, made our way to the attic, and crawled out of the window down a sloping roof to the eaves trough.

"I was the most agile, and taking along the ladder we climbed along the eaves to the front end of the asylum. We tied the ladder at the roof and let it swing down as far as it would. I was the first one to go down the ladder. There had been no agreement that we should stick together and I started ahead in the direction, as I believed, of the hills southeast of Peekskill."

Perry refused to tell the story of how he passed the time or by what means he escaped the search which has been so vigorously made for him since his escape. He said, though, that no one had assisted him on the way down here.

"If any one had helped me in any way," said he, "I would not now appear in this ragged attire of a tramp. If I had chosen so to do I could have had all the clothing necessary, but I did not care to implicate any one I had no weapons, which I could have had if I had so elected."

Perry was asked about the visit to a hospital in New York City Sunday. He had claimed in the morning he had been to the Hudson House of Relief and there had his feet dressed. They had been bruised and blistered by the many miles he had traveled. He described the hospital as being at Jay and Hudson streets, New York.

All Perry would say regarding how he had passed the nights since his escape was that he had slept in the hills southeast of Peekskill the first night.

"I was in New York nearly two days," he continued. "I walked through the principal streets of the city and asked questions of several policemen. Saturday or Sunday night I stayed at a German mission somewhere on the East Side."

Continuing, Perry told a story of his treatment at Matteawan Asylum. He said he had been there since June 2 last. He said he had been kept in a small room with bare walls and only unwholesome air to breathe. He said it would be a godsend to those people in the asylum if an investigation was made into the manner of the treatment of the patients there.

NOTABLE WEDDINGS IN NEW YORK.

Marriages Included That of Col. Elverson and Miss Mayo.

New York, April 16.—[Special.]—In the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, on Madison avenue and Thirty-fifth street, today, at 12:30 o'clock, was celebrated the marriage of Miss Eleanor Mayo, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mayo, to Col. James Elverson of Philadelphia. Several thousand invitations were sent out. The groom is one of the youngest newspaper managers in the country, being in business control of the Philadelphia Inquirer, of which his father is the owner.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Arthur Brooks, rector of the parish of the Incarnation, and the best man was Mr. Lemuel Coffin Altemus of Philadelphia. Mr. J. Ambrose Butler, publisher of the Buffalo Evening News, was to have been an usher, but was called away owing to the death of Mr. James W. Scott of Chicago. Miss Doronda Mayo, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Following the ceremony there was a breakfast at the Waldorf for the bridal party only.

The long talked of wedding of Miss Florence Westervelt and Mr. George Trotter took place today at St. Thomas' Church. It was an extremely large affair, and was followed by a reception and wedding breakfast at the residence of the bride's parents. Bishop Potter read the betrothal service and Dr. Wesley Brown officiated. Mr. John J. Thompson of Philadelphia was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Trotter will leave for Europe shortly.

At the town residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins Van Schaick, on University place and Washington square North, was celebrated today at noon the marriage of Miss Dorothy Van Schaick to Mr. Robert J. Kelly, a son of Mr. Eugene Kelly, the banker. Owing to the recent death of the groom's father only the relatives were present. The ceremony was performed by Archbishop Corrigan. Mr. Thomas Hugh Kelly, a brother of the groom, acted as best man.

JONES WRITES A LETTER FOR SILVER.

He Thinks the Movement a Vital Step Towards Financial Reform.

New York, April 16.—Senator Jones of Nevada, who is at present in the city, has written to Mr. Sibley as follows:

> I regard the new movement which you represent as the most vitally important step ever taken toward a financial reform. The platform of the American Bimetallic party is not a "straddle" and is not intended to deceive. It is one upon which all the advocates of silver money can consistently stand without feeling hampered or embarrassed by any of the other questions which tend to divide political parties. We have the assurance of all our opponents, including the President of the United States, that without a sound money we cannot have prosperity. In that we fully concur, and it being conceded that all other elements of prosperity must to a greater or less extent remain in abeyance awaiting the determination of the monetary issue is it not the paramount duty of our people fully to discuss and interest themselves upon that issue once for all? For twenty years we have been pleading with the dominant political parties to present the issue sincerely to the country, so that we might have a vote upon it. The advocates of free coinage, no matter what party, ought now to ask themselves how much longer they should wait. Silver advocates who are free traders (or revenue tariff men) admit that under a vicious monetary system even the tariff of their choice would fail to produce prosperity. Silver advocates who are protectionists concede in a like manner that under a bad monetary system even a protective tariff would prove a failure. Why, then, should we not first hear and determine the over-mastering issue? The beneficiaries of the gold standard will be marshalled in solid phalanx against us; they are strongly entrenched in power, will not easily be dislodged, and exercise overshadowing influence in the large centers of population. All evidences point to a contest of unexampled importance in 1896—the result of which, from a monetary point of view, may make it the contest of the century. All friends of silver should therefore rally to your support. If they will do this they need have no fear of the failure of the cause they hold dear. They will find themselves in an overwhelming majority in the country, provided they have but the courage to step out of the old ranks into the new.

Denver, Colo., April 16.—The silver balloon has been punctured and the engineers of the premature boom are seeking shelter from the storm. Every one is inquiring how they came to be roped in by designing Populists with promises of the appearance of old war horses like Stewart and Jones. It looks to the uninformed mind like a bunko game, but the play reacts on the promoters, who have disappeared while disclaiming all responsibility for the fizzle of the last two days. The program for a tour of the State has been cancelled and tonight Mr. Sibley left for his home. Warner will go to the coast, not, however, to spread the gospel of silver. In the pine woods he will bury his regrets and save himself from the annoyance of making too many explanations that are not of the happiest character.

BEEF MAKES ANOTHER ADVANCE.

Slight Rise in Price in New York—Butchers to Fight the Combine.

New York, April 16.—[Special.]—There was a slight increase today in the price of cattle on the hoof. It was set down as the result of decrease in the receipts yesterday here and at Chicago. There was no change, however, in the wholesale and retail prices. There has been a little lull in the beef trade, but now that the holy days are over the demand will increase. The lower grades of beef will be cheaper the latter part of June, when the Texas cattle come from grass. There are no local beef cattle. It was explained today the reason why the shipments to England keep up is that the space on a majority of steamers carrying live cattle and dressed beef to Great Britain is contracted for months ahead, and the exporter has the alternative of shipping or paying the freight without loading. Exporters are undoubtedly losing heavily because of the prices they have to pay for cattle now.

More than 500 East Side butchers, principally members of the Kosher Butchers' Association, decided at New Irving Hall, No. 214 Broome street, tonight to subscribe $10 each towards a fund for fighting the alleged Chicago beef combine. The Executive committee of the association, consisting of M. Abromoritz, A. Goldstein, Samuel Lockmann, D. Grosse, B. Lersky, M. Hoffman, L. Rose, and M. Goldstein, will meet daily to perfect their plans.

TO SAIL ON THE OCEAN LINERS TODAY.

Heavy List of Cabin Passengers, Including Tree and His Company.

New York, April 16.—[Special.]—The outgoing steamships tomorrow, particularly the Paris of the American line, will carry an unusually large number of passengers. H. Beerbohm Tree, Mrs. Tree, and their entire company will sail on the Paris. Other cabin passengers on the Paris will be Daniel Frohman, the Rev. Dr. Charles McCreary, Gen. William F. Draper, Mrs. Draper, George Innes Jr., Mrs. Innes, the Rev. Dr. Lindsay Parker, Prof. Theodore W. Richards, Dr. Charles Robinson, Count Zborowski, Col. Spencer, Jesse L. Seligman, Dr. F. Tischlein Jr., Lieut. Thornley, the Rev. D. P. Ward, Miss Jennie Yeamans, Mrs. John Kelly, R. A. Kipling, Bishop P. A. Ludden of Syracuse, and Newbold Morris.

Among the cabin passengers on the Friesland, for Antwerp, will be the Rev. Charles F. Aiken, Dr. Jeannie O. Arnold, Dr. Russell Bellamy, Miss Grace Bigelow, Dr. Philip King Brown, Dr. C. C. Coakley, and the Rev. William J. Hurley.

Among those on the White Star liner Britannic, for Liverpool, will be Mrs. F. B. Leigh, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacPherson, Prof. Cyrus Wilson, and Mrs. Wilson.

DR. DVORAK BEGINS HIS VACATION.

Famous Composer Sails for Bremen on the Saale.

New York, April 16.—[Special.]—Among the passengers who sailed for Bremen on the steamship Saale this morning was Dr. Antonin Dvorak, the renowned composer, whose vacation as the director of the National Conservatory of Music has just begun. Unlike Paderewski's departure, the farewell of the Bohemian composer was unattended by the tearful scenes that moved the mirth of the young Polish pianist. This may have been due largely to the fact that, with the exception of Mrs. Jeanette M. Thurber, the President of the National Conservatory, none but men, the friends and pupils of the genial composer, had come to see Dr. Dvorak off. Dr. Dvorak expressed himself as highly satisfied with this year's work at the conservatory. While in Europe, he said, he would continue his work on his new opera, "Hiawatha," for which an American librettist has been found.

GENERAL NEWS FROM NEW YORK.

Mr. A. V. Armour Sails on the Ituna for New London.

New York, April 16.—[Special.]—Mr. Allison V. Armour of Chicago sailed on his steam yacht Ituna today for New London. The Ituna arrived here two days ago from a long exploring trip in Central American waters. Mr. Armour's party is said to have made a number of important archæological discoveries, and he has collected many interesting and valuable relics for the Columbian Museum of Chicago.

Henderson Preparing Some Novelties.

David Henderson's American Extravaganza company is rehearsing some novelties for introduction in "Aladdin Jr." during its stay in New York and which will appear in this piece on its return for the summer engagement at the Chicago Opera-House May 20. It is understood the "Mimic World," a new extravaganza by Sidney Rosenfeld, has been secured by Henderson and will receive its initial production in Chicago during the summer season.

National Linseed Oil Company Investigating Committee's Report.

In compliance with the demand of certain dissatisfied stockholders of the National Linseed Oil company there was appointed at the annual meeting in February a committee to examine into the accounts of the company and into alleged mismanagement. The results of the investigation have been favorable to the company, as will be seen by the report, which is as follows:

Attention has been called to the rumor that the officers have made losses for the company on the Board of Trade by speculation. We have investigated this matter, and after a close examination we are satisfied neither the company nor its officers have speculated in seed or any of its products. We have examined into the purchase of flaxseed and find all the seed bought by the company has been, year by year, only the amount the mills could crush; the purchase of seed by the company for any year has not exceeded in quantity what seemed warranted by the statistics of the company's purchases of seed and sales of oil for the preceding years.

We have examined the expense account and believe the salaries paid at the present time are probably as low as competent services could be obtained for, considering the magnitude of the business and its responsibilites. Considerable reduction has been made in the last year or two in items of expense.

We find the business has resulted in a profit to the company, notwithstanding the disturbances in trade and finance caused by the Baring failure, the late panic, and long business depression. The company constantly maintained its credit in the trying times of the last few years. The company has now entered upon a period of prosperity, and we feel assured the present fiscal year will make a favorable showing for the stockholders.

We have examined into the system of accounting and find the original plan was good, that it has been improved by experience until it is now well adapted to the needs of the company and furnishes accurate statistics and information of every detail required in the business. It is our intention to continue the examination and also to report upon the next annual statement and others that may be issued to stockholders.

The election returns of the Junior American Republic were partially canvassed yesterday, and Charles Lederer was declared to be elected Junior Mayor of Chicago by a vote of 495, which, though nineteen fewer than a majority, is a plurality of 161 over Victor E. Brown, his strongest opponent, who received only 334. Daniel W. Ahern received only 198, and J. M. Johnson, the fourth candidate, withdrew some time before the election.

BOSTON FIRM FAILS FOR $250,000.

Assignment of Tibbets, Harrison & Co., Dry Goods Merchants.

Boston, Mass., April 16.—The firm of Tibbets, Harrison & Co., dry goods commission merchants, has assigned. The liabilities are estimated at $250,000, with assets the same. The firm has done a large business for ten years, and the assignment is a surprise. The failure was precipitated by an attachment for $10,000 obtained by the Central National Bank of New York and placed on the branch store in that city. The embarrassment is caused by inability to make collections.

MET BY KIND FRIENDS

REMAINS OF JAMES W. SCOTT ARRIVE AT TWELFTH STREET STATION.

They Are Taken to the Family Residence, No. 184 Pine Street, Escorted by the Pallbearers and Former Associates—Careful Arrangements for the Funeral at St. James' Episcopal Church Thursday—Clubs and Other Bodies Adopt Resolutions.

Randall made the journey in the private car Traveler, placed at their service by President Depew of the New York Central railroad. Mr. and Mrs. Azel F. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. F. Willis Rice, and H. H. Kohlsaat met the train at Michigan City, Ind., and accompanied Mrs. Scott to this city.

A large number of distinguished citizens, friends of Mr. Scott, met the train at the Twelfth Street Station. The flag on the tower of the station floated at half-mast. Among those assembled to meet the remains were Ferdinand W. Peck, H. B. Stone, E. F. Lawrence, Edwin Walker, and others of the World's Fair directory; representatives of the Press club, the Waubansee club, and the Union League club, and many citizens and newspaper men beside who came to show their respect and sorrow.

The casket was borne from the train to the hearse by the active pallbearers, who will act at the funeral today, all old employes of the Herald. Mrs. Scott and those accompanying her were escorted to carriages in waiting and driven to the family residence, No. 184 Pine street. The remains followed, escorted by the pallbearers and personal friends of Mr. Scott.

The funeral services will take place at St. James' Episcopal Church, Cass and Huron streets, at 11 a. m. Thursday. The Rev. Ernest M. Stires, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, will officiate. The regular form of service of the Episcopal Church will be followed, and the choir of St. James' will render the music. The Imperial Quartet will sing also. The burial will be at Graceland, in Mr. Scott's family lot, and will be private.

Following is a list of the honorary pallbearers:

Kohlsaat, Robert A. Waller, Harry G. Selfridge, and Ernest A. Hamill.

The eight active pallbearers have been selected from among the older employes of the Herald as follows:

Robert Ansley, A. F. Portman, Charles L. Loveland, E. W. Jenks, F. R. Van Hamer, C. H. Rhoades, Charles A. Barnard, Frank B. Ehlen.

The following will serve as ushers:

Milward Adams, E. M. Switzer, William J. Chalmers, Hempstead Washburne, F. S. Winston, W. G. Beale, C. H. Wacker, and C. A. Macdonald.

F. Willis Rice has been requested by Mrs. Scott to take charge of the funeral arrangements. The Fellowship club will assemble at the Virginia Hotel at 10:30 o'clock and proceed in a body to the church. Seats will be reserved in the body of the church for representatives of the various organizations of which Mr. Scott was a member.

The Executive committee of the Press club last evening decided that the entire organization should attend the funeral in a body. Word was received that provision would be made at the church for members of the club, who will meet at the club-room at 10 a. m. Thursday morning.

HIS FELLOW PUBLISHERS MOURN HIM.

Daily Newspaper Association and Managers' Committee Act on Mr. Scott's Death.

A meeting of the Daily Newspaper Association was held at The Tribune office yesterday afternoon which was attended by all the members. R. W. Patterson, the President, was in the chair. William Penn Nixon, John R. Wilson, and Charles M. Pepper, the committee appointed to draft resolutions, reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the sudden death of our comrade and friend, James W. Scott, publisher of the Times-Herald and the Evening Post, the Daily Newspaper Association of Chicago has met with an irreparable loss. He was practically the founder of this association, and by his tact, kindness, and genial nature softened the asperities of others and enshrined himself in our affections, and he now leaves us his sincere mourners. He was a man of integrity, sound business ideas, and a tender heart. We extend to his family our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in the deep sorrow that has come unto them.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect the members of this association attend the funeral in a body.

A resolution and preamble adopted by the Managers' committee of the Chicago Daily Newspaper Association yesterday are as follows:

It is with the most sincere and profound regret that we learn of the death of James W. Scott, proprietor of the Times-Herald and Evening Post. We recognize to his efforts more than to those of any other person was due the organization of the Chicago Daily Newspaper Association, of which this committee is a part, and that in his death we have lost a consistent and vigorous advocate of the principles represented by this organization, as well as a tried counselor and an earnest and enthusiastic coworker. While he was ever active and aggressive in guarding and advancing the interests of the great newspaper properties of which he was the head, yet he was always ready to lend hearty support to all measures intended to advance the common interests of Chicago publishers; it is therefore

Resolved, That as a mark of respect to the memory of Mr. Scott this committee will attend his funeral as a body and that the Secretary be instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions to the bereaved family.

KIND WORDS FOR ITS FOUNDER.

Fellowship Club's Tribute to the Memory of James W. Scott.

The following tribute to the memory of James W. Scott has been adopted by the Fellowship club:

Great in those qualities which endear the possessor to humanity, the founder and President of the Fellowship club, James W. Scott, has ended a career of singular activity, usefulness, and benignity. He was great in the simplicity, the strength, and the force of his character, which, amid discouraging early environments and against seemingly insuperable obstacles, honorably, valorously, and cheerfully wrought out a way to distinct and acknowledged pre-eminence. He was great in the integrity of his purposes and in the purity of the means which he employed for their achievement; for his aims were high and noble, and to the comprehension of his ambition he summoned only the resources of his sterling manhood. He was great in those powers of discernment which enabled him to distinguish instantaneously and unerringly between the worthy and the unworthy, the feasible and the impracticable, the good and the evil; of which gifts he availed himself with such nicety that his professional business and social relations were at all times characterized by a modest yet distinct discretion. He was great in the lovableness of his nature, which surveyed humanity with consideration and served as the conspicuous inspiration in a life full of wise and compassionate deeds. He was great in those enthusiasms which delight and better humanity, for his exuberance and his ardor were always tempered with wisdom and understanding. He was great in that charity which inclines the heart to sympathy and the head to deeds of tender ministration, and his memory is hallowed by the benediction of the poor, the sick, the faint, the weary, the afflicted whom he succored and lifted up. He was great in the loyalty and sweetness of his friendships and in his allegiance to his home and its sacred influences, and in his unswerving fidelity to those whose interests he had once espoused there shone a devotion that was luminous with purity, of truth, and of valor. He was great in his love and his service to us. It was he who conceived of and who wrought the bond of fellowship which never before united in tenderer sympathy the hearts of those who stand at his graveside now, and in memory recall the strong, gracious personality that is gone from us forever. Only his cordial, truthful, benignant genius could have inspired and promoted that subtle spirit of fellowship which speaks to us today, bidding us perpetuate his memory in the concord and love he wrought.

Beloved Shade, to what star in God's universe thou speedest we do not know; but tarry in thy course a moment and look hence, for we have come to kiss the dear eyelids down and to fold the dear hands for the last time. And though we be dumb with grief thy vision, instinct with the yonder immortality, shall comprehend the reverence, the gratitude, and the love that in our hearts abound.

WORLD'S FAIR DIRECTORS REGRET IT.

They Adopt Resolutions Upon the Death of James W. Scott.

Members and ex-members of the Board of Directors of the World's Fair met at the Union League club yesterday afternoon to take appropriate action on the death of James W. Scott. Ferdinand W. Peck presided. The others present were:

Franklin H. Head, Thomas B. Bryan, Charles Henrotin, George R. Davis, G. H. Wheeler, H. B. Stone, B. E. Sunny, C. H. Schwab, E. S. Pike, W. J. Chalmers, Edwin Walker, J. C. Welling, B. B. Lamb, C. H. Wacker, A. F. Seeberger, A. H. Revell, Hempstead Washburne, Washington Porter, T. J. Lefens, George F. Engelhard, Mark L. Crawford, Arthur Dixon, E. F. Lawrence.

Messrs. Walker, Davis, and Bryan were appointed a committee to draft resolutions and presented the following, which were adopted:

Resolved, That this assembly of Exposition directors desires to record its expression of profound sorrow at the death of James W. Scott and of tenderest sympathy for the bereaved family. To him, as much as to any one man, was due the credit of originating the World's Columbian Exposition, of which he was one of the ablest champions at the beginning and an unwavering supporter throughout. As such we knew him, ever wise in counsel, ingenious and fertile in resources, and of a singularly correct forecast. We knew him also in the front ranks of journalists. We knew him foremost in good citizenship. And, above all, in the breadth and loftiness of his manly character, we knew him best, and loved him most, as "Brother Scott." Harrowing, indeed, is this change! Only a few nights since he greeted us warmly in all the fullness of good-fellowship with his magnetic presence at the home of a codirector. Now, alas! with hearts oppressed with the burden of this great sorrow, we can greet him only in the house of silence.

"A warmer heart Death ne'er made cold."

The Chairman was empowered to send a suitable floral tribute to the house of mourning on behalf of the directors. It was decided that the directors and ex-directors attend the funeral in a body, provided such arrangement met the approbation of the family.

ACTION BY THE UNION LEAGUE CLUB.

Resolutions on the Death of Mr. Scott—Committee to Attend the Funeral.

President John H. Hamline of the Union League club and John Farson, Walter Wilson, and William E. Weaver, the committee appointed to draft resolutions expressing the sentiments of the club in the death of the late James W. Scott, adopted the following yesterday, which were entered upon the minutes of the club:

Resolved, That by the death of James W. Scott the Union League club has sustained a loss it can ill afford, for he was ever one of its most active and loyal members, and the principles of good government, which this club seeks to promote, have been deprived of a strong prop, as the influence of his voice, pen, and personal example was always found on the side of honesty and decency in public affairs. Every member of this club has lost a personal friend, for so catholic were his tastes, and so universal his sympathies that for one to be a member of the same club was to meet his hand in friendship, his influence in case of need. His devotion to the highest moral and best material interests of this, his adopted city, is a household word. It is given to us as friends to say of him, as can be said of but few men, that this city where he carved out his fortune, and wherein lies embalmed his fame, was made greater by his presence, while the life of his fellow-citizens was made sweeter, purer, and more joyous by his companionship.

The committee appointed the following to represent the club at the funeral services:

Judge C. C. Kohlsaat, Franklin H. Head, Ferdinand W. Peck, John R. Walsh, George B. Swift, Walter H. Wilson, H. G. Selfridge, John H. Hamline, George E. Adams, E. G. Keith, Byron L. Smith, D. H. Burnham, A. H. Revell.

WAUBANSEE CLUB SHOWS SORROW.

Appoints a Committee to Attend the Scott Funeral—Resolutions Adopted.

At a meeting of the Waubansee Club yesterday afternoon in the Rookery the following resolutions on the death of James W. Scott were adopted:

Whereas, James W. Scott, one of the charter members of the Waubansee club and one of its most zealous members, departed this life Sunday, April 13, 1895; be it

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Scott the Waubansee club has lost one of its most distinguished members, the Democratic party one of its most intelligent disciples, the City of Chicago one of its most valued citizens, and the newspaper fraternity one of its broadest-minded and most enterprising members.

Resolved, That we express to Mrs. Scott our profound sorrow for her bereavement and that she be presented with an engrossed copy of these resolutions.

The following is a list of members appointed to represent the Waubansee club at the funeral:

Charles S. McEntree, Lynden Evans, Sigmund Zeisler, Henry S. Robbins, Washington Hesing, Gen. W. C. Newberry, William Burry, John W. Ela, Vincent H. Perkins, E. S. Dreyer, Lambert Tree, and William A. Vincent.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION'S ACTION.

Resolutions Adopted Upon the Death of James W. Scott.

The local Typographical Union yesterday adopted the following:

Whereas, Loved and honored by his fellow-citizens, and dear to the printers of this city, with whom he had been associated during the best years of his manhood, James W. Scott has joined the great majority; and,

Whereas, While the death of such a man can only be regarded as a public calamity, the printers of Chicago feel the loss more acutely, recognizing in his death the removal of one who was always in hearty accord and full sympathy with his employes; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, while bowing to the omnipotence which "doeth all things well," Chicago Typographical Union No. 16 cannot but indulge in sorrow that a place filled by a kind employer and broad and liberal-minded man should be thus made void.

Resolved, That Chicago Typographical Union extends its heartfelt condolences to the widow in her affliction.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the union and a copy thereof suitably engrossed be presented to Mrs. Scott.

Resolved, That a committee be selected to represent Chicago Typographical Union No. 16 at the funeral.

Booth.

New York Press Club Takes Action.

New York, April 16.—At a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the New York Press club this afternoon a preamble and resolution apropos of the death of James W. Scott, a life member of the club, were adopted unanimously. President Howard appointed R. E. Dorr to represent the club at the funeral in Chicago.

SUPPLY OF STRAWBERRIES IS FAIR.

South Water Street Quotations Do Not Justify High Retail Prices.

The retail grocer who tacks fancy prices onto his strawberries on the strength of a backward season and the freezing weather of the early spring in the South is presuming a trifle on the good nature of his customers, for as a matter of fact the berries have been selling on South Water street this year at nearly the same prices asked at this season last year. The choicest berries are selling at wholesale at 15 and 20 cents a quart, and when the commission men carry over the boxes from one day to another they are glad to get 10 and 12 cents a quart for them. At a fair margin of profit the average consumer ought to be able to indulge in a few berries. The fruit began to arrive this year about two weeks later than usual owing to the severe freezes in February, but the supply has been fair. However, until the last few days the public has been slow in taking hold of this form of luxury. Restaurant patrons have been deterred possibly by the fact that strawberries have been quoted on the bills of fare at from 20 to 25 cents per dish. Evidently the restaurant man has been figuring on the weather in Florida rather than on the supply in South Water street. The supply in Louisiana and Texas is average. The fruit is beginning to arrive from Mississippi, and in a week or two under present conditions strawberries ought to be cheap.

The supply of early Southern vegetables is late, but garden truck grown at short distances from Chicago is as early as usual. There is fully enough to go around, and the prices asked are moderate compared with former years. It is quite likely, judging from advices already received, the peach and plum crops in the North Central States will be a trifle late owing to the backward weather.

THROWS NITRIC ACID ON A WOMAN.

Jealous Julius Rosenkrantz Tries to Disfigure a Chicago Policeman's Wife.

Duluth, Minn., April 16.—[Special.]—An attempt to disfigure Mrs. Frances Jacobs with nitric acid was made by Julius Rosenkrantz. Only an accident saved her from being disfigured for life. Rosenkrantz has long been enamored of Mrs. Jacobs, who is a dressmaker. Recently she asked him to cease his attentions. He followed her on her way to a ball and threw the acid and fled. Rosenkrantz was arrested and made a confession. He said: "I knew she was a married woman, but there is always a chance to get a divorce. She has been keeping away from me and I was crazy, for I loved her." Mrs. Jacobs' husband is a Chicago policeman.

BOGUS STAMP ACCOMPLICE NABBED.

Chicago Officials Have Mrs. Weeks Arrested in Hamilton, Ont.

Inspector Stuart and Capt. Porter returned from Hamilton, Ont., yesterday and left the city again last night. The result of their visit to the Canadian town was that Mrs. M. T. Weeks, an accomplice of George Morrison, the dealer in counterfeit postage stamps, is in jail there. She had a preliminary hearing Monday, at which Capts. Porter and Stuart appeared against her. Mrs. Weeks, who acted as Morrison's clerk, is an American, and proceedings are under way to extradite her.

The drug firm of A. W. Dows & Co., 389 Central street, Lowell, Mass., consists of Mr. A. W. Dows and Mr. Charles Naylor. The business was established 50 years ago. Mr. Naylor says, March, 1895:

"We sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other blood purifier, and keep a large supply on hand. Many customers tell us that they have been benefited by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, but the simple fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla sells in larger quantities than any other preparation is what tells the story of its merits. It is bought year after year by regular customers as a family medicine and it has been the leading spring medicine for years."

citing municipal elections held in years. There were three tickets in the field, each one headed with a Republican for Mayor. The returns indicate the election of Edward C. Akin, straight Republican, for Mayor; Kate A. Henderson, A. O. Marshall, and Eugene Mattson, School Inspectors; A. F. Knox, S. Lagger, Aldermen. The Democrats claim Samuel C. Rickson, City Clerk; Adam Groth, City Treasurer; Coll McNaughton, City Attorney; Lawrence Kennedy, Joseph Braun, Daniel Feeley, Christy Byrnes, and James Heggie, Aldermen.

Kankakee—Republicans elected their municipal ticket with the exception of one Alderman; the Republican candidate for Mayor was elected by 300 majority; vote 20 per cent larger than ever polled before.

Ottawa—The election here today was the most exciting in recent years. L. W. Hess, the Democratic candidate, was elected Mayor over George M. Trimble by 70 majority. The new Council will be eight Democrats and five Republicans.

Waukegan—The city election today resulted in a clean sweep for the Republicans, who elected not only the general officers, but all four Aldermen, an unusual thing. This leaves only two Democratic Aldermen in the board of eight. The officials elected are: Mayor, E. P. DeWolf; City Clerk, R. B. Connelly; Treasurer, R. J. Douglas; Attorney, L. P. Hanna; Aldermen, P. H. Brand, G. M. Pedley, G. H. Slyfield, and N. J. Ostrander.

Watseka—Large vote polled; James Parker for Mayor and the whole anti-license ticket elected with the exception of one Alderman.

HAVE NO DOUBT DURANT IS THE FIEND.

Fastening the San Francisco Murders Upon the Man Under Arrest.

San Francisco, Cal., April 16.—Chief Crowley is confident Durant is the murderer of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams. George King, organist of the church, has made a statement which tends to fix one crime at least—the murder of Miss Lamont—upon Durant. King says that April 3 (the day Miss Lamont disappeared) he met Durant in the church. He was in a highly excited and overheated condition and said he had been overcome by gas in the loft. He was weak and pale. A theory is that Durant had just finished his fiendish task when seen by Organist King. King purchased a bottle of bromo-seltzer and gave Durant a dose, which seemed to nauseate him. King continues:

"Afterward Durant went into the ladies' parlor to look into a mirror, and I afterward found on the shelf underneath a little clot of blood, as though he had wiped his fingers on it."

One theory for the motive of the murder is that the crimes were committed for the purpose of medical investigation. The condition of the bodies after they were found would tend to carry out this idea.

Only a strong force of police prevented the mobbing of Durant this afternoon when he was taken to the inquest on the body of Marian Williams, the women in the crowd especially showing great bitterness. Policemen described the finding of the body of Miss Williams, its mutilated condition, its disheveled clothing, and the blood spattered floor on which it lay. The most sensational testimony was given by Charles H. Morgan, at whose home in Alameda Miss Williams resided. He said Durant had called at his house and endeavored to persuade Marian to accompany him to the city, as he had something important to talk about. She declined to go, however. Morgan then related how Durant had called to see Minnie Sumner and induced her to go out with him. He took her to a secluded spot in Fruitvale and there made a base proposal. The girl indignantly repulsed him.

This afternoon Durant was arraigned in the Police Court for the murder of Marian Williams. The hearing was set for Monday next. Detective Anthony has identified Durant as a man who, eighteen months ago, betrayed the daughter of an ex-policeman. He then forced the girl to live in a disreputable house. The police now believe Durant intended to burn the church and so destroy the evidence of his crimes.

ARRESTED ON THEIR WEDDING TOUR.

Police Mar the Honeymoon of Danny Nugent and Minnie May.

Dayton, O., April 16.—Dannie Nugent, pickpocket, and Minnie May, notorious shoplifter of Chicago, who is reputed to have stolen $150,000 worth of goods here, while on a wedding tour and stopping at a reputable hotel, were arrested by Chief Farrell this morning as known and reputed thieves.

[Nugent and Minnie May were married in Chicago a few weeks ago. Nugent has been arrested since the event on a pocket-picking charge. Their "wedding tour" is probably a "professional" one.]

COIN'S FALSE SCHOOL.

ERRORS IN THE BOOK SHARPLY AND CLEVERLY EXPOSED.

Alleged Purpose of the Author in Writing a Satire on Current Political Discussion Which Some Persons Are Inclined to Take Seriously—A Currency Catechism That Knocks Out Financial Charlatans—Numerous Questions Answered Which Harvey Coin's Cub Ignored.

R. W. Knott in Louisville Post: A tired newspaper man sought amusement in an idle hour, and began a work of fiction pure and simple. As he progressed he decided to change its purpose and make it a satire on current political discussion.

Then it occurred to him to enliven his text with diagrams, to stir in a few statistics, to add a foot note or two, to tack on an appendix, and to send it out as a popular treatise on political economy, which he did, and he called it "Coin's Financial School."

It is one of the most amusing of recent publications, but the most amusing thing about it is that some persons are inclined to take the book seriously.

The writer quotes a statute and clips it off in the middle; he jumbles his figures like a prestidigateur, and then tells the spectators they will find the answer in their hats. He makes his comparison of value by diagrams of weight; he asks if you divide the wheat crop by a given number of ounces of gold how many apples will England buy of America. He insists that though the gold product of the world in 1895 is as large as the gold and silver product of the world in 1873, yet the refusal any longer to coin the silver dollar accounts for the decline in prices twenty years after the crime of 1873. He asks if it is not plain that we cannot pay the debts of the world in gold when the debts are twenty times as great as the gold. Altogether his conundrums are as marvelously constructed as his statutes, and they are fearfully and wonderfully made. But as he answers his conundrums himself his kindergartners are satisfied and they have Coin as a great financial authority.

Unfortunately his auditors or readers are sincere, however much the author may be given to charlataary and humbug, and he finds himself a king for a day as Bellamy did.

It is only another illustration of the necessity of teaching the rudiments of political knowledge in our public schools. Coin has not the first conception of money, of industry, or of commerce. There is not in this book the least indication this "teacher" has ever studied either the history of commerce or the first principles of political economy. The book is so lacking in the first elements of serious work that men in earnest hesitate to refer to it at all, and when they do do not know where to begin.

The following catechism is designed to present clearly the first princiules in the currency question; to show the relation of money to wealth; of coin to money; and to trace the development of modern commerce from its first stage of barter. It is believed that if one has distinctly in mind a few historical facts, a few scientific principles founded on these facts, one cannot be imposed on by financial charlatans or economic quacks.

[A few additions have been made for the sake of clearness.—ED.]

Q.—What is the object of man's industry?

A.—The necessaries, conveniences, and amusements of life.

Q.—Can man by his own industry produce all that he desires?

A.—By his own industry he satisfies a portion of his desires and exchanges a portion of his product for the product of the labor of others.

Q.—What is the basis of this exchange?

A.—Labor is the real measure of the exchangeable value of all commodities.

Q.—Is one man's labor the equal of another man's labor?

A.—The value of men's labor varies. There may be more value produced in one hour's hard work than in two hours' easy business, more value in production in an hour's application to a trade which it has taken ten years to learn than in a week's industry in an ordinary occupation.

Q.—By what means is one man's labor compared with the labor of another?

A.—By a comparison of what each produces with some other commodity which serves as a common denominator.

Q.—For the purpose of comparison, what commodities are generally used?

A.—Gold and silver.

Q.—What qualities make these metals desirable?

A.—They are the least perishable, most portable, easily hidden, easily divided; when pure, always of the same quality and of all commodities they are the most stable in value, though gold is forty times less bulky and clumsy and heavy to handle than silver per dollar's value.

Q.—How long have these metals been used as common measures of value?

A.—From the earliest periods of history.

Q.—How is their value determined?

A.—First, by weight—"And Abraham weighed Ephron the silver"—and by weight today in China.

Q.—Upon what does their value depend?

A.—The quantity of labor which any particular quantity of them can buy or command or the quantity of other goods which it will exchange for depends upon the fertility or barrenness of the mines which happen to be known about the time when such exchanges are made.—Adam Smith.

Q.—What has been done to obviate the necessity of weighing and assaying as Abraham did?

A.—First, commercial guilds, silversmiths, and others began to stamp on the metals certain marks testifying to the quantity and quality. After that the sovereigns, and then the governments of the nations most civilized, began to mint or coin the metals most in use.

Q.—What is meant by coining a metal?

A.—Putting a mark upon it which is a guarantee that it contains a given quantity of specified fineness.

Q.—Does coinage add to the value of either metal?

A.—It adds nothing to its value. It simply makes it more convenient to use and thus facilitates exchange.

Q.—Then gold and silver are mere commodities after coinage as before?

A.—The same as before.

Q.—Can you give any illustration to sustain this assertion?

A.—When the coinage is free the coins are only of the value of the bullion each contains. Their legal tender quality adds nothing to their intrinsic worth. Melt up a gold eagle and it is still $10. Melt up a silver dollar in any free coinage country it is still worth 50 cents, same as the silver dollar was.

Q.—What is the origin of the word "dollar"?

A.—In 1518 in Joachim's Valley, Bohemia, Count Schlick began to coin silver pieces of an ounce weight. They were uniform in weight and fineness and soon became numerous. Traders in want of some international standard, fixed by common honesty as a measure of value for other coins, gradually adopted these coins, and they were in good repute all over Europe, and under the name of Schlickten thalers, or Joachim's thalers, became synonyms for honest coins of full weight and value. After a time the name was abreviated to thaler—literally "valley-er"—thence to Low German dahler, Swedish dalers, Italian tollero, and finally dollar. It was no government stamp, but the mere trade mark of an honest man.

Q.—Why, then, does society go to the expense of establishing mints and forming intricate codes of laws relating to coinage if no additional value is given to the metals?

A.—It is done simply for the purpose of facilitating exchange. Barter is the first crude form of commerce, but it is costly, subject to delay, to loss in the search for customers, and prevents that complete division of labor which is essential to the highest production.

Q.—How does a common measure of value lead to a better division of labor?

A.—By enlarging the markets. When the market is narrow no one is encouraged to devote himself to the production of one article, for he may have most of his product on his hands or be able to exchange it only for something he does not need. By enlarging his market he has more possible and actual customers. They may have nothing he wants, but they pay him in coin and he exchanges that for what he needs. Thus money encourages commerce by facilitating exchange, and this extension of commerce leads to a more economical division of labor, leaving all men free to do all the time what they could best do.

Q.—What is the function of money?

A.—Money has a twofold function; it is a measure of value and a medium of exchange.

Q.—How should the quantity of money be regulated?

A.—By the demands of commerce.

Q.—How does commerce regulate the supply of money?

A.—As it regulates the supply of other commodities. When money is scarce in one country money rushes from other countries to supply the vacuum, just as when food or clothing is scarce supplies come from all quarters.

Q.—What then is the province of legislation?

A.—To maintain the standards, to punish fraud, to prevent counterfeiting, to insure peace and tranquillity and justice, and to remove all artificial barriers to exchange.

Q.—What do people mean who cry for more money?

A.—Sir Dudley North answered this in 1891, when he said: "Money is not their want, but a price for their corn and cattle which they would sell but cannot."

Q.—Would not more money enable them to sell them?

A.—Not unless other people had something they were willing to exchange for corn and cattle.

Q.—Does not the introduction of coined money change the character of commercial transactions?

A.—The reasons which make the temporary or market value of things depend on the demand and supply and the average and permanent value upon their cost of production are as applicable to a monetary system as to a system of barter.

Q.—Is the value of money metal dependent on legislation?

A.—The value of money metal is dependent on the cost of production and on the rapidity of its circulation.

Q.—What is the first requisite of good money?

A.—Stability.

Q.—Is there a general disposition among nations to use gold as the chief money metal, subordinating silver?

A.—This tendency, noticeable in the early part of the century, has become very marked since the Franco-Prussian war, twenty-five years ago, in all civilized nations.

Q.—What is bimetallism?

A.—Bimetallism is the legalized use of two metals in the currency of a country at a fixed relative value.

Q.—Is it possible to maintain these metals in circulation at a fixed ratio with free coinage?

A.—Experience proves it to be impossible unless the bullion in each coin at some fixed ratio is equal in commercial value. The market ratio varies from time to time. The result is that the metal overvalued at the mint leaves the country. This causes general fluctuation of values. This fact was noticed by John Stuart Mill, who says that when both metals are legal tender at a fixed valuation money is less stable than when the exclusive standard of the currency is either gold or silver. Instead of being affected only by the variations in the cost of production of one metal it is subject to derangement from two.

Q.—Has any nation succeeded in maintaining a bimetallic currency with free coinage of both metals?

A.—The United States tried it for eighty years, first in 1793 to 1873, and utterly failed. The effort results in the practical adoption of one standard and of one metal. In the Senate of the United States in a speech delivered Sept. 28, 1837, on the currency, Mr. Webster said: "There is but one money standard for the country, and the standard of value to be established by Congress is to be a currency and not bullion merely; because we find it is to be coined, that is, it is to be one or the other of the precious metals bearing an authentic stamp of value and passing therefore by tale. That is to be the standard of value."

Q.—What has been the result where nations have sought to fix a legal ratio between silver and gold different from the market ratio?

A.—They have lost the undervalued metal.

Q.—What nations have attempted to maintain a bimetallic standard?

A.—Mexico, the nations of South America, China, Japan.

Q.—What has been the result?

A.—These nations have in effect adopted the silver as their single standard.

Q.—What nations have adopted the single gold standard of value?

A.—England, Germany, United States, and the Latin Union, by the suspension of the coinage of silver, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Switzerland; in short, all Europe.

Q.—In these cases has the result been to expel silver?

A.—In the nations where gold is the standard a large quantity of silver is maintained in circulation. In nations where silver is the standard no gold circulates.

HENRY BOARDMAN SPALDING WINS THE GRANDMOTHER'S PRIZE AT NEW YORK.

Chicago Boy by Birth Is Adjudged the Dearest Baby in the Show—Has Been Sketched and Painted by Many Artists at Home and in Europe.

Master Henry Boardman Spalding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spalding of New York, who was awarded the Grandmother's prize for the dearest baby at the recent exhibition in New York, is by birth a Chicago boy, and was born at the residence of his grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Boardman, Maison du Lac, No. 235 Michigan avenue. His grandfather, for whom he is named, was Dr. Henry Kirk White Boardman, one of the most eminent of Chicago's early surgeons and physicians. THE TRIBUNE cut is from the photograph which received the award and does not begin to do the child justice, as his coloring is as rare as it is perfect. He possesses marvelous beauty of face and form, and has been sketched and painted by some of the most celebrated artists in this country and Europe.

PLAY AIRS TO PLEASE

NOVEL MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT IS FURNISHED BY CHILDREN.

White City Woman's Club Entertained at the Leland by Little Ones—They Demonstrate That the Piano Teaching of Miss Hayes Is Highly Successful—Interesting Papers Read at the First District Conference of the W. C. T. U.—Working for Mrs. Maybrick's Release.

There was a novel musical performance at the Leland last evening. Thirty poor children, born and bred in the uninviting district near Hull House, were the enthusiastic participants, and the White City Woman's club was the interested audience. The entertainment was a demonstration of the fact that piano playing may be acquired without practice on the instrument, strange as it may seem. The method has long since ceased to be a mere experiment, Miss Mary Hayes having for two years instructed a class at Hull House on Sunday.

In brief this is the method: The child is first versed in the fundamentals of music. A certain melody is played, the pupil memorizing it bar by bar. A mental picture of music, as it were, is thus formed in the child's mind. As there are but few pianos in proximity with the Hull House, the youthful musician practices the lesson on the kitchen table at home. Once a week and for ten minutes the pupil is privileged to play on a real piano at the weekly recital at Hull House, on Sunday afternoon.

It was these ambitious young musicians who so satisfactorily demonstrated their novel art last evening. The beginners played simple airs, while those who began to study nearly two years ago were able to play really pretentious pieces of Mendelssohn and Chopin. At Hull House these children are distinguished by the name of Paderewski club.

The White City Woman's club was also entertained with solos by Mrs. Clason, Mr. Charles J. Christ and a song by 7-year-old Archie Guerin.

AT WORK IN MRS. MAYBRICK'S BEHALF

Women of the Olio Club Are to Protest Against Her Imprisonment.

The American woman incarcerated in a London prison, Mrs. Florence Maybrick, found a new friend in the Olio club yesterday afternoon. At a meeting at the Alpha club rooms, No. 52 Dearborn street, it was arranged that Mrs. Laura Dayton Fessenden should present her paper on Mrs. Maybrick at that place next Tuesday evening, at which time a protesting petition will be signed by the women of the Olio club and interested men. This protest against an innocent woman's imprisonment will be forwarded to the American Minister in England. It is hoped to interest various women's clubs in the case, and by concerted effort at least secure a hearing of new evidence.

Following this in formal discussion the new President, Mrs. J. Harrison White, gave an interesting talk on "Tact," a fine sense of knowing how to avoid giving offense, which should be cultivated as much in club as in social life. Musical numbers were given by Eva Emmet Wyckoff. The plan of the club is rather unique. As it was organized for "spontaneous improvement" only the speaker at the fortnightly meeting knows the subject to be discussed. The club is not only educational, but philanthropic, having numerous protégés.

Arrangements were also perfected for a June outing at Highland Park and Mrs. Amelia B. Holbrook was named as historian of the day.

W. C. T. UNION OF FIRST DISTRICT.

Farley; "Mothers' Meeting," Miss Mary Maine; "Work of the W. C. T. U.," Mrs. M. J. Chamberlain. The afternoon session was opened with an address by State President Mrs. Louise S. Rounds, followed by these papers: "Devotion," Mrs. M. S. R. Calkins; "Our Badge," Mrs. J. B. Bristoe; "Systematic Giving," Mrs. Adelaide B. Hill; "Y. Work," Miss Ida Clothier; "Social Purity," Mrs. Isabella W. Lake; "Work Among Fallen Girls," Mrs. Charlotte Edholm. Subjoined are the new officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Elsie Waddell; Secretary, Mrs. Annie Gavette; Treasurer, Mrs. Isabella Field.

"Music of Handel" was considered by the art and literature section of the Evanston Woman's club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. H. Bayliss, No. 1426 Hinman avenue, was hostess.

Ursula N. Gestefield of New York will lecture this afternoon at the home of Dr. Alice B. Stockham, Evanston, on "Proving Our Birthright." This is the second of a series of lectures on "Nature and Destiny of Man."

The last of a series of discussions on the Declaration of Independence was in order at the monthly meeting of the Cook County Equal Suffrage Society, which took place yesterday afternoon at the Sherman House. The President, Mrs. Frances E. Beckwith, led the discussion.

Unfit Cars Should Not Be Run.

Subjects of interest to railway men were discussed at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon where was held the meeting of the Western Railway club. C. A. Goodnow read a paper on "The Train Staff System," and D. L. Barnes gave a talk on the relative strength of car axles. There was considerable discussion on the report of the committee that was appointed on revision of interchange rules. Among other things the committee recommended that the rules be changed so as to provide that cars may be refused if, in the opinion of the company, they are unfit to be run or unsuitable for carrying freight, or if they have defects for the repairs of which the receiving roads are not authorized to bill. Further it was recommended that locks, grain doors, and inside parts of cars are at the risk of the owner.

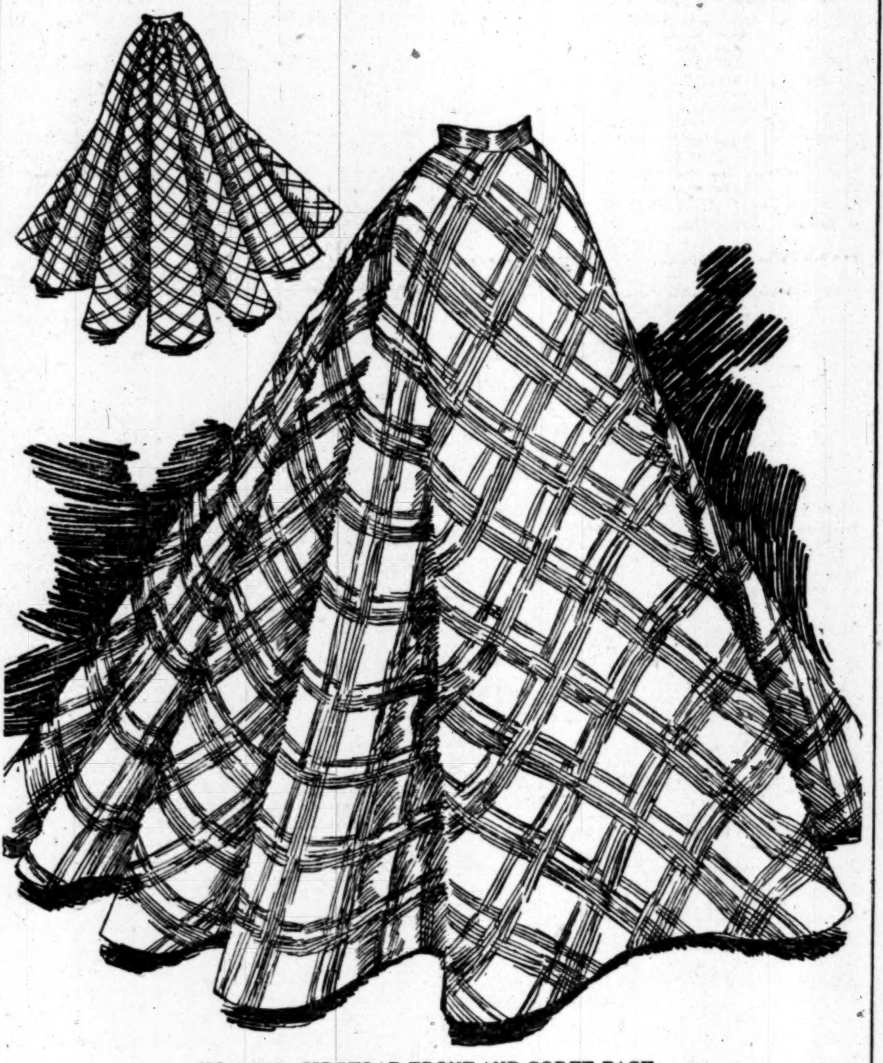
ONE OF THE LATEST EFFECTS IN SKIRTS.

A Tissue Paper Pattern of This Garment May Be Obtained by Filling the Coupon Printed Below and Mailing, with Ten Cents, to the Pattern Department of The Tribune.

For making skirts of plaids, checks, and stripes, the shape with a circular front and godet back is preferred to all others, as it saves the trouble of matching at the seams, for all the seams in this shape are hidden, falling, as they do, in between the godet folds, the front being in one piece, the seams joining it to the back are also hidden in the folds. Novel effects can be obtained by cutting striped goods with the stripes up and down in front. This brings the stripes on bias at the sides. The backs are then cut with stripes straight up and down the center of each godet or with the stripes crosswise. A tall woman will find it becoming to cut with the stripes going around the front.



NO. 7,562—CIRCULAR FRONT AND GODET BACK.

Washable materials of checks, plaids, or stripes made after this pattern look well with waists of plain material, with sleeves to match the skirt, the waist made with blouse effect in front, and full over a fitted lining in the back.

The Eton jacket waist of plain goods is also stylish, wearing a blouse to match the skirt. This style is equally good in materials of wool.

A plaid silk in light colors with black chiffon bodice makes as handsome a gown as can be desired.

The skirt pattern is appropriate for making up any material, and may be worn with any waist.

The pattern is cut into six sizes, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 inches waist measure; a medium size requires 7⅛ yards of 21-inch material.

THE TRIBUNE has made special and exclusive arrangements with the publishers of the most stylish, accurate, and perfect-fitting paper patterns that are made, whereby it can present to its women readers all of the newest and most fashionable patterns of garments for women, misses, and children.

Full and explicit directions for putting together the garments accompany each pattern. These descriptions have so many novel and practical features presented by no other paper pattern which render them as simple for the home dressmaker as the professional modiste.

You must use the coupon printed below (which is our order on the publishers), otherwise the pattern will cost you 25 cents.

Always give bust measure for waists, basques, coats, and jackets. For skirts give waist measure. For children's patterns it is advisable to give the age.

NO HOPE OF INCREASE

DECREASE OF THROUGH SHIPMENTS HAS A DEPRESSING EFFECT.

Notwithstanding the Low Rates Last Week There Was a Reduction in Quantity Carried by East-Bound Roads of Nearly 3,000 Tons—Little Chance for a Strict Maintenance of Rates—Seaboard Air Line Decision—Agreement with Mexican Railways—General Railroad Notes.

Notwithstanding the low rates made by the various east-bound roads from Chicago last week through shipments decreased nearly 3,000 tons. Such result, with the lowest rates on oats ever before in effect and comparatively low rates on other articles of grain, had a depressing effect, and railroad officials do not hope for an increase in shipments until the new crop begins to move. Rates have been ordered to be restored to regular tariff by the joint committee of executive officers of the Central Traffic and Trunk Line Association roads, to become effective April 22. Judging by previous experiences there is but little chance for a strict maintenance of rates hereafter. Although a pooling agreement has been in effect for more than a year past, it has been impossible to even up the percentages or prevent cutting of rates. Under existing circumstances it is impossible to maintain rates, pool or no pool. Many of the roads are financially embarrassed and scarcely able to make both ends meet. Business is exceedingly dull and if they want to earn enough money to meet ordinary expenses they can only get it by cutting the rates.

The total shipments of flour, grain, and provisions from Chicago through to seaboard points and for export by the various Central Traffic Association lines for the week ending last Thursday amounted to only 45,913 tons, against 48,581 tons for the previous week and 50,547 tons for the corresponding week last year. Three of the roads jointly carried over 58 per cent of the total shipments. These were the Michigan Central, Grand Trunk, and Erie. The tonnage carried by the other seven east-bound roads shows that they did not meet the 12-cent rate on oats made by the Michigan Central, Grand Trunk, and Erie.

SEABOARD AIR LINE DECISION.

Both Sides Claim a Victory—Rumored Southern Railway Changes.

Atlanta, Ga., April 16.—The decision of Judge Lumpkin in the case of the Seaboard Air Line vs. The Western and Atlantic and its lessee, the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, in which the Seaboard asked an injunction against the defendant roads restraining them from obeying the order of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association ordering them to cease pro-rating arrangements with the Seaboard, was rendered today and both sides claim a victory. Judge Lumpkin grants, in general terms, the injunction, using the terms of the contracts between the Seaboard Air Line and the Western and Atlantic, but stating it shall apply with the limitations stated afterwards. The limitations are that the injunction shall apply only to business originating on the Western and Atlantic railroad for the Seaboard or on the Seaboard for the Western and Atlantic.

Rumor says Samuel Spencer will resign from the Presidency of the Southern railway, and that Milton H. Smith, President of the Louisville and Nashville, will step into Mr. Spencer's shoes. Further, W. H. Green, now General Manager of the Eastern system of the Southern railway, is to be made General Superintendent of all the systems.

RAILWAYS' JOINT ANSWER IS FILED.

Denial of the Allegations of the Northern Pacific Receivers at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 16.—[Special.]—joint answer of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railroad company, the Minneapolis Union railroad company, and the Great Northern railway company to the petition of the Northern Pacific receivers, asking to be relieved from contracts with these roads was filed in the United States Court today. The Northern Pacific receivers are seeking to have contracts with the three companies canceled, in order that they may use facilities in their immediate control in gaining entrance to St. Paul and Minneapolis. The defendant companies deny there will be any saving and allege that it will be a costly experiment. Their answer sets up the claim that the court is without authority to cancel the lease without the express consent of the bondholders of the road. This promises to bring about an unlooked-for complication owing to the many conflicting interests and ideas of the bondholders. The claim of the receivers that the companies erected buildings that were not necessary and constructed tracks and otherwise expended money for unnecessary improvements and for which the Northern Pacific was taxed, is denied. The claim is set up that the facilities now furnished the receivers are given at a cost much cheaper than it will be possible for the receivers to secure them in any other way and that the whole arrangement embodied in the contracts has been and will continue to be reasonable and just.

Agreement with Mexican Roads.

After joint conference with representatives of the Mexican lines an agreement was reached last Saturday by the Southwestern Traffic Association providing that the commodity rates to Mexican points should be canceled and that, effective on legal notice, the rate on dry goods would be applied to the movement of cotton mill products. The rate on bluestone from Omaha to Pachuca in carloads was fixed at 80 cents per 100 pounds, subject to the concurrence of the Mexican Central railway company. It was determined to apply the St. Louis basis of rates and divisions on rates from Colorado common points to stations in Mexico, subject to the concurrence of the Mexican Central.

Want to Form a Colorado Pool.

Traffic officials of the various Western roads held a meeting yesterday afternoon at Chairman Midgley's office and discussed the feasibility of establishing a division of traffic pool between Chicago, St. Louis, and Missouri river points to Colorado common points. There was much difference of opinion regarding the feasibility of the proposed pool and a conclusion could not be reached.

Railway Notes.

Gross earnings of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company for the second week in April were $457,204, against 528,716 for the same week last year.

General freight officials of the Western Freight Association lines held a meeting in the Hookery yesterday and decided to ice cars for beer shipments free of charge.

Thomas Cooper of Tacoma and an ex-Mayor of South Bend, Wash., has been appointed General Western Land Agent of the the Northern Pacific to succeed the late Paul Schultze.

It is stated at Birmingham, Ala., that the Florida Central and Peninsular, the Plant system's rival, will build from Quincy, Fla., to Birmingham, to get an outlet to St. Louis and the West.

Representatives of the passenger departments of the various Western roads agreed at a meeting held yesterday upon summer tourist rates to points in Colorado, Utah, Montana, and Spokane common points.

Charles H. Holdridge, who for nearly six years has been General Agent of the Passenger Department of the Chicago Great Western for St. Paul and Minneapolis and territory west to the Pacific coast, has resigned, his resignation to take effect April 30. Mr. Holdridge has a better position in view.

Excursion rates at one fare for the round trip have been granted by the Central Traffic Association lines for the following occasions: Grand Lodge F. and A. Masons of Indiana, Indianapolis, Ind., May 28 to 29, 1895, from all points in Indiana; I. O. O. F., Grand Lodge and Rebekah convention of Indiana, Indianapolis, Ind., May 20 to 23, from all points in Indiana; G. A. R., Department of Illinois, annual encampment, Bloomington, Ill., May 14 to 16, from all points in Illinois; Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Ohio, Cleveland, O., May 28 to 30, from all points in Ohio.

LOSES ITS ADVANCE.

MAY WHEAT SELLS TO 57 1-2 CENTS, BUT REACTS A FULL CENT.

Foreign Markets Showed Little Improvement Over Easter Holidays—Disappointing Decrease in the Available Stocks of Wheat—Shipments to Europe in Excess of Theoretical Requirements—Corn Receipts Overran Estimates—Strength in Provisions Just After the Opening.

Wheat was a little irregular in action yesterday, opening easy, advancing to ½c over the best figure of Monday, and then losing all its gain. The situation at the start was a little disappointing to the bulls. Cables were not encouraging, the advances abroad being small as compared with the improvement in the local market since before the Easter holidays. Argentine and Russian shipments were heavy, and with American shipment brought European supplies for the week up above theoretical requirements. The dullness and apathy shown in the market was in itself a bearish factor, especially as there was no volume of outside trade in sympathy with the improvement in oil and cotton. First trades in May were at 56¼@56⅜c. Among the early buyers were Frank Dunn and Baldwin-Farnum. They started the market up, and on the upturn there was free covering credited to Kaufman. He is supposed to have got in a big line Monday and considerable more yesterday. The trade indulges in a good deal of speculation regarding the standing of prominent short lines. According to current gossip Ream started in early and has been followed by Phillips with part of his line. Pardridge is supposed to have stood pat, while Kaufman and other shorts have been covering. The advance of the morning seemed to be local in character, as the market rapidly drew away from New York. It stopped at 57½c for May, and from that point the tendency of the market was downward until the close. The cash market was not inclined to follow up the advance in futures here or at New York. The statistics of the day were generally bearish. There was an increase on passage of 1,280,000 bu and Bradstreet's estimate of available stocks was for a decrease of only a little over one million bu. The trade expected that a decrease three times as large would be shown. By an error the decrease was first announced as 4,000,000 bu, but the prompt correction to 1,000,000 caused some selling. May wheat was quoted about 57⅛c at noon, but eased off to 56⅞@57c on the Bradstreet's showing. Stocks east of the Rocky Mountains decreased 2,629,000 bu, on the Pacific coast 358,000 bu, and stocks in and afloat for Europe increased 1,920,000 bu. Russian shipments were 2,000,000 bu, Argentine 2,600,000 bu, and American 2,935,000, making supplies from these sources 7,535,000 bu. The series of holidays abroad has disturbed to some extent the proportions of grain afloat to that in store at European supply points. Liverpool was quoted firm on spot wheat, with demand moderate. No. 2 red wheat was higher by ½d. Futures were higher by ¼@½d. The Continental markets showed more strength. Antwerp was higher by 1⅜c, Paris was higher on flour and upon wheat from ⅝ to 1⅛c, and Berlin was ⅞c to 1¼c higher. Primary receipts were 181,000 bu and exports 204,000 bu in wheat and flour. Receipts in the Northwest were 170 cars as against 365 cars the same day last year. Local receipts were posted at 23 cars, with 142,000 bu inspected out of store. There was a fair demand for small milling lots of wheat, but bids were out of line for round lots for shipment. By sample No. 3 red sold at 56c, No. 2 red at 57¼@57½c, and No. 2 hard at 58½c.

There was an inclination in the trade to credit the recent advance to the machinations of the elevator people. It is claimed that they engineered the upturn to secure a good, hard spot to sell July on. They certainly had a great deal to do with changing sentiment Monday morning, and have been fair sellers of July ever since. The fact that Armour brokers were openly buying July and selling May in apparent contradiction of the theory did not go for much with the people who attribute most of the movements of the market to the elevator people. One of the unfavorable features is that the local market not only advanced more than the foreign markets, but drew away from the Eastern markets. At the close yesterday, however, the local market showed a gain since last Saturday of 1½c, as compared with 1¼c at New York, 1⅜c at Baltimore, 1¼c at Toledo, and 1c at Detroit.

Corn Receipts Above the Estimate.

Receipts of corn as posted, at 194 cars and 20,000 bu by canal, were above expectations and caused a little easiness at the opening. Primary receipts were 134,000 bu and clearances 71,000 bu. Local withdrawals from store were 16,000 bu. The weather continues favorable to planting. May opened a shade below Monday's closing price and sold as low as 45½c, a concession of ¼c. On the upturn in wheat it sold to a high point, at 46¼c. The close for May was at 45⅝c. Liverpool was unchanged as to spot and unchanged to a fraction higher for futures. There was some talk of a cargo lot of No. 3 corn being sold at 2c under May price. Demand for samples was moderate, with but little change in quotations. On track and free on board No. 4 sold at 44¼@44½c, No. 3 at 45c, No. 3 yellow at 45@45¾c, No. 3 white at 45@45½c, No. 2 white at 46c, and ears at 44c. Billed through No. 3 sold at 43½@43¾c, No. 3 yellow at 43@44c, No. 2 at 43¾c, No. 2 yellow at 43¼@44½c, and No. 3 white at 43c.

All the interest in provisions seemed to develop right after the opening. Hog receipts were 11,000 or 6,000 under expectations, and the market was active and higher. May pork sold to $12.52½, lard to $7.07½, and ribs to $6.37½, advances of 7½c on pork and 2½c on lard and ribs. The market became dull later and closed with net losses of 10c on pork and 5c on lard and ribs.

If there is much of a short interest in rye some interesting developments may be forthcoming. From day to day receipts continue almost nothing, while fair amounts are going out of store. Some difficulty may be experienced in filling May contracts. Buyers were willing to pay 56c yesterday, but no May was offered. No. 2 in store was quotable at fully 59c, a 2-cent advance over the previous day. Some No. 2 on track sold at 60c, the highest price on the crop, and also the highest on the immediately preceding crop. There were no fresh receipts, and 7,514 bu taken out of store. Local contract stocks at the close of last week were only 75,922 bu.

The oats market followed the fluctuations made by the other cereals to a moderate degree in the absence of independent factors, and business was at the same time quiet. Nebraska was offering some oats for September delivery, which was taken as a substantial indication that the crop prospects must be good out that way. Arrivals were liberal at 246 cars. Today 120 cars are expected. May opened and closed at 28¼c, or ⅛c lower, and sold up to 28⅜c. July sold at 27¼@27½c, closing at the inside, easy as compared with Monday. September ranged at 25@25¼c, closing at 25c. The cash market was moderately active and steady. Sales on track and f. o. b. included No. 3 at 28⅝c, do white at 31½@32¼c, No. 2 at 29¼@29⅝c, and do white at 32¼@32½c. No. 2 in store sold at 28⅝@28¾c.

Only 3 cars of barley were offered and few dealers paid any attention to the market. A 5,000 bu lot of choice Minnesota sold to arrive at 54c. No. 3 sold at 51@52c and No. 4 at 50c.

The flaxseed market was inactive. For No. 1 seed $1.40 was bid, with no offerings, denoting firmness. May was offered at $1.39, but no bids were heard. Shipments were 556 bu; no receipts.

Clover-seed was weaker on the basis of $9.50 for contract prime. Common to fair sold over a range of $8.85@9.10.

Timothy seed was fairly active and easier. Very poor to good sold over a range of $4.00@5.20.

Bran sold at $13.25@13.50, and middlings at $13.50.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

The Committee on Legislation reported to the directors relative to the much discussed question as to the status of grain in warehouses should the Railway and Warehouse Commission declare the licenses forfeited. The opinion prevalent after hearing the report was that there need be no special anxiety felt, at least not as far as the near deliveries are concerned. The commission is not liable to give out anything tangible till after May 1 anyhow. The opinion of the board's attorney as given to the committee was to the effect that the revocation of a warehouse license does not of itself make the warehouse irregular as to its outstanding receipts, but whenever a warehouse license is revoked the directors have power to at once declare the warehouse or its outstanding receipts, or both, irregular. The clause in the rules making warehouse receipts regular for six months after a warehouse becomes irregular applies only to the expiration of the annual period, July 1, when all elevators cease to be regular unless their privilege is renewed by an affirmative vote of the Board of Directors.

The delegation now in Washington representing the various Boards of Trade of the country in the interest of better crop reports made a suggestion yesterday afternoon that met with general approbation among the local trade—namely: The enactment of a law punishing by fine and imprisonment any employe of the Department of Agriculture divulging ahead of the proper time any statistical or general information to be embodied in the report. It is thought that this would effectually put an end to the grape-vine tips that have become a nuisance to everybody. Following are the other changes suggested by the delegation for the consideration of the Secretary of Agriculture: That the April report on winter grain be discontinued, but that all other features now embodied in that report be continued; that in all reports concerning acreage of the various crops reported upon the department give the area by States in acres as well as by the percentage of the previous year's area; that the department, instead of having a principal correspondent and three assistants in each county, as at present, make an effort to secure the regular service of one or more reporters in each township, all to make their reports directly to the department at Washington; that in the selection of these correspondents they should not be taken from farming classes exclusively, but should include so far as possible representatives of all classes of rural industry; that the department discontinue the employment of salaried State agents in the regular crop reporting work; that returns of reserves of wheat, corn, oats, and cotton be had for dates representing the close of the crop years: wheat July 1, oats Aug. 1, corn Nov. 1, and cotton Sept. 1; that arrangements be perfected with the United States Consular service for sending by cable to the department on or about the 9th of each month a statement giving the best available information concerning the prospects for crops of grain and cotton in their respective districts, to be published in connection with the domestic crop report when issued.

Local stocks of flaxseed decreased 10,670 bu last week and are now 257,749 bu, compared with 96,155 bu a year ago.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 12 cars; corn, 125 cars; oats, 120 cars; hogs, 20,000.

Stocks of grain in private elevators at Chicago are reported at 3,618,000 bu wheat, 949,000 bu corn, 455,000 bu oats, and 220,000 bu barley.

It is stated that the best inquiry for cash wheat during the last few days has come not so much for the purpose of moving it out as to keep it from being shipped away. The elevator men seem to be rounding up the lots of grain not controlled by them.

The blackboard showed an application for membership by George Tough, with J. J. Badenoch as one of the sponsors. The new Chief of Police evidently believes that there is nothing in a name.

OTHER FARM PRODUCE.

Fancy Butter Firmer—Strawberries Cheaper—Eggs Firm.

It is apparent that really choice butter is becoming scarce in this market. Some dealers are finding difficulty in securing enough to fill orders. While receipts are fair the larger proportion consists of common stock. Creameries advanced ½c yesterday. The demand for strawberries is a trifle tame and that is steadily lowering the price. Yesterday's arrivals were not large, but a considerable quantity left over from Monday was on sale in the morning. The fruit is running rather small as a result of the backward weather. Common quality Louisiana berries sold at $1.50@2.00 per 24-pint case. Good to fancy ranged at $2.25@2.75, and fair to good Floridas went at 15@20c per quart. Due to a good consumptive demand and some speculation the egg market ruled firm. Poultry was easier and potatoes steadier.

Grain, Cotton, and Live Stock Movements, with Closing Quotations.

NEW YORK, April 16.—[Special.]—Grain—Wheat—For a few minutes at the start wheat futures weakened slightly, cable advices being disappointing, foreign markets responding only in a limited way to our sharp rise yesterday, but suddenly the offerings became small and the buying spirited, leading to a rapid advance. The buoyancy was due apparently largely to the sentiment, shorts being nervous and anxious to cover, consequent chiefly upon the strength in petroleum and cotton. Then it was alleged that several large operators in Chicago were short of heavy lines and endeavoring to cover, stimulated partly by reports that the much talked of May liquidation would not amount to much after all. In the afternoon the markets again turned weak, nearly all of the early rise being lost, the weakness especially marked on the near-by deliveries. The reaction was attributed partly to abundant exports from Argentina and Russia, the addition of 1,280,000 bu to the quantity on passage to Europe, and the disappointing reduction in the world's visible supply of 1,067,000 bu. The bears were also encouraged somewhat by reports of better weather in the Northwest. Exports, 98,238 bu; receipts, 68,250 bu. Spot quiet, but prices well sustained, exporters taking only 3 loads; No. 2 red f. o. b. afloat at 2c over May. For local account, 5,000 bu in store on p. t. The exports of wheat today from the four chief Atlantic ports were 101,924 bu, against 111,467 bu a year ago.

Corn—Exports, 4,550 bu; receipts, 6,850 bu. Spot, quiet but steady. Sales, 18,000 bu steamer mixed at 49⅝@49¾c in elevator, and 50⅝@50¾c afloat. Later, 6,000 bu No. 2 and steamer mixed irregular at 55½c afloat. Futures opened firmer, but closed weaker.

Oats—Exports, 40 bu; receipts, 100,800 bu. Spot was in moderate demand at easier figures. Sales, 20,000 bu No. 2 white at 35¾@36¼c, latter early in central; April and May do at 35⅝c; 35,000 bu No. 2 mixed at 32c in elevator, and 32⅝@33c afloat; 15,000 bu ungraded at 36@40½c for white and 32@33½c for mixed. Futures quiet at about previous figures. Official sales:

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 16.—Grain—There was every indication of a bull day during the morning, but before the close was reached the advance of the day had been lost. There was a ⅝c advance from the opening, and then decline set in and closing prices were left near the close of yesterday. The general sentiment running through the market was bullish. The trade responded to the upturn and shorts covered quite liberally. The center of strength was in Chicago, and this gave rise to some conjecture as to possible manipulation. A feature of the gossip today was as to the elevator relation to the market, it being claimed on the one side that the elevator companies are interesting themselves in the advance by the taking of wheat liberally with a view of profit on the July trade after May closes, while on the other side there was no disposition to support this theory, the factors quoted being natural, and including the generally firm sentiment, increasing stocks, good milling demand, action of shorts, and decreased acreage talk. Millers were in the market for cash wheat, their purchases today being 114 cars at 61¼@61⅝c. They bought 130 cars yesterday. There was a lively spot trade today, the price range for No. 1 Northern being 61@61¾c, in line with the fluctuations in futures. Receipts of wheat here today were 68 cars, against 266 a year ago. Close—Wheat, April, 60¼c; May, 59⅞@60c; July 60⅞c; September 59½c. On track: No. 1 hard, 61¾c; No. 1 Northern, 61c; No. 2 Northern, 60c. ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 16.—Grain—Wheat—Easier at the opening, selling off 1-16@¼c; later on a sharp demand advanced ⅜@1⅛c, but this was not maintained, the market declining ⅜c from the top and closing ⅛@¼c above yesterday; No 2 red, cash, 56¼c bid; May, 55⅞c bid; July, 55⅛c. Corn—Fluctuated in sympathy with wheat; after selling ⅛@⅜c higher the market weakened, sold off ⅛c, and closed with sellers 1-16c above yesterday for May, but ⅛c lower for July; No. 2 mixed, cash, 43@43¼c; May, 42⅝c asked; July, 43⅝c asked; September, 44½c asked. DECREASE IN WORLD'S GRAIN SUPPLY.

Visible Amounts of Wheat and Corn Show a Decided Falling Off.

New York, April 16.—Special cable and telegraphic dispatches to Bradstreet's covering principal points of accumulation in the United States, Canada, and Europe, together with supplies afloat for Europe from all sources, indicate the following changes in available stocks last Saturday compared with the preceding Saturday:

Available supplies—United States and Canada east of the Rocky Mountains, wheat, decrease, 2,629,000 bu.; United States Pacific coast wheat, decrease, 358,000 bu.; total wheat, both coasts, 2,987,000 bu.; afloat for and in Europe, wheat, increase, 1,920,000 bu.; total decrease world's available wheat, 1,067,000 bu. Northwestern interior elevators, Chicago elevators, Newport News, and New Orleans wheat stocks account for decreases not covered by the visible supply report.

Will Ask an Injunction Monday.

A notice was filed in Judge Tuley's court this afternoon that Monday next the Chicago General railway company would ask Judge Tuley to issue an injunction against the Chicago City railway company to prevent any interference in the operating of cars on East Twenty-second street. It has been agreed between the attorneys for the two companies that if the matter is not reached before April 29 a special day will be asked for upon which the case will be heard.

In 1837-'38 Alexander McKenzie and the father of Joe Jefferson opened a theater in a wooden building on the west side of Dearborn street. Joe Jefferson was then a boy 9 years old.

MAKES A GREAT GAIN

CITY RAILWAY EARNINGS SHOWING IMPROVEMENT.

Daily Earnings Are $1,250 Ahead of Last Year—Plan for a Union Traction Company at St. Louis—Possibility of the National Railway Going Into the Scheme—New Lake Street Elevated Bonds Will Soon Be Issued—Reaction in the Stock Market.

The traffic of the City Railway company is showing a greater increase over the business of a year ago than any of the other transportation lines. The increase is now averaging $1,250 a day gross as compared with the corresponding days of last year. City Railway business was exceedingly unsatisfactory early in the year, but the improvement which has come in the last few weeks is astonishing to the officials. The effect of the new electric lines seems to be felt now more distinctly than before. There is sharp improvement in the business throughout the system, and the record of City Railway traffic in the last few weeks proves one of the best indications we have had of general improvement in business. Alley Elevated earnings are well ahead of last year, but are not showing the gain which was recorded in the first week of April. The road is now averaging 43,000 to 45,000 passengers a day. Officials are confident that the traffic will show continued improvement.

A plan is on foot for the formation at St. Louis of a consolidated traction company to take in all the street railways there. There are seven or eight St. Louis companies, the most important of which is the National railway which is owned and controlled in Chicago.

"I do not know that this project has reached any definite basis," said President Hamilton of the National railway yesterday. "For the last two years there have been desultory attempts to form a consolidated traction company. No definite proposition has yet been made to the National railway. The talk about the National railway being put into the scheme on a basis of 150 for the stock is without foundation. I do not believe the stockholders would agree to sell out the stock of the company at 150. And I do not think they will care to go into a consolidation scheme and accept securities of the Traction company. If National railway is sold out my opinion is that it will be sold for cash. The earnings of the company are now excellent. They were unsatisfactory earlier in the year, and a comparison with last year extending from Jan. 1 to today will only show an increase in receipts of about $950. But since the beginning of this month there has been a great gain in traffic. And I should be surprised if the road this year does not show earnings on the stock 2 per cent or more in excess of last year."

The trust company receipts for the bonds of the Lake Street Elevated railroad deposited with the Reorganization committee will probably not be listed on the Stock Exchange. The committee expects to have the new bonds ready for delivery in about three weeks, and it is thought for so short a time there is no necessity of trading in the receipts. The date for assenting to the stockholders' agreement expires today. It is probable that the limit will be extended to May 1, although no official action had been taken by the committee yesterday to that effect.

Chicago people have been quietly buying Minnesota Iron company stock recently and within the last few days it has advanced sharply. It was selling a few days ago at 36. There were sales yesterday at 46, and at the close of the market it was not offered below 48. The reason for this display of strength is to be found in some exceedingly important sales of iron ore made by the company. This revival of activity in the iron ore business is one of the important indications of business conditions. Within the last few days enormous sales of iron ore have been announced at Cleveland and Philadelphia. The fact which now transpires of important sales being made in the Lake Superior district is therefore quite in line with the improvement being shown elsewhere.

"Among our out-of-town callers today," said a national bank official, "was one of the great lumbermen of Wisconsin. He told us that he had within the last few days sent men into the pine districts with orders to buy 10,000,000 feet of lumber. He is in close touch with trade conditions and is convinced that there is going to be a sharp industrial awakening."

There was a reaction in the local stock market, but the market would hardly be called weak. West Chicago opened at 118 and closed at 117⅝, this decline of ⅜ marking the total fluctuations of the day. The absence of any considerable public interest in the market continues one of the noteworthy features of the situation. The temper is distinctly hopeful, but there are not enough public orders to make a solid foundation for advancing quotations. North Side was dull and erratic. It sold down to 267¾ on two sales. There was a sale of City railway at 308.

Lake street stock is fairly active and showed a little strength. It opened at 13¼ and after selling down ¼ advanced to 13¾, closing at the best price for the day. The public has too little information regarding the future prospects in Lake Street affairs to be expected to take much interest. The belief seems to be pretty general that there will be some developments in Lake Street affairs soon after Mr. Yerkes' return. It is evident that the construction of the Wabash avenue terminal hinges on the disposition of the union loop scheme. It is remarked by people interested in the Lake Street situation that the company's funds were tied up and unavailable for this extension only when the construction of the extension reached Fifth avenue, a point where the union terminal loop structure would start if it is built.

Metropolitan officials expect to open the road for public traffic next week. For the first ten days passengers will be landed at Canal street, but after that time it is expected the bridge will be completed and they will be brought across to the terminal station. Metropolitan bonds were lower yesterday. There was only a single transaction, but that was at 70. The stock sold at 19.

There was a sale of North Shore Street railroad at par, which is a five point advance from the last few days. The miscellaneous list was generally strong. Diamond Match sold up to 123⅝ and closed at the top. New York Biscuit was strong. The packing stocks are rather heavy.

Sterling rates were decidedly firm. The local supply of bills showed considerable increase ten days ago, but the improvement has not been maintained. The situation in the New York exchange market is unsatisfactory. Little exchange is being made in Chicago, and the banks are having to make some large shipments of currency.

LONDON BUYING CAUSES ADVANCES.

Fair Business Transacted, Though There Is Reaction During the Day.

NEW YORK, April 16.—[Special.]—Interest at the opening centered in the situation at London, where trading was resumed after the prolonged Ester holidays with a strong and higher market for American railways. Private cables said British operators attached much more importance to the marked advance in commodities on this side than to anything else that has happened for a long time past. The foreigners understand perfectly the improvement in cotton, silver, wheat, petroleum, provisions, and other articles means an increase in the buying capacity of producers and a rising tide in the general business of the country, which in turn must greatly benefit leading industries. The cable brought orders for 15,000 shares of international stocks, including St. Paul, Erie, Louisville and Nashville, Kansas and Texas, Wabash preferred, Ontario and Western, and Atchison.

This caused a general advance in the early trading, but the rise extended to a point only in a few instances, and as the day progressed realizations were in order and a general reaction ensued during the afternoon. There were periods of dullness, although in the aggregate a fair business was transacted. The advance in sugar certificates was attributed to buying for the same clique that has been noted as steadily accumulating stock for many weeks. The announcement of an advance in the price of refined sugar, coming immediately after the resumption of work by the idle refineries, caused some covering of shorts, which had been put out when the refineries shut down. Atchison declined on London selling and on sales by local houses. The selling through local houses today and lately by Boston was said to be for account of holders who do not care to carry the stock until the assessment is due. London also sold the second mortgage bonds freely. There were some reports current that negotiations were pending between the Reorganization committee and the Colorado Midland bondholders, whose only offer is to take par and interest for their bonds.

The advance in Tennessee Coal and Iron was believed to be on manipulation for a new pool in the stock. It is said that Mr. Villard's arrival has somewhat complicated the Northern Pacific situation, instead of helping to straighten it out. It is stated on what seems good authority that Mr. Edward D. Adams has decided he cannot co-operate with Mr. Villard in the reorganization of the company. Mr. Villard, on the other hand, is said to be anxious to help the rehabilitation of the property. A good many of his old friends and business connections who are allied to the Adams committee are somewhat puzzled how to act under the circumstances. It is, however, the intention of the committee to proceed with its work independently of Mr. Villard.

Money on call easy at 1½@2½ per cent; last loan, 2; closed 2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 489⅜@489½ for demand and at 488⅜@488½ for sixty days. Posted rates 488½@489 and 490@490½. Commercial bills 487½@487⅝. Silver certificates, 67⅞@68⅛.

Government bonds firm. State bonds dull. Railroad bonds irregular.

The total sales of stocks today were 213,721 shares.

INSURANCE AFFAIRS.

PROGRESS OF THE UNDERWRITERS' WAR ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

Attempt of Coast Men to Boycott Eastern Companies Is Not a Howling Success—Result of the War Will Be to Loosen the Hold Foreign Companies Have on Business There—Cincinnati Local Board Troubles May End Amicably—Eastern Fire Company Retires.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 16.—[Special.]—President Alfred James of the Northwestern National Fire Insurance company has just returned from the Pacific coast, where he was looking after the business interests of his company in the insurance war on the coast. In an interview today he said:

"After the Northwestern and a number of other companies pulled out of the Pacific Insurance Union a new board called the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific Coast was formed. Some of the foreign companies ordered their managers to join, fearing a general break-up on the coast. Some of the American companies declined to go in, among the declining ones being the Phenix and Home of New York; Continental, the Northwestern National, the Franklin of Pennsylvania, and the Phoenix of Hartford. The new board was unable to maintain itself and the companies which went in withdrew. The new board then undertook to coerce and drive the outsiders in and adopted boycotting schemes. The Phenix and Home, the Continental, and other companies insisted the association must withdraw the non-intercourse and other boycotting measures or they would burst up the rates, which they have done. We propose to go right along and will abide our time and let other companies do the fighting. Insurance is being written as low as 10 cents for three years, and the result of the war will be that foreign companies will not have such a cinch upon the Pacific coast business as they had."

CARD FROM LAWYER C. H. PAYSON.

Believes the Publication of an Affidavit Filed Does Him an Injustice.

C. H. Payson writes to The Tribune from Watseka, Ill., regarding a dispatch from Springfield giving the substance of an affidavit filed by S. B. King in the Sangamon County Circuit Court. Mr. Payson says:

> The report does me great injustice, and I am sure you will cheerfully give me space to deny the serious charges therein made. That I "sold out" Mr. Gorrell or his interests to the Home Life Insurance company I positively deny. In all matters relating to his litigation with the Home Life Insurance company in which I have been in any way connected I have acted in the utmost good faith and, have given to his cause the very best of my abilities. I have neither deceived nor attempted to deceive him in any way, and I invite, in the proper forum, the closest and most scrutinizing investigation of every act in relation to his business. I am especially annoyed at the suggestion made in the article that I had an undue and improper influence over the actions of Superintendent of Insurance Durfee. In this litigation Mr. Durfee has maintained a position of absolute impartiality.

MAY NOW COME TO TERMS.

Cincinnati Local Board Matters Are Assuming a Peaceful Aspect.

Cincinnati affairs are progressing toward a peaceful settlement. A letter was received yesterday by the Chicago manager of one of the large fire insurance companies from his agent in Cincinnati giving the present situation. Future action of the Large Cities committee of the Union depends largely upon the result of the work in the last three weeks in Cincinnati. The other cities where the commission rules are being violated will, it is thought, come into line as soon as the Cincinnati local board settles its troubles and the agents begin obeying the orders of the managers. The Phoenix of Hartford in refusing to co-operate with the agents in an organization embodying the new constitution and by-laws blocks further progress, but it is now hoped by those interested that the company will recede from its position and give its consent to the reorganization plans.

No Insurance on the Raymond.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 15.—[Special.]—The Raymond Hotel was never insured. Owing to its elevation, absence of adequate protection, and the materials of which it was built it was never considered a desirable risk.

Insurance Notes.

William A. Francis, Secretary of the Mutual Fire of New York, is in the city.

Frank J. Schrey has been appointed special agent for the Washington Insurance company of Hammond, Ind.

W. Gardner Crowell, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Fire, has returned to Philadelphia after a visit to the Western Department in Chicago.

The directors of the First National Fire Insurance company at Worcester, Mass., have voted to insure the business of the company with the National Fire Insurance company of Hartford and to retire from business.

TO IMPROVE REPORTING OF CROPS.

Important Suggestions by a Commercial Convention at Washington.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—The convention of commercial organizations which has been considering the improvement of crop reports today adopted the following:

> The April report on winter grain should be discontinued, but all other features now embodied in that report should be continued. In all reports concerning acreage of various crops reported upon the department gives the area by States in acreage as well as by the percentage of the previous year's area. The department, instead of having a principal correspondent and three assistants in each county as at present, should make an effort to secure the regular service of one or more reporters in each township, all to make their reports directly to the department at Washington. These correspondents should not be taken from farming classes exclusively, but should include, so far as possible, representatives of all classes of rural industry. The department should discontinue the employment of salaried State agents in the regular crop reporting work. Arrangements should be perfected with the United States consular service for sending by cable to the department on or about the 9th of each month a statement giving the best available information concerning prospects for crops of grain and cotton in their respective districts, to be published in connection with the domestic crop report when issued. A law should be enacted punishing by fine and imprisonment any employe of the Department of Agriculture who divulges to any one outside of the Department of Agriculture any statistical or other general information of the department previous to the time appointed for officially presenting the same to the public.

Des Moines, Ia., April 16.—The Iowa weekly weather crop bulletin issued today says:

> The first half of April has given a bright hue to crop prospects. The temperature of the last week was slightly above normal, and all the weather conditions were favorable for completing seeding operations and pushing the work of preparation for corn planting. Farm work is generally more advanced than usual at this time of the year, and the soil is in the best possible condition for the reception of seed. The acreage of small grain, corn, and potatoes will be materially increased compared with the last three seasons.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 16.—The Indiana weekly weather and crop bulletin, issued today, says:

> The weather has been favorable to growing crops and farm work. Wheat, rye, meadows and pasturage, and clover have improved and promise well. Oats sowing continued; in many localities the crop is in and coming up nicely; also new clover. Fruit trees except peaches and cherries promise well, but the buds are advancing only slowly during the cool weather. Planting will begin next week in many counties. Live stock is coming out of winter quarters, but wells and streams are quite low yet.

Reports as to the condition of the crops throughout the country, and the general influence of weather upon growth, cultivation, and harvest, were made yesterday by the directors of the different State weather services of the Weather Bureau. The reports and synopsis telegraphed to Chicago show the following facts:

> Heavy rains have caused serious damage in New England, where as yet only a little farmwork has been done in the southern portion. Heavy rains of the previous week delayed farm work in North Carolina until Thursday. Rain is badly needed in North Dakota, Northern Minnesota, and Oregon, and would be of great benefit in Texas. Rains would also prove beneficial to Illinois, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Cotton planting has been delayed in Texas on account of dry weather; planting has begun in North Carolina and Oklahoma, and has continued to some extent in Arkansas, but has not become general in that State; in South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi planting is being pushed rapidly, and in Louisiana about one-half of the crop has been planted. Corn planting in the extreme Southern States is about completed; the early planted is up and a good stand is generally reported; planting is more than half completed in Tennessee, has begun in Kentucky, and is being vigorously pushed in Kansas. The general outlook for fruit continues very favorable; the frost of the 15th, however, caused some injury in Western South Carolina. Tobacco plants are looking well in Maryland, Virginia, and Kentucky, and planting is being pushed rapidly in South Carolina. Winter wheat has experienced a decided improvement in Ohio and Maryland as a result of rains the last week; the crop is reported as in good condition in Indiana and Arkansas, but is at a standstill in Oklahoma on account of drought.

The reports from the various States follow:

> Illinois—Week highly favorable for progress of farmwork; oats, barley, spring wheat, early potatoes practically in ground; early oats up, growing finely. Vegetation growing rapidly, though needing rain and greater warmth. Fruit trees full bloom in southern and buds bursting in central counties.
>
> Wisconsin—Condition much improved by recent rains; soil in excellent condition, and seeding well advanced, though some frost remains; winter wheat and clover poor, much being winter killed; other grain looks well.
>
> Minnesota—Temperature slightly above and rainfall below the normal; damaging high winds Friday; grain seeding, except flax, well advanced, and early-sown sprouting nicely; rain badly needed in north half.
>
> North Dakota—Seeding progressing slowly on account of dry weather, the season is earlier than usual, and also drier, while high winds have drifted soil considerably; everything is suffering for rain, and grain that has been sown will not germinate until there is more moisture.
>
> South Dakota—Seeding progressed rapidly under generally favorable conditions of temperature, sunshine, and moisture, and nearing completion; wheat growing nicely and shows good stand in southern counties, and early-sown starting well elsewhere; ground generally in excellent condition.
>
> Kansas—Warm, sunshiny week, with light showers except abundant rain in Phillips, Brooks, and Ellis Counties has brought vegetables forward; wheat improving, though in central and western counties much has been plowed up for other grains; corn planting vigorously pushed, early planted corn coming up in the south.
>
> Michigan—Temperature and precipitation above and sunshine below normal; week favorable; fall-sown crops greatly improved; fruit prospects excellent; sowing oats and barley in southern section; plowing general in central section.
>
> Ohio—Cloudy, cool, with heavy rains; wheat, grass, barley, rye, clover made decided improvement in condition and are growing finely; oats and clover about sown and early planted coming up; plowing delayed.
>
> Kentucky—Cool, partly cloudy, with light, well-distributed showers; farm work slightly retarded, but wheat and grasses improved; corn planting commenced in eastern sections; oats and tobacco plants coming up well; fruit trees in full bloom, and, except peaches, promise good crop.
>
> Nebraska—Excellent week for growth of vegetables and pushing farm work; seeding of small grain about completed and preparation of corn ground being pushed rapidly; a little corn planted; early fruit trees blossoming very fully.

APPROVE YERKES OBSERVATORY SITE.

University of Chicago Officers Pay a Visit to Geneva Lake.

A committee from the University of Chicago, consisting of Controller Rust, Trustee Walker, and Secretary Goodspeed, accompanied by Henry Ives Cobb, the architect, visited Geneva Lake last Saturday with a view of having the committee approve of the staking out of the Yerkes Observatory. This was done without any trouble and the party returned to the city. The excavation for the foundation will be begun some time this week. No steps have been taken yet toward a corner-stone laying.

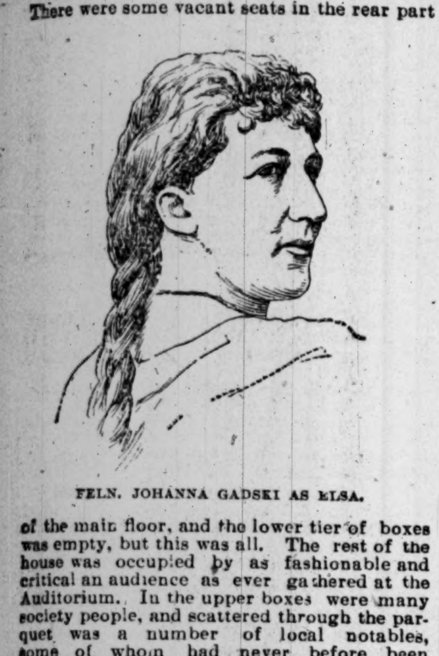
GIVE IT NEW MEANING.

DAMROSCH'S ARTISTS INFUSE FRESH LIFE INTO "LOHENGRIN."

Representative Audience Listens to Wagner's Work at the Auditorium and Gives the Efforts of the Singers a Demonstrative Approval—Mr. Damrosch's Treatment of the Music and His Company's Excellence Reveal New Beauties—Frls. Gadski and Brema Artistic.

Wagner's "Lohengrin" is so popular an opera with all classes of music-lovers that it was not a distinctively German audience which welcomed the first performance of that work by the Damrosch company at the Auditorium last night. True, the German element predominated, but it was largely a cosmopolitan gathering, people of all nationalities enjoying the vocalism and orchestration. The fame of Walter Damrosch as a conductor had something to do with this, but the chief reason, aside from pure admiration for the opera itself, was to be found in the general desire to compare the production by the German singers in their native tongue with that given in Italian by the Abbey-Grau company a few weeks ago.

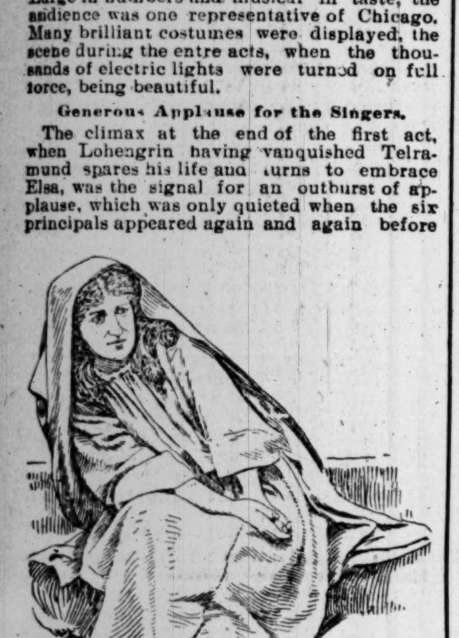
The great hall was comfortably filled. There were some vacant seats in the rear part of the main floor, and the lower tier of boxes was empty, but this was all. The rest of the house was occupied by as fashionable and critical an audience as ever gathered at the Auditorium. In the upper boxes were many society people, and scattered through the parquet was a number of local notables, some of whom had never before been suspected of having "an ear for music." Large in numbers and musical in taste, the audience was one representative of Chicago. Many brilliant costumes were displayed, the scene during the entre acts, when the thousands of electric lights were turned on full force, being beautiful.



FRLN. JOHANNA GADSKI AS ELSA.

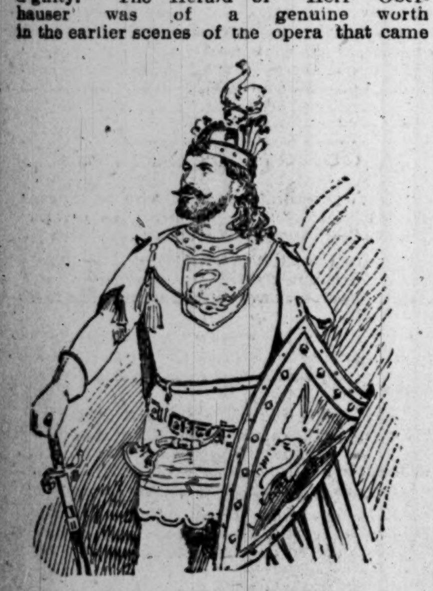
Generous Applause for the Singers.

The climax at the end of the first act, when Lohengrin having vanquished Telramund spares his life and turns to embrace Elsa, was the signal for an outburst of applause, which was only quieted when the six principals appeared again and again before the curtain and bowed their thanks. Demonstrations of approval were hearty and frequent all through the performance, and the stamp of public favor was firmly set on the Damrosch troupe.



FRLN. MARIE BREMA AS ORTRUD.

Last evening's performance of "Lohengrin" was a genuine privilege to listen to. Sung in the German language and by German singers the opera attained through temperament and through proper placing of the declamation a value under other conditions impossible. Flaws there were, but in the sincerity and genuine earnestness of all that passed on the stage it required no great effort to forget them. The prelude was played with rarely beautiful warmth and color. The poetry which Mr. Damrosch infused into his reading gave it fresh meaning. Herr Behrens, much steadier in the opening portion of the scene than in the performance of the previous evening, sang the music finely and throughout acted with eminent dignity. The Herald of Herr Oberhauser was of a genuine worth in the earlier scenes of the opera that came with a sense of surprise, accustomed as audiences are made to the unexpected in the music of the part. Later in the performance, possibly due to previous efforts, the tone both in volume and pitch became less acceptable. In the appearance of the rôle Herr Oberhauser quite fulfilled exaction. Frl. Gadski, as the Elsa of the presentation strengthened the favorable impression which she made in the Sieglinde. In the gradual development of the part from girlhood to womanhood under the influence of Lohengrin's protection there was no more than an intimation. The main charm of her work was in the youthful freshness and gentleness of the portrayal. Her voice showed to delightful advantage, particularly in the opening of the second act, admirable in phrasing, and convincing in poetry of expression.



HERR ROTHMUHL AS LOHENGRIN.

Is a Picturesque Ortrud.

The picturesque figure of the performance was Frl. Brema. For the second time this season there has been allowed in the instance of women singers an opportunity to judge of the eminent value of Bayreuth training. Aside from this fact there always rests the assurance of Frl. Brema's own dominant intelligence. She made a queenly Ortrud in appearance. In the first act the conventional costume, which is generally the most vivid blot upon the scene, was discarded, and she appeared instead in a robe of black and scarlet. The long sustained poses recalled a Makart picture. The facial expression, seldom of change, yet of absolute value, served fully to intimate the character. In the second act Miss Brema made fully comprehensible the power which the character is supposed to exercise, and here again the attitudes were notable. In the great scene in this act between Ortrud and Telramund, sustained by Herr Schwarz, the declamation was intensely dramatic. In the case of the former singer it attained to a value and appropriateness that those who have preceded Miss Brema have yet to approach.

The Lohengrin a Surprise.

Although not in as good voice as the previous evening, the music of the rôle allowed Miss Brema more grateful opportunity. Herr Rothmuhl in the title rôle must be acknowledged a surprise. If not in strict acceptance a Lohengrin of distinction, he is a Lohengrin of unquestionable dignity. His voice is a tenor of unusual richness and excellent volume. His declamation is of intelligence, and in those passages demanding the gentler phases of expression, as well as in the heroic, his accomplishments were fully acceptable. The Telramund of Herr Schwarz was a contradictory performance. In the point of declamation it maintained appreciative excellence, but in intonation there was notable shortcoming. The action was Germanic and of the type that one is accustomed to view in the minor court theaters. The work of the chorus, in part good, was not in the main tended to its distinction.

Mr. Damrosch again proved his value as a director. The contrast of last evening's performance with that of the two recent seasons was involuntary. The true Wagnerian spirit was in evidence for the first time last evening. Thoroughly in command of his forces and considerate of his singers Mr. Damrosch made a strong impression.

The principal singers received double recalls after each act, and after the second Mr. Damrosch, in response to repeated demand, came before the curtain and was greeted with cheers and waving of handkerchiefs.

Tonight the delayed performance, the first in Chicago, of "Tristan und Isolde" will be given, Frau Sucher being recovered from her indisposition. The cast is as follows:

Isolde.....Frau Rosa Sucher
Brangaene.....Frl. Marie Brema
Tristan.....Max Alvary
Kurvenal.....Franz Schwarz
Seaman.....Carl Schacher
Melot.....J. F. Thomson
King Mark.....Conrad Behrens

DAMROSCH TALKS OF DIE WALKURE.

Gives an Interesting Lecture on the Singing of Wagner's Music.

Mr. Damrosch's lecture in Apollo Hall on "Die Walkure" yesterday morning was largely attended. The subject was treated in a concise and interesting manner and delivered with an enthusiasm that awakened immediate response.

The spring song of Siegmund, which Mr. Damrosch recited at the piano, was given with fine dramatic effect. Throughout that element, together with enthusiastic earnestness, held close attention. The lecture touched upon those points bearing on the opera aside from full illustration of the motives on the piano, and a poetic treatment of the story. In speaking of the singing of Wagner's music, Mr. Damrosch said:

"The instrumental part of his operas is so great that the voice is carried through by its power. Young singers with good voices, though not yet properly trained, make an effect in Wagnerian music through this very fact. The result is a dearth of singers in Germany, and in the German opera-houses there are many singing who are not properly trained.

"Wagner is not to blame for this. He demanded that his music should be sung. Those who succeed best in his operas are of course those who are properly trained vocally. The mastery of the Italian method of singing is necessary as a preliminary to the study of Wagner. It is not necessary to go to Italy to study it; there are teachers in other countries capable of imparting the knowledge."

Mr. Damrosch also touched upon that class of Wagnerian enthusiasts who considered a classification and labeling of motives in the mind as a main aim. The "spear" motive was taken as an illustration and the difference forcibly drawn between a mere memorizing of leading motives and a proper study in relation to the full and inner meaning.

The second of Mr. Damrosch's lectures takes place this morning at 11 o'clock in Apollo Hall. The subject is "Siegfried," in anticipation of the performance of the opera tomorrow night. The two succeeding lectures, for Thursday and Friday, will be on "Die Gotterdammerung. Mr. Damrosch has been invited to lecture at the Chicago University during the present season of opera.

ATTRACTIONS AT OTHER THEATERS.

"The Passing Show" at the Chicago Opera-House—Amusement Notes.

"The Passing Show," which was devised by Canary & Lederer for their summer season in New York a year ago, but which caught the fancy of playgoers so readily that it has endured ever since, is now at the Chicago Opera-House for an engagement which will continue until its popularity with local audiences is exhausted. It is a burlesque of the lightest texture and a travesty upon scenes from various serious plays which have become familiar during the last year. It will admit of the introduction of specialties and it is upon this constant change that the management hopes to prolong its run into the summer. At the outset it is an excellent entertainment, although it does not differ greatly from that which was seen during the winter. It is a constantly changing panorama of clever ideas, brisk in action, interesting in specialties, artistic in costuming, and well equipped with tuneful, musical numbers. The mainstay of the production is the company, which counts many excellent entertainers in its membership. Prominent among these are Lucy Daly, who still heads the Pickaninnies; Miss Vernona Jarbeau, who appears alone and also with Chas. Ross in good specialties; John E. Henshaw; George A. Schiller, who still dances the patrol which was popular during the first engagement, and many others. Miss Sylvia Thorne is the chief vocalist of the company, and in several numbers justifies her pretensions. The audiences thus far have been large.

⁂

The production of "A Bowery Girl" at the Haymarket reflects greater credit upon the scenic artists of the theater than upon the author, because the former have done their work consistently, while the latter has not. Miss Ada Lee Bascom wrote the play and demonstrated she was not entirely conversant with the low types of metropolitan character which she attempted to depict. However, she has a good idea of dramatic effects and has provided a series of climaxes which Sunday evening lifted the susceptible Haymarket audience out of their seats. The story of the play is concerned with the attempt of a degenerate Italian to marry the daughter of an Italian fruit vender against her will. The most consistently-drawn character was that of Swipes, a newsboy. Miss Stella Barr accepted the task of making real an unreal heroine. Miss Clara Throop was the Bowery girl, George W. Thompson was an Irishman with an unpardonable dialect, and other rôles were assigned to Daniel Jarrett, J. H. Cossar, Edward Clifford, Miss Florence Roberts, and others.

⁂

All the variety theaters are giving special prominence to features this week, and in most instances they are worthy of the distinction. At Hopkins' it is Susanna Schaffer, who at one time was a member of the Schaffer troupe. Her foot juggling, in which she keeps large and unwieldy objects in motion, is worthy of the name her family bears. Henri Cazman, the shadowgraphist; the Fulkino troupe of Japanese acrobats, Giguere and Boyer, and the Calabrian trio, all contribute to an acceptable bill. The dramatic company is presenting the melodrama, "Escaped from Sing Sing."

Le Braun's variety troupe is furnishing the entertainment at Havlin's, although the aerial ballet, which has been unexpectedly retained another week, is really the best feature of the performance. It is a welcome innovation in stage mechanism which goes far to relieve the monotony of the variety stage. Robetta and Doretta, acrobatic clowns and mimics, are only fair entertainers of their kind. Miss Bessie Phillips is a clever vocalist, and Harry Bendon, an English singing comedian, is rapidly establishing himself as a favorite.

Billy Rice's Minstrels remain the prime feature at the Casino because they count in their membership some really pleasing singers. The bronze statues remain this week, and in addition the Thatchers in character sketches, the Fontaine sisters, dancers, and the three Marretta sisters are the most commendable specialty performers in a bill that includes thirty-five numbers.

Sam T. Jack's Folly company, headed by Miss Edith Newton and Press Eldridge, in the burlesque "Jingo's Daughter," is the attraction at Sam T. Jack's Opera-House this week.

⁂

The present engagement of William Morris in "The Lost Paradise" at the Lincoln Theater promises to be as attractive to the clientele of that playhouse as the one of several months ago. The opening audience was large. Of Mr. Morris' interpretation of Reuben Warner, the young mill superintendent, it is only necessary to state that it is as vigorous as before, but bearing the same evidence of mannerisms which with Mr. Morris seem to be increasing. In the second act, which is melodramatic, his strongest acting was done. Miss Etta Hawkins was again the same pleasing Cinders. Changes have been made in the cast, but they are not beneficial to the performance. Miss Frances Gaunt in the leading feminine role of Margaret Knowlton offered a creditable impersonation. Manager Holton has given the first and third acts of the play a creditable setting.

⁂

Charles L. Davis is again at the Alhambra, appearing as the old farmer in "Alvin Joslin," a role which he has played seventeen years. He entertained large Sunday audiences. The second act of the piece has a new setting effectively picturing East River, with a view of the Brooklyn bridge in the foreground.

Steele Mackaye's familiar melodrama, "Paul Kauvar," seen a week ago at a South Division theater, is now being presented at the Academy of Music.

As the season of the Royal English Circus draws to its close there is no apparent swerving from the creditable standard of the performances which has been maintained since the opening. The bill this week is interesting, and includes some fresh novelties in its long list of specialties. The best of these are exhibitions of dueling and fencing in the water carnival and the bronze statues, which are reproductions in life of famous old works devised upon the living-picture idea. The season of the circus closes two weeks after the present week.

⁂

The annual benefit in aid of the relief fund of the Theatrical Mechanics' Benevolent Association will take place at McVicker's Theater tomorrow afternoon. The cause is deserving, as the relief fund has been unusually drawn upon during the last year owing to the depressed financial conditions. An attractive program has been arranged. It will comprise one act each of "Linsey Woolsey," "A Black Sheep," "The Fatal Card," "The Profligate," and thirty minutes of "The Passing Show." Several members of the Damrosch Wagner opera company have offered to sing, and there will be a number of good specialties.

⁂

The first production on any stage of "The Parson o' Dumford," a melodrama by William D. Eaton of this city and John Manville Fenn, the English writer, based upon the latter's novel of the same name, will take place at the Schiller Theater tomorrow afternoon. The parts will be played by students of the Chicago School of Acting, while the production will be under the direction of Mr. Hart Conway, the director of the school. Admission will be by invitation.

Amusement Notes.

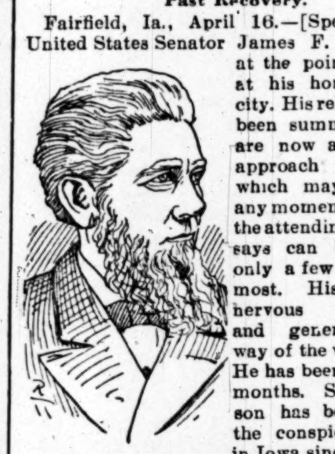
The concert of the Williams College Glee, Banjo, and Mandolin clubs will take place in Central Music Hall Friday evening, April 19.

George Kennan, the Siberian traveler, will begin a series of four lectures at Central Music Hall next Thursday evening. The subject of the first address will be "Camp Life in Siberia."

JAMES F. WILSON IS AT DEATH'S DOOR.

Ex-United States Senator from Iowa Is Past Recovery.

Fairfield, Ia., April 16.—[Special.]—Ex-United States Senator James F. Wilson lies at the point of death at his home in this city. His relatives have been summoned, and are now awaiting the approach of death, which may occur at any moment, and which the attending physician says can be deferred only a few days at the most. His illness is nervous prostration and general giving way of the vital forces. He has been failing for months. Senator Wilson has been one of the conspicuous men in Iowa since the foundation of the State, and March 4 last completed twelves years in the United States Senate. He has been conspicuously identified with the Republican party since its organization.



JAMES F. WILSON.

[In 1856 J. F. Wilson was sent from Jefferson County as a delegate to the convention to revise the State Constitution. In 1857 was sent to the Lower Iowa House and in 1859 to the State Senate. In 1861 he was elected to Congress and afterwards was reëlected to the Thirth-eighth, Thirty-ninth, and Fortieth Congresses and declining a further nomination. For six years he was Chairman of the Judiciary committee of that body, and he was also one of the managers on the part of the House in the impeachment proceedings against Andrew Johnson. March 4, 1869, Gen. Grant offered him the position of Secretary of State but the place was declined. Mr. Wilson was born in Newark, O., Oct. 19, 1828. He was married to Mrs. Mary A. K. Jewett of that place Nov. 25, 1852, and the same year came to Fairfield, Ia., which has ever since been his home. He has three children, Rollin J., an attorney; James F. Jr., in the boot and shoe business; and Miss Kitty, who lives at home.]

PALMER HOUSE STABLES IN TROUBLE.

Leroy Payne Wants a Receiver Appointed for the Partnership.

Leroy Payne, the liveryman, filed a bill in the Superior Court yesterday asking that a receiver be appointed for the Palmer House Stables, Michigan avenue, and that his partner, Samuel M. Chase, be compelled to account for a sum of money which Payne says is due him out of the partnership. The bill says that July 2, 1894, Payne entered into an agreement with the defendant, who was the lessee of certain livery stock owned by Horace G. Chase, and which was known as Wright's Livery, by which the Wright stables were to be transferred to the Palmer House Stables and a partnership established between him and Samuel M. Chase. By this agreement the complainant was to be the general manager of the combined stables and was to have exclusive control of the hiring and discharge of employes. Chase was to have the control of the finances of the concern. The complainant tells the court that in accordance with the agreement he and Chase assumed their respective places in the conduct of the business, Payne acting as general manager, while Chase conducted the financial affairs of the concern, received all the moneys, and made the disbursements. The court is told that the rent agreed upon, $1,600 a month, amounted to $14,000 from July 1 last to the beginning of the present month, but of that amount only $8,968 has been paid, leaving a balance due of $5,431. The court is told that if the books were examined it would be shown that there is due him out of the partnership profits more than $9,000. He asks that a receiver be appointed, who will continue the business, taking charge until an accounting is had and the amount due to each of the partners determined.

DR. A. B. HALE'S FLATTERING OFFER.

Hawaii Wants Him to Take Charge of Its Bacteriological Laboratory.

Dr. Albert B. Hale, whose office is at No. 65 Twenty-second street, has received an offer from the Hawaiian Government to take charge of a bacteriological laboratory which is under government auspices. In 1884-'86 the Board of Health of Hawaii established an experimental laboratory and placed Dr. Ahring of Hamburg in charge. A good deal of scientific work was accomplished, but the attitude of Dr. Ahring toward the government was unsatisfactory and he was forced to resign. Officers of the new republic have taken up the work, and it is the idea that most of the investigations shall be along the line of discovering means for the eradication of leprosy. The position was tendered to Dr. Hale upon the recommendation of Drs. Day and Wood, formerly of Chicago, but now of Honolulu. Dr. Hale has never visited the Hawaiian Islands and is in doubt whether or not to give up his Chicago practice and accept the appointment. Dr. Hale was born at Jonesville, Mich., and is 33 years of age. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1882 and from the Chicago Medical College a few years later. He has studied in several of the principal universities of Europe, where he made the study of bacteriology a specialty. He is considered one of the best-informed physicians in the State upon the subject of serum-theraphy. He has been in practice in Chicago for five years.

Detective Patrick Gray Dies.

Information was received at detective headquarters yesterday morning that Patrick Gray, one of the Central officers, had died at 9:30 o'clock. Gray had been connected with the department for the last two years and was regarded as one of its most capable officers. Previous to entering the employ of the city he had for twenty years been connected with William A. Pinkerton, during which time he handled some of the most intricate cases ever taken up by that agency. His death was due to a chill contracted while attending the funeral of Mrs. Pinkerton recently.

OIL JUMPS TO $2.54.

BOOM IN PETROLEUM APPEARS TO GAIN GROUND STEADILY.

Refined Advances Two Cents a Gallon, and in a General Way There is More Steadiness to the Market—Belief Expressed by Producers that the Trade of the Country Will Be Benefited by the Boom—Gas Companies Are Affected by the Rise in Oil.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 16.—[Special.]—Oil has passed the $2.50 point on the exchange, the bidding today going to $2.54, and there were sales at $2.51. The Standard ran up the price of credit balances to $2.25. At $2.50 there was a sale of 30,000 barrels, the largest single transaction since the present boom set in. Shortly before the close of the exchange the top figure was reached, $2.54, and then there was an easing off to $2.51, the closing quotation, at which there were sales. The market today was characterized by a greater steadiness than heretofore. Refined was advanced two cents a gallon, an enormous leap, and another increase is announced for tomorrow, though the figures are not given. The feeling that the boom will be permanent is reflected by the way in which work is being pushed forward by all manufactures in oil well supplies. David Kirk, one of the largest of the independent producers, and likewise one of the most conservative business-men in this part of the country, said: "The benefits of the boom in oil will not be confined to the oil country. The business of the world at large will be made more prosperous, and the national credit will be more firmly established by it. The upward march of prices for oil stimulates industry. It improves the general business by putting money into various channels of trade and employing thousands of men now idle. Iron and steel works, cordage manufacturers, lumber mills, machinery makers, and the horse trade all will feel its stimulating effects. Work in the fields as yet is not as active as is warranted by the market conditions. This is because the roads are bad. No extensive hauling can be done until the ground dries up, and this in itself is a bullish feature on the market, for it puts off the increase in production that is the only thing to knock down the price of oil."

Local independent oil dealers who have struggled for years with the Standard Oil company see in the advance in prices a promise of better times for the trade. Most of the small dealers have been crowded to the wall and forced out of business. It is now the general belief that the Standard has lost its grip on the market and can no longer dictate terms to either the producer or the refiner. While the refiners are all at sea as to the future they welcome the high price of crude and have marked up the refined products accordingly. Times never looked better for the oil trade.

FINDLAY PEOPLE GREATLY EXCITED.

Further Advances in Prices Astonish Even the Oldest Operators.

Findlay, O., April 16.—[Special.]—Another day of intense excitement has followed an additional advance of 10 cents per barrel in Ohio crude oil, prices having now reached $1.25 for South Lima and $1.27 for North Lima. This is an increase of 62½ cents since the boom began a week ago. The oldest operators are puzzled to know how long the price will continue to advance, but all are agreed that it cannot drop below a dollar if it should commence to fall.

Cleveland, O., April 16.—[Special.]—Two cents per gallon was added by the Standard Oil company here today to the price of all grades of refined oil. It made an increase of 3 cents within a week and 4½ cents since the upward turn in the market began last December. Under the new scale the prices for refined oil per gallon are: Ohio State test, 9½ cents; water white, Ohio State test, 9; headlight, 175 degrees, 11¾; Eocene, 12. An increase of one cent per gallon was made in the price of all kinds of naphtha and gasoline, except gasoline tested to 187 degrees, which is used in gas machines. In the opinion of the independent refiners the advance was convincing evidence that the Standard as well as the smaller concerns was being squeezed by the tremendous boom in petroleum.

TRADING AT OIL CITY RESTRICTED.

The Highest Price Since 1877 Is, However, Regularly Attained.

Oil City, Pa., April 16.—Trading has been light in oil today, but the market opened at the highest point since the present bull movement was inaugurated, and also at the highest price since 1877. The price of credit balances was marked up from $2 to $2.25 this morning by the Seep agency, and certificates opened with sales at $2.50. The smaller fry speculators sold their oil yesterday around $2.25 and there was none of the usual panic and excitement. A sale of 10,000 at $2.50 was followed by a break to $2.38. At 1:40 p. m. sales were made at $2.51 and at 2:10 $2.50 was bid.

Bradford, Pa., April 16.—The oil market continues to create great excitement. Women, merchants, and men in all walks of life are buying and selling a commodity that has enriched hundreds of people in this country. Tonight the prediction of $3.00 is again ventured, and there are some who claim $4.00 will be cheap in thirty days.

COST OF GAS-MAKING INCREASED.

Advance in Oil Materially Affects Profits of Illuminating Companies.

New York, April 16.—The petroleum market continues excited and higher without activity, sellers being scarce and generally refusing to name prices. National Transit company certificates have advanced from $2.35 to $2.50 and refined in barrels from $10.50 to $11.50 at New York and from $10.45 to $11.45 at Philadelphia. Refined in cases at New York is also one cent higher, being now quoted at 12 cents. The quotation for crude in barrels is nominally $9.50. There is practically no speculation on 'Change, the advance in certificates to $2.50 being in the way of conforming to the higher ruling of the Oil City market. A Wall street circular says:

> We learn the advance in oil is raising the cost of the manufacture of gas to such an extent that some of the large companies in this city are figuring on the possibility of using coal. In the case of the Chicago Gas company we learn their contracts with the Manhattan Oil company run for three years yet, and are at a price more favorable than the present market price for oil. They are based upon a certain reasonableness of price according to the current market quotations. This enables the companies to keep down material and expenses of manufacture. As it is, the increased cost of oil has already raised the expenses of the gas companies, it is said, at the rate of $200,000 a year.

OIL STRONGER IN FOREIGN CITIES.

Heavy Advances at Antwerp, Bremen, Hamburg, and Other Points.

Antwerp, April 16.—Petroleum was strong today, the quotation being 33 francs, as compared with 23 francs 50 centimes last Wednesday.—Spot petroleum, 33 francs paid and sellers.

Bremen, April 16.—Petroleum today was quoted at 12 marks 25 pfennigs, a rise of 1 mark 50 pfennigs since Saturday.

Hamburg, April 16.—Petroleum was firm today at 13 marks, being an advance of 2½ marks 25 pfennigs.

Amsterdam, April 16.—Petroleum today advanced 1¼ marks to 1⅝ marks.

London, April 16.—The English manager of the Standard Oil company when questioned today regarding the advance in the price of petroleum and the situation here said the price of oil in England had been advanced to correspond with the price in America.

Good Oil at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex., April 16.—An analysis has been made of the oil which was discovered a few days ago in an artesian well that was being drilled within the city limits. The oil proves to be fine crude petroleum. The well will produce a large quantity of oil per day. Other wells will be put down immediately.

WRECKAGE FROM CHICORA ASHORE.

Beams Found About Evanston Which Came from the Vessel—New Search.

Wreckage from the Chicora, lost in the lake in January, is coming ashore. The northeast wind that has been blowing for a few days has strewn the lake shore with fragments which are declared to be from the upper works of the ill-fated steamer. Monday the tug J. H. Hackley of the Dunham line picked up a 9x4 feet section of the starboard bow of the Chicora with the "G. & M." monogram still discernible. All day yesterday the beach north of Evanston was patrolled by the life-saving crew and a large number of citizens. A quantity of mahogany molding and trimmings from the cabin and state-rooms was found. The pieces were small, but the employes of the Graham & Morton company identified them as part of the lost vessel. Carlings from the roof of the "social room" with traces of the gilt stencil decorations still on them were also found. A quantity of canned goods, tomatoes and tomato catsup, was washed up on the beach during the day. The Chicora had canned vegetables on board on its last trip.

At noon William McClure, brother of the engineer of the Chicora, and Grant Whitslar, passenger agent for the Graham & Morton line, started for Evanston to identify the wreckage. They walked along the shore from the north end of Lincoln Park to Kenilworth and found a quantity of beams, which they positively identified as coming from the Chicora. Mr. McClure found a part of the Captain's bridge and fragments of cabin chairs and window frames. No traces of bodies were discovered, and it is the opinion of sailors nearly all the bodies will be found in the hull of the boat.

No one around the Graham & Morton offices entertained a doubt as to the genuineness of the note found in a bottle off Saugatuck. When shown a fac simile yesterday H. R. Huntington, a Benton Harbor furniture dealer and former employe of the Graham & Morton company, promptly identified the handwriting as that of Robert McClure.

As the handwriting corresponded exactly with several entries in the books made by the engineer, there was no longer any room for doubt. Capt. McIntosh of the City of Chicago was likewise confident the note was not a hoax, and William McClure laughed at the idea his brother had not written the note. Mr. McClure yesterday received a letter informing him he was one of the executors of his brother's estate. Robert McClure's will was written several years ago off Point of Pines, at a time when the boat was supposed to be lost. Mr. McClure kept the will, as he said the day might come when he would not have time to write one.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 16.—[Special.]—The genuineness of the purported message from the lost Chicora seems to be more decidedly assured by the fact that it has been found that Robert McClure sometimes signed his name "McLure," both at the Graham & Morton office and the American Express office in this city, and that on the books of the latter company he signed his name more frequently without the "C" than with it. President Graham is completing arrangements to send out a tug to locate the hull of the Chicora and search for bodies and any important wreckage from the lost steamer.

Munyon's Remedies Will Cure You—Read What They Do for Others.

Chicago Office: 95 Washington-st.

When a woman reaches the advanced age of SEVENTY-SIX years, and in addition to the natural feebleness of age is weak from many diseases, and is then stricken down with bronchitis and congestion of the lungs, how many doctors do you think there are who could cure her? What would her chance of recovery be if she were treated by the methods of the regular, old-fashioned schools of medicine? Mrs. Margaret Brown is past 76 years of age. She lives at 20 Walsh court, Chicago. Her daughter tells the story:

"One year ago last November mother contracted a severe cold which resulted in bronchitis, from which she has been suffering up to a short time ago. She was finally compelled to take to her bed, and congestion of the lungs set in, which threatened to take her off. She was very, very sick, had a distressing cough, and suffered extreme pain across her chest. Her recovery seemed almost impossible until, advised by friends, we concluded to use Munyon's Remedies. From the time she began taking the medicine she showed signs of improvement, and after taking one bottle of the Cough Cure was able to leave her bed, and is now able to be up and about. She has no cough and pain has left her. This is the absolute truth, and you can use this information in any way you see fit."

This is only one case of many. Piles of testimonials from grateful patients attest the wonderful cures made by Munyon's Remedies. Munyon's Remedies represent all that is latest and BEST in the act of healing. They are up to date.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1895.

BLOOMINGTON voted to make it unanimous.

DOUBTLESS Gov. Altgeld's claim that he is not worth half a million has reference solely to his intrinsic value.

THE President's position on the money question has been greatly strengthened by Gov. Altgeld's timely abuse.

IT would not be seemly to allow Venezuela to outdo the United States Government in standing up for the Monroe doctrine.

AMONG the Democrats of the West there is a growing disposition to let the Presidential nomination next year go to some good Eastern man.

THE statement that no Democrat of national reputation could be induced to accept the Presidential nomination next year is not true.—Springer.

IT ought not to be forgotten by members of the City Council that when they call each other liars the public is apt to receive the impression that they are telling the truth on each other.

THE income tax on President Cleveland's salary, if he claims no exemption for any part of it, will be $1,000, but $1,000 is not as much to President Cleveland as it used to be. Unless the prevalent idea is at fault he has money to shoot at the birds.

NEW YORK stocks were strong at the opening yesterday but showed some reaction later. The local market was lower but not specially heavy. Sterling rates are strong. New York exchange is 80 to 90 cents premium.—Speculative interest in the produce markets centered in wheat, which was irregular in action. An early advance was followed by reaction to the previous closing figure. As compared with the latest prices of Monday, May wheat closed unchanged, corn ¼ cent lower, oats ⅛ cent lower, cash rye stronger, barley firm, pork 10 cents lower, and lard and ribs 5 cents lower.

JUDGE GOGGIN has been having trouble with the jurors furnished him by the County Board. Some of the men sent him have served once or twice or oftener during the year, which is evidence that they were not drawn from the list of voters as required by law, but that their names were handed in by Commissioners to whom they had applied for employment. As might be expected, these are not a superior class of men. The Judge says:

> Hereafter I will have no juror in this court who has served within a year in any court. If the County Commissioners cannot send me men who have been selected according to the statutes and who are legal jurors this court will have no jury and the cases waiting here will not be tried.

That is a simple method of bringing the matter to a head. If other Judges will do the same thing then the Commissioners will have to back down and draw jurors in the manner required by the law. Were jury trials to be suspended in all the courts, criminal and civil, there would be an outburst of wrath on the part of lawyers and litigants the Commissioners could not withstand.

THE Richmond (Va.) Dispatch seconds the protest of the New Orleans Times-Democrat against the suggestion made by the Washington Post that the Democratic party should nominate a Southern man as its next Presidential candidate. The Dispatch sees no reason whatever for supposing that the nomination of a Southern man for President would add one Electoral vote to the number which will be secured in the South for any nominee. "Looking at the matter in whatever light we may," it says, "we can foresee nothing but dire disaster in the Presidential election if the Democrats shall be so unwise as to nominate a Southern man for President. Such a nomination would be regarded and treated in the North as a challenge to renew the war between the States. It would leave nothing to be done by the Republicans except to count the votes. It would put an end, as it ought to put an end, to the Democratic party." Thus far the Post's proposition has not met with a favoring welcome in any part of the South.

THE highest legal authority in England does not look with favor on the plea that speculation necessarily is gambling. A case carried up to the Judicial committee of the Privy Council recently called out some remarks from the Lord Chancellor in delivering judgment which are worth quoting. He said a contract cannot properly be described as a gaming contract merely because it is entered into in furtherance of a speculation. "It is a legitimate commercial transaction to buy a commodity in the expectation that it will rise in value, and with the intention of realizing a profit by its resale. Such dealings are of everyday occurrence in commerce. The legal aspect of the case is the same whatever be the nature of the commodity, whether it be a cargo of wheat or the shares of a joint stock company. Nor, again, do such purchases and sales become gaming contracts because the person purchasing is not possessed of the money to pay for his purchases, but obtains the requisite funds in a large measure by means of advances on the security of the stock or goods he has purchased." It previously had been decided that ordinary stock exchange contracts, even when they involve speculating in differences, do not come within the definition of wagering and gaming as laid down in the English law. But the London Financial Times points out the fact that the Lord Chancellor's judgment carries the ruling a shade further, and decides that when the broker knows his client is speculating merely on differences the latter cannot successfully plead the gaming act.

AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL DRAINAGE BILL.

Today the Committee on Waterways will report to the Senate a bill to amend the drainage act of 1889 in three particulars. One is that an additional tax of 1 per cent must be levied on the property of the district for the next six years. Another is that a navigable channel must be constructed from Lockport to Joliet at a cost of about $6,000,000 for the benefit of the last named place. Another is that swing bridges must be constructed across the channel now for nobody's benefit, but to gratify a whim. Another is that at least 300,000 cubic feet of water must flow continually through the channel even when the Illinois is in flood.

This bill was drafted by the valley people and not by the representatives of the taxpayers and voters of the Drainage District. The latter look on it as inequitable and unconstitutional and if it were to pass they would not submit to it. There is a bill before the committee which meets with their approval and which was prepared by their representatives. They want that to pass, but not the valley production.

Nearly six years ago they voted to accept the provisions of the present law. The terms were hard. It was evident that many millions would have to be expended to meet the unnecessary demands of people living along the Desplaines and the Illinois. Nevertheless the residents of the Drainage District voted to accept the terms and spend the money. There was an equitable contract entered into at that time whereby the district agreed to do all the law required it to do and whereby the valley people agreed they would make no further demands. The latter are trying now to violate that agreement and the Constitution as well.

The first provision of their bill is an attempt to tax the people of the Drainage District for a certain number of years without their consent. When it is proposed to amend in this way the original law which did not take effect until accepted by the people, the latter should have an opportunity to say whether they are willing to pay that higher tax. The amendatory law should be subject to their ratification. Certainly they should be allowed to vote on the question when not a single citizen of the district has said he is in favor of the valley bill. The General Assembly is forbidden by the Constitution to impose taxes upon a municipal corporation. Yet in this case it is asked to do it. The people say, "We want permission to tax ourselves a little higher for three years." The General Assembly cannot say, "You must tax yourselves for six years, not three." The rates of taxation cannot be changed without the approval of the people.

The valley people want to tax the drainage district against the wishes of its voters so as to provide the money with which to build locks and dams between Lockport and Joliet so that the drainage channel shall be navigable between those points. This is flatly unconstitutional. The Legislature cannot force the drainage district to go outside of its own boundaries and construct a navigable channel for the sole benefit of another municipal corporation. The combination of navigation with drainage was held to be constitutional by the Supreme Court only because the former was an incident of the latter—because a navigable channel was the result of the kind of drainage channel that the law required should be dug. But to put in locks and dams between Lockport and Joliet would be to expend money exclusively for navigation purposes. As a drainage channel the channel will be perfect without a lock or a dam. Such works are not incidents of drainage.

The State itself cannot build a canal with locks and dams between Lockport and Joliet. It cannot authorize the County of Will or the City of Joliet to do it. Much less can it force that portion of the City of Chicago known as the drainage district to build such a canal for the accommodation of Joliet. The Constitution stands in the way. The General Assembly can no more call on the drainage district to put in those locks and dams in the drainage channel for the benefit of Joliet than it can require the district to build a city hall for that city. If the Legislature can make the drainage district build locks and dams for six miles it can make the district do it all the way to Ottawa.

As for the requirement that swing bridges be erected now its absurdity has been exposed often. No bridge which the Drainage Trustees erect will interfere with the navigation of the drainage channel. So long as that is the case it makes no difference what kind of a bridge they put up.

These then are the objections to the valley bill. It is an attempt to violate the honorable understanding entered into in 1889 and ratified by the voters of the Sanitary District. It is an attempt to tax the latter without their consent, and that, too, for a purpose which is unconstitutional. It is an attempt to make the district expend six million dollars or more solely and exclusively to make a canal between two places, each of which is outside the district, and even the county. The bill if passed would not be worth a rush. It must be defeated and the Chicago bill substituted for it. For if the valley bill were to pass and were not submitted to the popular vote it would be worthless, because it would be an attempt to change against the will of the people the rates of taxation accepted by them, and if accepted by the people any taxpayer in the district could go into court to enjoin expenditures for locks and dams and the Supreme Court would sustain that contention.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM FOR COOK.

The conduct of the majority of the County Commissioners shows they are intensely hostile to civil service reform. Some of them went down to Springfield saying they were going to work for the bill to bring the county under civil service rules. No sooner did they get there than they began to work against it. They pretended that the plan proposed would be too expensive, though they waste more money in a week than the Civil Service Board would cost in a year. When they were told that the bill would be changed to meet their sham objection they raised another one. Day before yesterday, being cornered, they said plumply that they did not believe civil service reform would be effective or beneficial.

Those who are in favor of the bill should pay no more attention to the Commissioners and go on without them and in spite of them. The work is too important a one to be dropped. The defects of partisan spoils misgovernment are not as apparent in the county as they have been in the city offices, but they are about as serious. City government is more centralized, touches more people, and attracts more attention. While the County Commissioners have the charge of the hospital, poor-house, etc., they have practically no control over many of the great county departments, which need civil service reform almost as much as some of those at the City Hall.

The selection of attendants at the insane asylum and the hospital should be regulated as that of policemen is to be. The clerks in the office of the Recorder of Deeds or of the County Clerk should be chosen because of their special fitness, just as those in the City Hall offices are to be. It should be no more permissible for the employés at the poor-house to spend their time working for the Commissioners who got them their places than for City Hall employés to desert their posts to work for the "machine."

The extension of civil service rules to the county government would result in efficiency of administration and in a great saving of money. It would put an end to those scandals which have from time to time disgraced the county. Therefore, pass the bill and the voters will see to it that it is accepted at the fall election.

ALLERTON'S FANCIFUL FINANCE.

Mr. Samuel W. Allerton has told the Marquette club of this city how he thinks the currency problem ought to be solved. He would have some 1,600 million dollars of bonds issued, not on a basis of gold or even of silver, but based "on that which is of greater value to the American people than gold or silver"—namely: "the integrity of our government." He proposes these bonds shall bear 2½ per cent interest annually and be payable in fifty years, but does not say in what. He would have them sold to bankers in exchange for silver certificates, national bank notes, gold certificates, Treasury notes, and greenbacks. He would have the government issue currency at par with these bonds, sell its silver bullion, retain the present coinage of silver for small change, and collect in gold all duties on foreign goods that are imported. He expresses a desire that every clearly made promise to redeem in gold shall be so redeemed, but leaves it open to be inferred that "coin" bonds and other obligations need not be so redeemed, though adding the suggestion that the gold now hidden in stockings might be brought out by offering to sell for it gold bonds in small denominations.

Evidently the ultimate money of redemption under his system would be the market value of the 2½ per cent bonds, whatever that might be, and Mr. Allerton professes to think this would be "a fixed value that never would change." The facts of history do not warrant this assumption. They indicate that the currency thus obtained would have a varying value far more extensive and wobbly than any which the wildest eyed among the silver monometallists have claimed for gold in the past. To say nothing of the exigencies of commerce which cannot be evaded in the actual money market, however it may be in theory, there would be attacks on "the integrity of the Nation," with the aim of causing its obligations to be met in the cheapest and most scoundrelly way possible, just as the silver extremists are demanding today. Being fiat money, and expressly redeemable in "fiat," its value would change with the varying estimate of probable honesty in meeting the issue, with gradually weakening confidence reducing the working power or buying value of each piece of paper, till it became seemingly necessary to issue more of the stuff, in spite of the proposal of Mr. Allerton that the volume should only be changed to preserve a given per capita of circulation. We have no guarantee that the stuff would not ultimately become so trashy as to be repudiated by the government itself, following the example of the French assignats and certain paper issues once made in our own country. One is not sure this kind of currency would last twelve months, and may be almost sure that three or four years at most would witness the end of its use as money.

It may seem to Mr. Allerton to be a great pity that people are foolish enough to prefer gold and silver as the money of ultimate redemption, and a still greater pity that so many of the more civilized and industrious prefer gold to silver. But it cannot be helped or changed. These "inanimate" things are valued in exact ratio to the supposed cost of obtaining them, and pieces of paper which some prefer to call "money" are treated as only promises to pay money, being discounted more or less if the real money be not immediately forthcoming when wanted. There was no doubt in the seventies that the United States would continue to exist or that it would pay its debts. But its paper was at a big discount till it fixed upon a time when it would resume the specie payment of its paper obligations, and the discount did not vanish till shortly before the time fixed on for resumption. There is no reason to suppose that the "faith and integrity of the Nation" would be any more honored by the people in handling its paper than it was twenty years ago. Mr. Allerton would see and understand this for himself if he had time to think about it. The great trouble with him is he has "too many irons in the fire" to be able to give this important subject the attention it deserves. His interests as a farmer and breeder of live stock in the country, as business-man and big holder of bank stock in the city, and his immense gold-mining interests in the far West, furnish him with enough to think of, and it is a pity he should have rushed before the public with a financial scheme which on sober second thought he cannot but condemn as visionary and absurd.

CLEVELAND AND HONEST MONEY.

It was to be expected that the manly response by President Cleveland to the invitation to visit Chicago should cause agitation among the silver extremists and be an excuse for repeating their lying claim that they are working for bimetallism. So it is not surprising to find that R. P. Bland seizes on the occasion to denounce "sound money and safe currency" as a mere twaddle of words, and falsely alleges that the President has drawn the line sharply between the friends of bimetallism and gold monometallism. Bland, Hinrichsen, and the rest of the free silver extremist crowd know that the only real bimetallists are those who oppose the silver monometalism for which the extremists are working.

If these fellows really want bimetallism they have it already to an immensely greater extent than it ever existed in this country previous to 1873, when they say a terrible "crime" was committed. They know that previous to 1873 but a little more than eight million silver dollars all told had been coined by the United States, while now there are 422 millions of those coins in circulation or serving as the basis of a paper currency and every one of them a full legal tender for the payment of debts, public and private. Yet they have the unblushing impudence to talk about silver being "demonetized" and to allege that the statesmen who favor this extensive use of silver as money are gold monometallists. They, the silver extremists, have the colossal cheek to assert that they are bimetallists when they know they are working to drive away every particle of gold from our coinage and circulation because they have not the ghost of an idea that a single gold coin would circulate on the terms they name, "free coinage at 16 to 1 for the United States alone," when the true commercial ratio of value for equal weights is not far from 30 to 1.

Bland says "bimetallism, that is, the free coinage of gold and silver, always gave to the people sound and safe money." What proof has he of that? In the time during which he alleges we enjoyed free coinage there were no silver dollars in circulation, and much of the time the "money" was the rottenest stuff imaginable, bills of the red dog and blue pup variety being fearfully predominant as compared with what even Bland himself would have called sound and safe money. He talks of "the sufferings of the industrial masses consequent from silver demonetization." But we have never had in this country so much prosperity as since the time when the alleged "crime" was committed, and Bland must know that the interruption of that prosperity by the panic of 1893 was brought about by fears of what the Democrats would do, no small part of the disturbance being due to fear that they would put the country on the very free silver basis for which Bland is pleading today.

Hinrichsen, the man who has undertaken to commit the Democracy of this State to free silver, professes to be disappointed. He says he had expected "something stronger from an advocate of the gold standard," and finds fault with Cleveland for having failed to outline the policy he intends to pursue in the settlement of the money question. Hinrichsen may be chagrined because the President does not take the position which the silver extremists falsely have imputed to him, but there is no uncertain sound in the declaration that "the line of battle is drawn" as between the friends of honest money, the same comprising as much silver as can be used without debasing the currency unit, and the advocates of silver monometallism. Most other Democrats seem to be of the opinion that the President has met and defined the issue squarely enough, and for the rest it is fair to ask them what more they can want than an open avowal of determination to fight to the death the silver monometallism which its advocates falsely call "bimetallism" in the hope of deluding the multitude.

PEACE IN THE ORIENT.

The war between China and Japan is at an end. A treaty of peace has been signed and it goes without saying that it will be ratified by the distracted and despairing Chinese Government. In a little over eight months China has been utterly vanquished by a power only one-tenth of its size. The dispute between the two nations as to their rights of suzerainty in Corea began last June, but it was not until the following August that war was formally declared. At that time no one was so rash as to predict the success of Japan in what was considered to be a hopeless struggle. It was universally assumed that it was only a question of time, making all allowances for Japanese superiority in arms, tactics, and war-making methods, how soon the huge nation of 300 millions would conquer the nation of 30 millions by mere preponderance of numbers. The Japanese, however, were victorious every time they encountered the Chinese. Defeat followed defeat so closely on land and sea that at last China was demoralized and panic-stricken. In September the Japanese had complete possession of Corea. In October the Chinese fleet was almost wiped out of existence. In November all the Chinese coast defenses were in the hands of the Japanese, and before December was ended China was talking about peace, though it was not until February that peace envoys were first sent. These were summarily dismissed by the Japanese Government when it was found that they had no authority to treat. In March Li Hung Chang, the ablest of Chinese statesmen, who had been degraded from his high rank, was reinstated and sent to Japan, and he has now succeeded in negotiating a satisfactory treaty of peace.

The absolute details of this treaty will not be known until an official copy is published to the world, but its general scope has been given out. Corea, the original cause of the war, becomes entirely independent of China. The last right of suzerainty is extinguished. It is conceded that Japan will retain the places it has conquered, the principal of which are Port Arthur and Wei-Hai-Wei, and the territory east of the Liao River, which includes the larger part of the province of Shing-King, bordering upon Corea, as well as a portion of Manchooria. It is not likely, however, that the Japanese will occupy the mainland longer than is necessary to secure the payment of the indemnity. The rich island of Formosa is to be ceded permanently to Japan, and this means a serious loss to China since under the spur of its enterprise and colonization Japan will become a rival of China as a tea producing nation. The island is rich in a variety of products, and Chinese revenues will be seriously diminished by its loss. The indemnity has been reduced from $250,000,000 to $100,000,000—a concession which Japan could afford to make, as it has captured a great store of war material and treasure besides almost the entire Chinese fleet.

Besides its material acquisition Japan will be the gainer in other directions and in a broad and far-reaching sense. She has secured for herself the respect of the world as a civilized power and treaties such as are made with the most favored nations. She has made herself the dominant power on the far Pacific and has entered upon a new career of sovereignty and material expansion. In spite of all stories to the contrary she has the sympathy of Russia, which through Japanese success will now gain an outlet to the Pacific, open all the year round. She will compel China to open her ports and rivers to commerce, which will be followed by a breaking down of the wall of Celestial conservatism and the introduction of Western methods of civilization. In the end the war will be an advantage to China by awakening its government to a realizing sense of its relations to the outside world, of the defects of its own methods, and of the wants of its people. It has been a war between progress and conservatism, and not the least of the results of the victory of the former, brilliant and unexpected as it has been, will be the future development of the conquered power under the influences of Western civilization.

CLEVELAND STANDS ON THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The currency plank of the Democratic platform on which Mr. Cleveland ran for the Presidency in 1892 reads as follows:

> Sec. 7. We denounce the Republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift fraught with possibilities of danger in the future which should make all of its supporters, as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal and exchangeable value or be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and a fluctuating currency.

Numerous Democrats from Altgeld up are assailing the President on account of his recent letter on the currency. But what is there in that letter which repudiates or contradicts one of the declarations of the platform? Nothing. He stands by the platform on which he was elected. Altgeld and Hinrichsen, elected on the same platform at the same time, have repudiated it and are for the free coinage of silver, which that platform did not indorse.

They, not he, are the inconsistent and treacherous ones. They, not he, are false to the party creed. And it is to conceal that fact that they are abusing him now and saying he is untrue to Democratic doctrines.

PETITION FOR REHEARING IN INCOME TAX CASES.

The Supreme Court has been asked to grant a rehearing in the income tax cases for the purpose of passing on the following points, on all of which the court was evenly divided:

1. Whether the void provisions invalidate the whole act.
2. Whether as to the income from personal property as such the act is unconstitutional as laying direct taxes.
3. Whether any part of the tax, if not considered as a direct tax, is invalid for want of uniformity.

As regards the first of these, at least, a rehearing certainly should be granted. Five of the Judges—Fuller, Field, Gray, Brewer, and Brown—voted that that part of the law taxing incomes derived from real estate was unconstitutional. Then the question came up for decision whether the ruling out of incomes derived from that source would make the whole law unconstitutional. The Chief Justice and Justices Field, Gray, and Brewer held that it would, and Justices Brown, Harlan, Shires, and White that it would not. The court being thus divided the validity of what was left of the law was sustained.

Yet if there can be a propsition which is beyond dispute it is that the whole law ought to have been swept away when so important and integral a part of it was declared null and void. Frequently a court will set aside one section of a law and let the remainder stand, but never where that which is stricken out is so intimately and closely connected with the rest that when taken together they form a complete and harmonious system.

It was the intention of Congress, as stated in the law, that "every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad," should pay a tax of 2 per cent on his income in excess of $4,000. The Supreme Court says now that that intention cannot be carried out, and that those numerous citizens who derive their income from that most important source of wealth known as real estate cannot be taxed.

It cannot be supposed that if Congress had known the Supreme Court would make the decision it has it would have passed the law it did. There are two reasons why it would not have done so. Its lack of equality and equity would have been too apparent. To allow a man who gets fifty or a hundred thousand dollars a year from the rents of his property to go untaxed while one who receives that much or less from the store or manufactory at the head of which he was had to pay 2 per cent, manifestly would have been inequitable.

Those Congressmen who were most friendly to the law because it was meant to reach the large landholders would have had their affection for it cooled if they had known that the landlord class could not be touched. And as the professed object of the law was to raise revenue for the government, and as it would have been utterly impossible to tell how much would have been raised with the real estate incomes exempt from taxation Congress never would have adopted this income tax method of raising money.

Since it is so evident that the object and purpose of the law is neutralized by the decision of a majority of the court it is the duty of a majority so to hold and to leave the matter in the hands of Congress and let it provide what additional revenue may be needed in some other manner. The rehearing should be granted, so as to give one or more of the Justices who held that disemboweling the law left it as much alive as ever an opportunity to change their views.

THE Coin club schoolmaster, Harvey, has been lecturing on silver in Minneapolis. The Journal of that city, commenting on what he said, observes:

> One would think, to hear Mr. Harvey talk, that wheat was the only thing the farmers of America raised. But even his argument about wheat being cheaper because silver has been demonetized would look sick if the farmers of the country would stop overproduction and only raise half as much of it. And if the reduction in the price of silver has played hob with wheat, what has doubled the price of flax in the last two years?
>
> And what has run up the price of cattle and petroleum, both commodities of general use? Is it the decline in the value of silver that has made the advance caused by the alleged crime practiced on silver in 1873?

IN his desire to show that more money is needed to do the business of the country, Schoolmaster Coin Harvey was obliged to show in his lecture how enormously the commerce and trade of the country had increased during the last twenty years—up to the time free trade Democracy undertook to suddenly reverse the wheels of commerce and set them running the other way—but he failed to call attention to the fact that this was all done after the act of 1873. The country seemed to have been getting on splendidly, despite "the crime of '73," until the free traders and the free silver men began to tinker with the machinery, and it is only since the tariff and financial tinkering was stopped that it has begun to recover again. —Minneapolis Journal.

RAGING waters cover the East and howling storms encompass the West. Chicago, meanwhile, has been reveling in sunny skies and Wagnerian opera. But the good things of this life are only for the favored few—and the ill-favored, so to speak, should not repine.

YOU can buy strawberries now, but they are not wholesome at this season, and it costs too much to sweeten them.

BUFFALO, Cleveland, and Toledo are alarming themselves needlessly. The esteemed Joliet News will take pleasure in assuring them that the Drainage Canal will hardly rob the Great Lakes of enough water to thin Chicago's sewage to the flowing point.

IF Greater New York is beaten it will be Boss Platt who beats it. And that circumstance will not tend to make any one forget that the World's Fair was driven to Chicago because of New York bossism.—New York World.

That argument may have some force in the locality where applied, but everybody outside of New York is glad the World's Fair was "driven to Chicago."

IT isn't often that German opera and the bock beer season strike the town at the same time.

IT is idle to deny that everybody will take immense satisfaction in seeing Mrs. Hetty Green pay her income tax.

WHEN ON THE ROAD.

HOW A WOMAN SHOULD PREPARE HERSELF FOR A JOURNEY.

Frills and Furbelows Are Never More Out of Place than in a Traveling Costume—Select Goods That Will Shed Dust, and Have Them Made in the Simplest Style—Coats and Skirts and Shirt Waists Are Useful—But a Pleasant Expression Should Be Worn at All Times.

What to buy when one is starting off on a journey is a serious problem, particularly if one has been a stay-at-home body and not used to going off on long trips. To begin with, a dress to travel in is the first consideration. This need not of necessity be bought for the occasion, but should be of serge or mohair, or something that will shed the dust, and must be made with the utmost simplicity. Frills and furbelows are never more out of place than in a traveling costume. One of the best patterns is the coat and skirt, and this is because in traveling one is very apt to find changes in temperature, and a shirt waist and jacket seem to meet all requirements. Railway cars, summer or winter, are very warm places, and any tight-fitting waist feels uncomfortably hot. A shirt waist, on the contrary, is a very cool thing to wear; and if towards evening the thermometer drops a bit it is an easy matter to put on the jacket. The shirt waist can also be washed or cleaned, and, as it is not bulky, it is possible to cary an extra one in a traveling bag. While silk blouses seem to be more dressy than the muslin ones, they have many advantages. In the first place, the dust does not cling to them; they are, if anything, cooler, and the dust shakes off from them in an enchanting manner.

The advantages of serge as a material are many; but for a journey in a hot climate there is a capital material which is very light and is composed principally of silk, and which is water-proof and dust-proof. It looks precisely like India silk, and is one of the best things for a long, dusty journey. The serge has the advantage, as stated before, of being useful in case of change of weather, and, if of light weight, is not a very warm material.

It should be borne in mind by every woman who goes traveling that the less luggage she will need to carry about with her the better off she will be. Of course if one travels en princesse, with maid to carry one's traps, one can pile in all sorts of luxurious articles of toilet; but as the majority of women do not travel about with maids it is a good plan to get accustomed to the idea of having as little luggage as possible. With a small steamer trunk long journeys can be taken In the trunk must be put one good gown with high neck and low neck waist, and a lightweight traveling gown if one is wearing a serge; two changes of under-clothing, as many shirt waists as possible, a pair of overshoes and slippers, and a few necessary toilet articles are sufficient to last a long while. It is only lately that it has seemed possible for any woman of dainty tastes to wear black under-clothing, but after all it is not such a bad thing to do. Black corsets and black skirts are easily shaken and brushed, and the necessary dust and grime of traveling do not utterly destroy them, as they do those of more delicate colors. Soiled white petticoats, or even soiled light silk ones, are simply frightful and quite destroy the trim, neat appearance it is a woman's absolute duty to present.

Big hats in traveling are a sad mistake. Bonnets with strings are also undesirable, for the ribbon has a remarkable fashion of collecting dust and imparting it to the chin and throat. Then, too, strings are very hot. A toque or turban for railway journeying is altogether the best thing, and care must be taken that it fits quite comfortably on the crown of the head and does not project at the back, for if it does project there is no chance of any comfortable little nap without first taking the hat off. Sailor hats and all hats with brims are on this account undesirable for traveling wear. A veil should not be dotted. The plain chiffon or grenadine is far better, for it keeps the dust from the face and eyes, yet it is possible to read through it without injury to the eyesight. In arranging the hair no elaborate effects must be tried, and while nets are as a rule very unbecoming, if the large mesh ones can be bought they are of the greatest service in keeping rebellious locks in order. There should always be a comb in the hand-bag, where one can get at it without the trouble of unlocking the larger bag, for there is many times an opportunity of smoothing the hair during the day, which any tidy woman is thankful to make use of.

Comfortable boots and shoes are absolutely necessary. The shoes should not be too heavy, and while they must be in perfect order are better when old friends than when bought new for the occasion. Dark gloves are altogether the best. The dog-skin are apt to be rather heavy and warm for summer wear, and Suede are perhaps preferable. But the four-button glace kid walking glove is appropriate winter or summer. Gloves, like the shoes, must be in perfect order—no buttons off or ragged finger-tips. Indeed, in all such little points great care must be taken; for never was there a greater fallacy than that a woman need not bother how she looks when she is traveling. If there ever is a time when she should look thoroughly fit it is on an occasion of this sort.

The principal thing to be worn with every traveling costume is a pleasant expression and a determination to make the best of everything. There are numberless little frets and worries which, when made the most of, will spoil the most ideal journey ever planned; but a sunny disposition and a determination to look on the humorous side of everything will make any woman the most desirable traveling companion on this earth, particularly when she does not find it necessary to load herself down with a lot of useless traps.—Harper's Bazar.

Northern Farmers Going South.

Some very interesting and instructive statistics as to real estate conditions in the South are furnished by the Southern States, published at Baltimore. These statistics are based upon reports of real estate agents in different sections, made in reply to inquiries addressed to them by the publication in question. They show a most remarkable movement of agriculturists Southward from the North. Thus, one firm in Atlanta reports having sold in ninety days an aggregate of 2,740 acres of farm property, and adds that it has an order for a tract of from 50,000 to 100,000 acres for colonies of Swedes, and similar orders from Nebraska, Pennsylvania, and Ohio for smaller tracts for colonization. Since Sept. 1 some 22,000 acres of farm lands in Mississippi, Arkansas, and Louisiana have been sold by a Memphis firm to purchasers from Iowa, Dakota, Nebraska, and Illinois, who bought for immediate occupancy and cultivation. A Chattanooga dealer reports that he has received in the last two months at least 1,500 inquiries from prospective emigrants, and has made actual sales of thirty farms.

Important sales are also reported from Western North Carolina and Virginia. In the latter State several large tracts have been sold to Northern capitalists, and a Richmond agent reports that he has received in sixty days 1,200 inquiries for farm lands, coming from every Northern and Western State, and from Canada, England, and Sweden. The Commissioner of Emigration for Arkansas states that not less than 100,000 emigrants have settled in that State within the last year. Several sales of farming tracts are also reported from South Carolina, while in Georgia over 200 purchases have been made of small tracts for orchards and vineyards. In Southern Texas sales of over 400 farms have been made in the last fifteen months.

These reports, of course, are sporadic, and do not furnish a general summary of land sales; but they are conclusive as to the tendency of Northern men to avail themselves of the opportunities offered by the South. It is claimed that the purchasers of Southern farms represent every Northern State, those of the Northwest sending the largest number. There can be no doubt at all that within the next two or three decades the greater portion of the now practically unproductive lands of the South will be taken up and become productive with a diversity of crops, giving a great impulse to the general prosperity as a result of this introduction of Northern energy and methods of cultivation. We are just beginning to understand the immense possibilities of that section, and to realize the real fruits of the overthrow of the pernicious labor system which made agricultural expansion practically impossible.—Leslie's Weekly.

The City of Havana.

The Bay of Havana is one of the most beautiful harbors in the world and Havana's life is a strange one. There is nothing about it that suggests its proximity to the United States. It has but little in common with any of the European cities and reminds one of Algiers as much as it does of Spain. As one sits and smokes at any of her cafes, gorgeously finished in Italian marble, his table out on the pavement as far as the shade will allow, he sees many sights that he is not liable to observe in any other city. Now passes a high-wheeled cart drawn by oxen, either driven tandem or yoked abreast, in such a manner as to bring the draft against the forehead instead of the shoulder. Then passes another cart drawn by a small mule, or possibly six mules driven tandem and all wearing heavy harnesses richly ornamented with polished brass, red or white tassels, and tinkling bells. There may pass a string of hack horses, each tied to the tail of the one in front, as they trot on toward the bay to get their morning or evening bath; or perhaps it is a string of pack-ponies laden with fruit, vegetables, milk cans, and poultry. Every few moments there dashes by some Spanish horseman in military garb, and there is a continual procession of victorias, and possibly an old Cuban volante may be seen; but the most puzzling thing of all is a string of muzzled ponies loaded with green forage that so completely covers the animals that they look like small animated haystacks.

In the human family the observer finds but little to inspire, as "the four hundred" neither walk nor drive until after sundown; but the middle and lower walks of life are very well represented, and most of the subjects are interesting. Negroes pass, carrying on their heads baskets of bananas or other burdens that would make a fair load for one of their mules; there are the Chinese fruit venders with their yokes and baskets; thinly attired men; and now and then middle-class women or young girls, who have a strong suggestion of tropical beauty, pass, using a fan for a sunshade, and their heads artistically covered with the mantilla. The street dress of the people varies but little, whether the observations be made in January or July, as during the former month the temperature averages 72 degrees and during the latter the thermometer never shows as high a degree of heat as in New York.

If the reports given by Columbus and his followers were not greatly tinted, then this "Queen of the Antilles" was peopled by a race that lived in prosperous tranquillity who believed in the immortality of their souls, and worshiped an omniscient being that was full of loving kindness. Their religion was of the heart and not of rites and ceremonies. If this is all true, then it throws an unenviable light on the conquest of those Spaniards who, by the aid of stratagem and savage dogs, captured these people, either to be sold upon the slave blocks of Spain "for the salvation of their souls," or kept in such cruel bondage on the sugar and tobacco plantations of the island that the race was practically exterminated in less than fifty years and their places filled by African slaves or semi-slaves from China.—Harper's Weekly.

A Poet's Pension.

The London Spectator praises Lord Rosebery for granting a pension of a hundred pounds a year to William Watson, and thinks he might also have conferred the laureateship on him without risking the condemnation of any judgment worth considering. It regards Swinburne as Watson's only rival, and thinks that not even the richness and melody of Swinburne's early plays could outweigh "the lofty and singularly crystal beuty of Mr. Watson's elegiacs and the delicate humor of his more familiar verse."

JONES ON CITY CASH.

REPORT OF THE EX-CONTROLLER OF CHICAGO FOR THE YEAR 1894.

Income of the Municipality Utterly Inadequate to Its Requirements—Owing to Assessment Laws the Saloons Must Be Levied on For Needed Revenue—Suggestions of Wetherel's Predecessor—City's Fight Against the Postal Telegraph Company Lost.

Controller Wetherell received yesterday advance copies of the report for 1894 of his predecessor, Hiram J. Jones. The report says:

> The financial condition of Chicago is superior to any other large city in the Union, having a surplus in its permanent assets of $32,000,000 over its total funded debt. The stock account shows the city has purchased and added to its permanent assets since the fire property amounting to $49,000,000. In 1894 $3,193,717 was added by the purchase of buildings, real estate, and equipments for departments. The general fund (into which the accounts of the city are closed at the end of the year) shows a surplus of $2,464,739, which has been loaned to departments in anticipation of taxes due them.
>
> Notwithstanding, however, the solvent condition of the city's finances, the Controller has been in want of ready money to meet current expenses. This state of affairs is entirely owing to the doubt existing as to the proper construction of the present law in regard to anticipation of the tax levy. The Council having questioned the authority of the city to borrow money, the banks have refused loans and the corporation has not sufficient surplus to meet its obligations in advance of the collection of the taxes levied for their payment.
>
> The income of Chicago is entirely inadequate to meet the requirements of the corporation. While the city has steadily increased in area, population, and wealth, its income has remained stationary. In 1869 the assessed valuation was $266,920,000, while for 1894 it was $247,425,442. In other words, according to our Assessors, the value of property in Chicago is now $19,494,558 less than it was twenty-five years ago, when the population was but 250,000. The city, no longer able to collect a fair proportion of taxes from its wealthy citizens, is forced into the unenviable position of relying upon its saloons for the maintenance of the public health and welfare. Even this assistance has proved insufficient, and the Council has been unable to furnish the departments with enough means to maintain the dignity of the municipality. As a result our citizens are denied the benefits of thoroughly clean streets and of proper police protection, and we have even found it difficult to supply them during 1894 with light. This is not the fault of the executive officers of the city. It is entirely due to the absurd system of assessing now in vogue, which permits the rich to escape taxation and adds to the burdens of the poor. Immediate steps should be taken to increase the revenues of the municipality, and proper legislation for the equalization and collection of taxes should be brought to the attention of the State Legislature.

The ex-Controller recommends amendments to the law so that employes may be paid in cash. Increase of judgments against the city last year is accounted for on the ground of defective sidewalks and insufficient appropriations for gas. These judgments amount to $601,666, an increase over 1893 of $166,604. The city has claims against railroad companies which, if prosecuted to a successful issue, would nearly offset the judgments. The report continues:

> The limited income of the city prevents the Council from making proper provision for unforeseen and peremptory obligations. I would suggest that an earnest effort be made to induce the Legislature at its present session to amend the cities' and villages' act so as to permit the city to levy a sufficient tax to pay judgments for damages to real property and injuries to persons for one year without reference to the present limitation of 2 per cent for corporate purposes now authorized by the law. These judgments, arising from extraordinary and unforeseen conditions, should be placed upon the same footing as bonded indebtedness, and being beyond the provision of the city government should be paid by the taxpayer without regard to the tax limited for corporate purposes.
>
> The assessed valuation of real and personal property for the year 1894 was $247,425,442. The absurdity of such a valuation is apparent. The actual value is fully ten times as much. The tax levied was between 6 and 7 per cent on this valuation. Property should be assessed at its approximate cost and the rate of taxation reduced proportionately. If this were done an equal revenue would be produced for the city by a levy of less than 1 per cent upon the assessed valuation. In the collection of its taxes the city is continually embarrassed. The Collectors, elected by the respective towns included in the municipality, are supremely indifferent to the necessities of the corporation and seem to consider it of more importance to keep the money of the city in their possession (perhaps for the interest thereon) than to comply with the law and respond to the demands of the Controller. Nothing but the abolishment of their offices and the consolidation of the township organizations with the city will be of avail in remedying this evil. The money of our citizens should find its way directly to the municipal Treasury, and these superfluous officeholders should seek new fields of enrichment.
>
> The funded debt Jan. 1, 1894, was $18,426,450 and interest thereon $935,581. Jan. 1, 1895, the same debt amounted to $17,722,950 and the annual interest charge, $851,411, showing a reduction in interest of $,48610. tion in interest of $84,160.

The financial statement of ex-Controller Jones' report was published when he gave it to the Finance committee of the Council at the beginning of the new year.

DECIDES FOR THE POSTAL COMPANY.

Master in Chancery Booth Gives the City a Black Eye.

William Booth, the Master in Chancery of the Federal Court, to whom was referred the contention of the City of Chicago and the Postal Telegraph and Cable company over the rights of the latter to the use of the streets of the city for its telegraph lines, rendered his report of the finding of the facts and the conclusions of the law yesterday afternoon. The position of the telegraph company is maintained in whole. The contention arose last summer. There was a difference of opinion between the Commissioner of Public Works and the telegraph company over the payment of damages alleged on account of the tearing up and replacing the paving stones in certain portions of the city. The Council at its meeting on Oct. 1 last passed a resolution that the Commissioner of Public Works refuse to issue permits to the telegraph company and the Chicago Sectional Underground Conduit company until further ordered by the Council, and that he report how many companies, having no franchises from the city, were using the sectional underground conduits. The resolution further directed the Commissioner to at once cut the wires of the telegraph company where they cross Thirty-ninth street and prevent it from doing further business until it secured the right from the Council. Before the Commissioner could carry out the mandates of the Council the Postal company enjoined him in the Federal Court. The issue raised by the city was that the wires of the company and the poles were a public nuisance, and that it had no franchise from the Council for the tracking of its wires in the underground conduits. The Master says the effect of the order of the Council would be to practically destroy the Postal company and deprive the civil and military branches of the government of the means of communication, which the evidence shows they have largely employed and are still employing. Its rights to operate north and south of Thirty-ninth street are affirmed.

Commissioner of Public Works Kent said: "I have all along thought the city had no right to interfere with the wires of the Postal company."

The decision of the court is not a surprise to the attorneys in the Law Department, as it was all along stated that the city had no right to cut the wires. Ald. Coughlin, backed by the Council, kept the matter hot, however, and it was necessary to go into the courts for a decision.

CONTRACTS LET FOR THE NEW JAIL.

Lowest Bidders Win, Except for Plumbing—Civil Service Explanation.

Bids for the construction of the new County Jail were considered at the meeting of the Committee on Public Service of the County Board yesterday. The lowest offers, except on plumbing, were accepted. The bids for the latter work ranged from $900 to $5,420. Upon motion of Commissioner Burmeister these bids were rejected and the Superintendent of Public Service was instructed to readvertise for bids for the plumbing. Commissioner Burmeister was seconded by President Healy, and the Commissioners informed the other members of the committee that the plumbing in the Criminal Court Building had been put in by the contractor whose bid was the lowest for the present work, and never had been satisfactory to the Commissioners. The checks that came with the bids were ordered returned. The bids of the three contractors upon the work as a whole also were cast out, the lowest of these being far in excess of the amounts submitted in the different bids. The following contractors' bids for individual work were accepted:

Masonry and sidewalk, E. J. Molley, $20,600; carpentry, Opfergelt & Turnes, $5,772; cut stone, E. Heidmaier, $15,986; plastering, August Zander, $10,980; roofing, Robert B. Miller & Bros., $5,485; marble and mosaic, Evans Marble company, $2,190; concrete, Simpson Bros., $6,100; ornamental ironwork, Chicago architectural ironworks, $6,771; iron window guards and jail doors, Champion Iron company, $3,331; structural ironwork, Mohn & Hoff, $11,300; and the electric wiring and speaking tubes, Altmann & Sanns, $690.

The checks of all unsuccessful bids were directed returned at once without waiting the order of the board.

Commissioner Kunstman presented a resolution directing that the County Attorney's office be removed to the Criminal Court Building. He suggested that in this way ventilation could be obtained by tearing down the partitions which make the present room of the Attorney and allowing the air to circulate.

Commissioner Cunning thought some notice of the different communications of the Judges relative to the condition of their court-rooms should be taken. The board did not intend, he said, to ignore their request for better sanitary arrangements and more ventilation. The members of the board were doing all that was possible. He directed that the Clerk should send each of the Justices notice of all action taken in connection with the remodeling of the Court House, and to inform them that action would be taken to hurry the work on the building. The committee approved of his suggestion.

The Committee on Legislation met after the Public Service committee and concluded to send letters to each of the State Senators giving their reasons for opposing the civil service bill. Commissioner Cunning, Chairman, said three Democratic officeholders had come to the board meeting Monday and presented a bill for their approval relieving the County Commissioners of their duties. He and his companions were able, he thought, to draft a measure for themselves. He said he would prepare a letter, which the Commissioners agreed to sign, informing the Senators of their objections to the measure. This letter Commissioners Cunning, Kunstman, McNichols, Linn, Ritter, and Beer will take to Springfield with them tonight, where they go to oppose the Crawford bill. An attempt will be made to insert in the county civil service bill provisions extending the merit system to all employes except the Superintendent of Public Service, County Attorney, and County Architect.

The Building and Court House committees of the County Board are called to meet today with Judges Tuley and Horton in reference to the ventilation and sanitary arrangements of the Court House.

BAIRD SUCCEEDS JOHN J. BADENOCH.

Judge Carter Appoints Him a Member of the Election Board.

Judge Carter yesterday appointed Frederick S. Baird of the Thirteenth Ward to succeed John J. Badenoch on the Election Board. At 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the board meets to organize, he will formally enter upon his duties. Mr. Baird is a native Illinoisan, an ardent West-Sider, and has been a stanch Republican all his life. He was born on a farm in McHenry County Feb. 17, 1852, graduated from the Warren High School in 1871, came to Chicago in September, 1872, and commenced the study of law. He was a member of the first class graduated from Union Law College in 1874, and has practiced his profession ever since. The only political office he ever held was Representative, having been elected to the Legislature from the old Ninth District in 1884. He was one of the 103 Logan supporters, and author of the game warden act, under which it has been his pleasure to prosecute many violators of the game law. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention at Minneapolis in 1892, and supported Blaine. Mr. Baird is a member of the Menoken Club, the Garfield Gun Club, and the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association. He lives at Walnut street and Albany avenue. He filed his bond yesterday afternoon with Thomas P. Hatch and Ald. E. W. Stanwood as sureties.

KENT AFTER "STUFFED" PAY-ROLLS.

He Weeds Out a Lot of Useless Timber in the City's Employ.

Commissioner Kent got after "stuffed" pay-rolls in the Department of Public Works yesterday. He commenced with the Street-Cleaning Bureau, out of which seventy-five men and eight wagons were unceremoniously dropped and with no probability of anybody being given a chance to take their places. This was done after a long consultation with Supt. McDonald, who said the discharged employes were superfluous timekeepers, carpenters, and laborers. Then there was a conference over salary lists and expense accounts with Engineer Artingstall, which resulted in the running expenses of Halsted street bridge being cut down from $7,180 to $3,900 a year. T. P. McDonald, whose name appeared on the list as Superintendent in charge of the bridge at a salary of $2,000 a year, was discharged. This position will be dispensed with altogether. Engineers and bridgetenders will do the work. The salary list for maintaining the new Van Buren street bridge is $7,000 per annum, and this will be cut. The salaries of the engineers on the Halsted street bridge were reduced to $75 a month. The appropriation for operating this bridge is $3,600, and the Commissioner says he cut the expenses down to that figure.

Two rodmen employed on the northwest land tunnel survey were dropped and others will be considered today. Joseph Haberkorn, the House Moving Superintendent, received his discharge. Joseph Vensek, timekeeper for the Bureau of Water Pipe Extension in the Town of Lake, was discharged on account of the alleged forged certificate issued the laborers in the bureau under the signatures of Foreman James Weir and Timekeeper Vensek. In order to run his department upon business principles the Commissioner is preparing a new set of stringent governing rules.

WOLF AND VAN CLEAVE IN HARNESS.

Each Assumes the Duties of His New Office—The Treasury Figures.

Adam Wolf took charge of the City Treasury at 10 a. m. yesterday morning, and by 3 p. m. had received from his predecessor, Michael Bransfield, a complete accounting of all moneys, notes, and accounts. The cash on hand amounted to $568,319, as against $1,884,680 when the office changed hands April 19, 1893—a difference of $1,319,360. When the last administration took hold Jan. 1, 1894, there was $1,943,099 in the treasury. Mr. Bransfield has not settled his interest account with the Controller as yet, but says he intends to do so in a day or two. The interest accumulated during the last two years amounts to $40,000. Mr. Wolf was the recipient of several gorgeous floral gifts from admiring West Side friends. Chris Mamer, the new Assistant Treasurer, also assumed the duties of his position, and Charles Smith was retained, temporarily, as cashier.

J. R. B. Van Cleave, the new City Clerk, also took charge of his office. Most of the day was devoted to receiving the congratulations of his friends. He made no changes.

HE SHUTS OFF THE PRIZE FIGHTS.

Inspector Lewis, Called Down by the Chief, Issues Flat Orders.

Supt. Badenoch of the Police Department has called on Inspector Lewis for an explanation of his conduct in allowing a boxing match or prize fight at the Triangle club on the West Side last Saturday night after a permit for the fight had been refused by the Superintendent. Inspector Lewis said he allowed the entertainment to go on on the strength of the old permit issued some time ago by Supt. Brennan and which was for an indefinite period. The Chief assured him it was not the policy of this administration to allow such entertainments and that he must not make such a mistake again. If he does, the Chief says, some one will suffer for it. Inspector Lewis last night issued an order to the Captains and Lieutenants in his district to allow no more glove contests or boxing exhibitions of any sort on the West Side.

Brown Defies Mayor Swift.

J. W. Brown, ex-Superintendent of Machinery under Mayor Hopkins, who was discharged by order of Mayor Swift last week, said yesterday he would not leave the employ of the city unless ordered to do so by the courts. He says he has a contract for two years. Commissioner Kent said: "Mr. Brown is not on the pay-roll, nor will he be. Neither will he get one cent from the city unless the courts order us to pay him. He has been discharged, and we do not recognize his alleged contract."

Notes.

The city took out a permit yesterday to erect a three-story brick school-house at Rockwell and Hirsch streets, to cost $70,000.

The School Management committee of the Board of Education will recommend at the next meeting of the board that hereafter teachers who are absent from duty on account of illness in the family will be required to lose only as much of their salary as is needed to pay the salary of the substitute put in their place.

HARD BLOW TO SILVER

WHITE METAL PARTY DESTROYED BY CLEVELAND'S LETTER.

Politicians Think the Battle Henceforth Will Be Between the Lines of the Old Parties—Fiatist Craze in the South and in the Mississippi Valley to Be Cured by Sound Money Arguments—Hinrichsen Says Palmer Is Ungrateful and Has Humiliated His Party.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—[Special.]—In administration circles the fiasco of the silver men at Denver is regarded as the first triumph for the principles so clearly set forth in the President's Chicago letter, and the prediction is generally made that the new silver party, with the figure-head of Sibley, is out of the race forever, the battle henceforth being within the lines of the old parties. It is becoming evident to the politicians that the President's letter was not only bold in meeting the issue squarely between honesty and dishonesty in money matters, but that the silver men were driven into an awkward corner by the declaration that the fight from this time forward is between honest money and silver monometalism. The Southern silver men are not monometallists, and Jones of Arkansas has not yet forgotten the way in which his coinage bill was thrown down by the mine-owning Senators because it did not go far enough. Administration men say they will have no difficulty in putting an end to the silver craze in the South and the Mississippi Valley if they can convince the people that free coinage of silver means an absolute single standard and that standard a silver one. The mine-owners want to put the country on a silver basis for selfish purposes, but in the Southern and Middle States, it is said, the people are bimetallists and would shrink from a single silver standard almost as much as from a single gold standard.

⁂

According to the closest and most enthusiastic admirers of the President's financial policy his letter will do much to open the eyes of the Southern Democrats to the fact that they have been made cat's paws for the owners of Western silver mine owners, and that the issue now is not between gold and silver but between bimetallism on an honest ratio and a silver standard pure and simple. The result of the Denver conference is supposed to mean that Democrats generally will make the fight within party lines, and secondly, that a victory for honest money in Illinois would mean the settlement of the whole question in the Democratic party, while a triumph in Illinois for silver would still leave the coinage question to be settled in the national convention. The administration is watching developments in Illinois with great eagerness.

⁂

Senator Stewart has written a letter to President Cleveland referring to the President's sound money letter. Senator Stewart says:

> The country looks to you as the great champion of the present financial condition of the country. You say: "What is now more needed than anything else is a plain and simple presentation of the argument in favor of sound money." If you could point to any benefit you have been to the country your task would be much easier; but in view of universal distress your courage far exceeds your discretion, unless you present your reasons for gold monometallism without delay.

⁂

Prof. Langley was the host at one of the largest receptions of the season given tonight at the Smithsonian. The entire east wing of the building was thrown open for the entertainment and decorated in the most elaborate manner. Every detail of the occasion was on a very elegant scale, befitting the distinguished members of the National Academy of Sciences, who were the special guests of honor. For some years past it has been the annual custom of Prof. Langley to give a reception while the meeting of the scientists was in progress in Washington. The reception of tonight was in many respects the most elaborate that has yet been given. Prof. Langley was assisted in receiving his guests by Mrs. Olney, Mrs. Cabot Lodge, and Mrs. J. B. Henderson.

HE SAYS PALMER IS UNGRATEFUL.

Hinrichsen Charges the Senator with Having Humiliated Democrats.

Springfield, Ill., April 16.—When asked if he had read Senator Palmer's criticism on the action of the Democratic State Central committee in calling a State convention, Secretary of State Hinrichsen tonight said:

> I have read what Senator Palmer said about the action of the State committee in calling the convention and am sorry to note that he has lost his temper. He is an old man and a United States Senator, elected by the Democratic party, and I therefore feel unwilling to say anything about him that might be construed as showing disrespect to him or his position. Still, I can not allow his assertions reflecting on the honor of the members of the State committee to go unanswered.
>
> Senator Palmer asserts that a minority of the committee assembled in Springfield April 4 without making public the time, place, or object of the meeting. He also says that no member of the Legislature or other Democrat was called into the consultation or invited to attend the meeting; that the meeting was a secret one, and that I, in spite of the protests of members of the committee, insisted on immediate action, and that I carried my point, etc. The facts in regard to the meeting and its results are briefly as follows:
>
> The meeting of the committee was called in the regular manner, and the Secretary, by my direction, wrote a letter to each member urging him to be present because important matters were to be considered. The newspapers announced this meeting nearly a week in advance, and it was generally discussed by Democrats in Springfield. The object of a committee meeting is seldom if ever mentioned in the call, for it is not the policy of the organization to advertise its plans to the world. However, on this occasion I gave out to the press the day previous to the meeting the information that I intended laying before the committee the proposition to call a State convention to consider the money question, and it was noticed in the papers. When the committee was called to order twenty-one of the thirty-one members were present in person or by proxy. Proxies have always been recognized in the State committee at such meetings, and certainly no question could be raised as to their validity on the occasion. A quorum was present and the meeting was an open one. It was attended by the representatives of several newspapers and the Associated Press and was open to every one. The question of calling a convention was presented and fully discussed before a vote was taken. The roll-call showed that seventeen were in favor of the convention and three against it—one not voting. It is worth while noting that all the votes against calling the convention were cast by proxies. It will be seen that there was not the slightest irregularity in the proceedings, the spirit and letter of the rules and customs of the committee being fully complied with.
>
> I will say further, that previous to calling the meeting of the committee I consulted a majority of the members as to the advisability of calling a State convention and they agreed that it was the proper thing to do. Two members of the committee—Cable and Goodrich—played the baby act and said they were not present because they did not know what was going to be done. Cable has never attended a meeting of the committee since he has been a member of it, and Goodrich sent a proxy with instructions to vote against calling a convention. They are the last persons who should complain.
>
> Senator Palmer says further that he believes the calling of the State convention was an act of deliberate treachery and disloyalty to the Democratic party and to Democratic principles. This is a serious charge for a Senator, elected as a Democrat, to make against a majority of the Democratic State Central Committee and one that calls for positive proof on the part of him who makes it. The convention when it meets will decide as to where the treachery lies; whether it is with the committee which submitted an important question to the party or with the Senator who proposes to refuse to them that right. Senator Palmer has humiliated every Democrat who took part in his election, not only by refusing to carry out the platform on which he was elected, but by his base ingratitude toward the men most active in bringing about his election. Of the seventeen members of the committee whom he calls traitors, eleven were members of the committee having charge of his Senatorial campaign and who gave time and money without stint in his interests. The Democracy of the State will judge him and them, and no one doubts what the decision will be.

SAYS THERE MUST BE A NEW PARTY.

Gen. A. J. Warner Stigmatizes Cleveland Letter as Dishonest.

Denver, Colo., April 16.—Gen. A. J. Warner, in an interview, stigmatized President Cleveland's financial letter as a dishonest representation of facts, which contained an apprehension of defeat and an acknowledgment of the great battle pending.

"But there must be a new party," he added, "We must mass the millions of voters who want bimetallism. I think that party will be formed. If I did not I would go home now and stay there."

Mr. Sibley said that from a hasty perusal of the letter he judged it was a string of glittering generalities, empty words signifying nothing.

James B. Weaver characterized the letter as stupid. He said:

> It is evident that Mr. Cleveland and the gold wing of the Democratic party will ally themselves with the Republican party in the next campaign. In fact, there will be but two parties—the gold and bank party, represented by the Republican ticket, and the united reform movement or alliance, consisting of Populists, free silver Democrats, and free silver Republicans.

The Rocky Mountain News says: "The actor at Washington now appears without his disguise. He throws the weight of his great position on the side of the money kings and against the people. Threatened and alarmed by the rising flood of knowledge they are hastening to solidify their forces in order that their clutch on the throat of industry may be maintained."

The Republican says: "If his letter contains the best arguments that can be advanced in favor of the single gold standard the intelligent people of this country are certain to repudiate that standard as soon as they can get an opportunity."

RANSOM'S APPOINTMENT IS VALID.

High Officials Say the Mexican Minister Will Continue to Hold Office.

Washington, D. C. April 16.—High officials of the Government take no stock in the statement that ex-Senator Ransom's appointment as Minister to Mexico was illegal under the Constitution, because the compensation of the office was increased during his term as Senator. Although Mr. Ransom was "nominated" and confirmed during his term of service, it will be held that he was not "appointed" until he had received his commission, which was March 5, when he had ceased to be a Senator.

NOTES FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

National Academy of Sciences Holding Its Thirty-second Annual Session.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—The National Academy of Sciences met today for its thirty-second annual session. The morning session, which was held behind closed doors, dealt with various matters of routine business connected with the finances of the society and the regular program for subsequent sessions. The first paper presented was by Mr. M. P. Ravenel, professor of bacteriology in the Scott Laboratory in the Pennsylvania University. Prof. Agassiz read a paper on "Fauna of Fish Along the Florida Reef." The academy will continue its sessions daily until Friday.

Identifying Army Recruits.

It has been found in the last three months that of every 1,000 men enlisted from civil life thirty-one were identified through the outline figure card records as convicts, deserters, or otherwise undesirable characters. The officials of the War Department are now thoroughly satisfied as to the merits of the identification system, and as for the privates they willingly pay the price of submitting to the examination and record in consideration of being saved from ultimate association with notorious scoundrels.

Decides Against the Northern Pacific.

Secretary Smith has decided adversely to the claim of the Northern Pacific railroad to lands lying in Idaho within the limits of its grant, but which were subsequently withdrawn by proclamation and formed into a part of Cœur d'Alene India Reservation. More recently the Indians ceded these lands back to the United States and Congress confirmed the cession.

Instructions to Land Surveyors.

Commissioner Lamoreux has issued instructions to the mineral land surveyors in Montana and Idaho, recently appointed by the President, to organize by the 25th of this month and be ready for business by May 1.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Freights and Charters.

CHICAGO—The John Duncan for corn to Kingston at 2½ cents was the only charter made.

DULUTH, Minn.—The steamer Maine and consorts have been chartered for the season to carry lumber from Duluth to Saginaw at $1.75.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The Lake Line Managers have agreed upon their east-bound freight rates. They are practically the same as those prevailing last year.

DETROIT, Mich.—There is loaded on board vessels here to forward at the opening of navigation 592,000 bushels of wheat. Detroit elevators contain 1,000,000 bushels more to be shipped by May 1. The steamer Niagara is chartered for lumber from Manistique to Montreal for export. The rate is $4.50.

Around the Lakes.

NORTHPORT, Mich., April 16.—Navigation is open on Grand Traverse Bay. The steamer Petoskey arrived this morning and the steamer Crescent tonight.

BAY CITY, Mich., April 16.—The longshoremen's union has fixed wages at 35 cents an hour for the season. This is five cents lower than last year's rates.

CLEVELAND, O., April 16.—Inspector General Dumont was here today and informed vesselmen that steamers must erect another spar if necessary to carry the range lights required by the White bill.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., April 16.—Tugmen came to an agreement today and will run the tugs in an association the same as last year. The towing rates have been reduced on all tonnage up to 500 tons.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 16.—[Special.]—American vessel owners are counting upon a seventeen-foot channel in the new Canadian Canal at Sault Ste. Marie, which is two feet deeper than the American Canal. The Canadian Canal is expected to receive a large share of traffic the coming season.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 16.—The tug Cascade today succeeded in forcing a passage through the ice which has blockaded this harbor and left for Lorain. It is believed boats arriving here Friday or Saturday will have no trouble in getting through. Steamer State of Ohio was ordered to leave Cleveland for Buffalo tomorrow night.

PORT HURON, Mich., April 16.—The north wind has driven the heavy ice down to this end of Lake Huron and a heavy ice bridge has formed across the head of St. Clair River. There are large fields of ice aground on the head of the middle ground abreast of this city. Reports from Grand Point state that the steamers Kittie M. Forbes, State of Michigan, and Arundell are fast in the ice abreast of that place. By the time the grain fleet arrives here they will be able to get through without trouble, as the weather is becoming milder.

DETROIT, Mich., April 16.—The expected boom in the Canadian lumber interest on Georgian Bay on account of lumber being put on the free list shows no signs of materializing this spring. On the other hand, a vast business in rafting Canadian logs to sawmills on this side of the line will be done. Alger, Smith & Co. will raft about 50,000,000 feet of logs to Detroit and Ecorse from Black River, and will also send 20,000,000 feet from Georgian Bay to Cheboygan to be manufactured there. Brownlee & Co. will raft 3,000,000 feet from Georgian Bay and 2,000,000 feet from Cheboygan to their mills at River Rouge. The Delta Lumber company has purchased the Moffatt mill, and will raft 4,000,000 feet from Georgian Bay and vicinity and 12,000,000 feet from Manistique.

FALLS LIKE A BLIGHT.

INCOME TAX HOPES OF THE TREASURY PEOPLE SHATTERED.

Returns Show the Receipts from the Impost May Not Exceed $10,000,000—Other Treasury Income Also Falling Behind, and It Is Feared the Deficit Will Reach $58,000,000—Belief Expressed That Fully 10 Per Cent of Persons Liable Have Made No Returns.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—[Special.]—The bluest lot of people in Washington today were those who had been predicting heavy receipts for the Treasury during the remainder of the fiscal year. The reports from Collectors of Internal Revenue over the country were very discouraging to those who had expected heavy returns from the income tax. While the returns themselves have not of course been sent in enough was received from the Collectors during the day to make it apparent the income tax is going to be a great disappointment. "If we get one-third of what we had expected out of it," said a prominent official of the Treasury, "it will be all that I now expect. That decision of the Supreme Court played smash with our prospects on income tax. I do not believe we shall get $10,000,000 out of it, and as a part of that will be paid in June and a part in July we shall not feel it in any way."

It was a blue day all around at the department. Not only were the reports from the income tax returns depressing, but the receipts were even more so. They amounted to only $458,397 for the day, including everything, making the deficiency for the month $9,199,875 and $51,768,489 since the new law went into effect. These figures, coupled with the bad news from the income tax, made it apparent the fiscal year, which is to end in seventy-five days, is going to figure up a big disappointment as measured by Secretary Carlisle's estimates sent to Congress on the opening of the last season. Those estimates it will be remembered put the receipts at $340,000,000 and the expenditures at $360,000,000. Up to this time the receipts have been $249,160,619, or an average of $859,048 per day. If they run on at the same average they will amount to $63,921,025 for the remainder of the year, making the total for the year $313,131,644, or $26,868,356 less than the estimates.

On the other hand the expenditures seem likely to exceed the estimates by a considerable sum. The estimated expenditures for the year were $360,000,000. Up to this time the expenditures have been $294,902,648, or an average of $1,009,940 per day. If they run on at the same average they will amount during the remaining 75 days of the year to $75,744,500, making the total for year $370,647,148 or $10,647,148 in excess of the estimates. So, if the receipts and expenditures continue at the rate they have averaged during 292 days of the fiscal year thus far, its close, June 30, will find a deficiency for the year of $57,515,504, instead of $20,000,000 as estimated by Secretary Carlisle. Should the receipts continue to fall off as they have done since the beginning of the present month it will be still greater, and should the income tax receipts fall to the ridiculously small figures now feared, the deficiency will be something fearful to contemplate.

Today's statement of the condition of the Treasury shows: Available cash balance, $184,074,764; gold reserve, $90,329,185.

New Instructions to Collectors.

The following instructions were today sent to all Internal Revenue Collectors:

> In case of incorrect income tax returns now filed in your office, you will notify the persons who filed such returns that they must appear within a reasonable time, specifying the date and place for appearance, and correct or explain said returns; and that on their failure to appear and make said corrections, you will correct and increase the amount of such returns, stating the particular corrections which shall be made and the amounts by which said returns will be increased. Where persons and corporations liable to make return have neglected or refused to make return, and in your opinion false or fraudulent returns have been filed, you will give notice on form 369 to the delinquents and to those who made such false or fraudulent returns to appear and show cause why penalties shall not be assessed against them. All returns made by taxpayers for 1894, except such as are delayed by reason of appeals, must be completed and forwarded to this office not later than the 15th day of May next.

Although no official statement was given out for publication it is belived the returns received today show almost conclusively that a large number of persons in all parts of the country who are subject to the tax have not made any return of their incomes. The proportion of these to the whole number liable to the tax is by some placed as high as 10 per cent. This state of things is something of a surprise to the officials, although it was expected the division of the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the tax as a whole would have the effect of discrediting it with a large number of taxpayers, who would take the risk of paying a 50 per cent penalty rather than make their returns. This assumption has been proved to have been correct, and the result must necessarily be an assessment of the penalty in a large number of cases, as the officials no doubt will strictly enforce the act so long as it remains the law of the land.

NEW YORKERS DISREGARD THE LAW.

Delinquents on the Income Tax Said to Number 22 000.

New York, April 16.—[Special.]—The total number of returns received from Internal Revenue District No. 3 were 13,058. In No. 1 District the number of returns received will not exceed 4,500. These two districts embrace the entire City of New York, No. 1 District including Brooklyn. This makes the total number of returns in New York less than 18,000, and indicates delinquents to the number of 22,000. Fully 1,000 corporations, with head offices in New York, have failed to comply with the requirements of the law.

STANDARD OIL TO FIGHT THE TAX.

It Holds Its Product Comes from the Land, and as Such Is Exempt.

New York, April 16.—S. C. T. Dodd, general solicitor for the Standard Oil company, is quoted as saying in regard to the income tax: "The Standard company will make its return under the income tax law, but it will probably contest the law. It will hold that as oil is a direct product of the land it comes in the same category as rent."

BELATED RETURNS ARE OFFERED.

Collector Mize Tells the Tardy Folk They Must Pay the Penalty.

There was almost a score of belated income tax returns offered to Collector Mize yesterday. All sorts of excuses were offered, but Mr. Mize would not accept the returns and waive the penalty. The total number of income tax payers in this district will not be known for ten days, as it will require that length of time to sort out the returns of those who are not subject to the tax. The total number is nearly 16,000, of which over one-third are exempt. The Collector estimates the total taxation in this district at $1,600,000. A list of taxpayers failing to make the required return will be procured and forwarded to Washington. The penalty will be imposed by the Commissioner and suit brought in the Federal Court.

Judge Showalter yesterday entered an order vacating the order restraining Siegel, Cooper & Co. from making their income tax return. "I looked hurriedly at the bill," said the court, "and did not understand that it was based upon a question of unconstitutionality. I regarded it as a mere formal matter. The defendants were present in court, and consented to the proceedings, and, being a motion not contested, I granted it. The order will now be vacated and a hearing on the application set for two weeks from today."

When Judge Showalter left the bench he was interrogated respecting his reasons for vacating the order. He said: "This bill raises a question of the constitutionality of the income tax. It is not a mere matter between the complainant and the defendants, and becomes one in which the government is vitally interested. I do not propose in an off-hand way to grant a restraining order in opposition to the operation of a law which has been before the United States Supreme Court and by it maintained."

The effect of the vacation will make Siegel, Cooper & Co. liable to the fine of $1,000 for failure to make a return if the order is not granted at the hearing. Under the order granted Monday the firm would have escaped the payment of the fine had Gerson Siegel's suit failed before the court on the final hearing. District-Attorney Gen. Black will contest the granting of the injunction prayed for at the hearing April 30.

BIG SHRINKAGE IN THE RECEIPTS.

Decision of the Supreme Court Greatly Diminishes Income Tax Receipts.

Dispatches to THE TRIBUNE from revenue officers in Western States make report of income tax returns as follows:

Cincinnati, O.—Returns in this district will realize $400,000. This implies $20,000,000 subject to 2 per cent taxation, which would swell the aggregate of actual incomes of the 5,403 reports to over $41,500,000 last year.

Burlington, Ia.—The total number of returns for this district is 2,140, divided into 1,240 from corporations and 900 from individuals. This total is far in excess of early expectations. The receipts at this office will be cut down at least 40 per cent under the ruling of the Supreme Court exempting rents. The bond exemption does not cut any material figure. Before the Supreme Court decision the returns were made with uniform good nature on the part of taxpayers, but since that time a spirit of antagonism to the whole law has been freely manifested. Most of the later returns are accompanied by formal protests against the tax on the broad ground that the whole law is unconstitutional.

Cairo, Ill.—In this district exact figures regarding the income tax are not obtainable, but the statement is made that the amount collected so far is comparatively small and that the decision of the Supreme Court has upset all calculation. So far no one has refused to pay the tax and no protests have been filed.

Terre Haute, Ind.—The Seventh District received 1,500 returns on the income tax law when the office closed at midnight Monday. This is about half the number of blanks sent out to persons and corporations supposed to be taxable. Collector Jump estimates the decision of the Supreme Court has had the effect of diminishing the revenue in this district one-half.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Nearly 4,000 returns have been made and it is estimated Uncle Sam will collect $150,000 on incomes through the Milwaukee office. The Secretary of State turned over to the Collector's office in this city a list of 8,000 incorporations, most of which would be liable under the law. There are few persons or corporations in the city that have failed to make returns.

There may be some curiosity to know where all the "stupendous purchases" of clothing come from; those dizzy, dazzling developments of genius on the part of Whoop 'em, Up & Co.; those flights of financiering that leave common mortals like ourselves stranded upon the barren shores of ordinary common sense methods of doing business. It may seem difficult to make cheap clothing. It isn't. All you have to do is to use cheap materials, mungo, shoddy, noils, extract or low grade wools; hurry it through all the processes. Then get it made up in alley basements, garrets or any of those places which posesses an odor as though they had been the scene of a hotly contested prize fight between a billy goat and a pole cat—Pardon us for mentioning a disagreeable subject, but that's the way most of the "great purchases" are made up. Browning King's clothing is made of good materials only; made in our own factories, and sold in our own 15 stores.

ASKS FOR A GUARDIAN

MRS. LINGLE DRAGS THE SPAFFORD COLONISTS INTO COURT.

Judge Kohlsaat Today Will Hear Evidence on a Petition That the Whiting Children Be Removed from the Influence of the "Overcomers"—They Are Going Back to Jerusalem and She Wants Her Grandchildren Separated from Them—Other News of a Local Nature.

Mrs. Mary E. Whiting, the Spafford enthusiast, who came to America from Jerusalem, it is said, to try to force H. H. Bowman of Springfield, Mass., to pay over to her children, Ruth and John, the estate of her mother-in-law, valued at $60,000, will be brought into the Probate Court of Cook County at 2:30 p. m. today on a petition from her mother, Mrs. Regina Lingle of this city, asking Judge Kohlsaat to remove the custody of the children from their mother unless she gives up the Spafford colony and dwells apart from its members. This step by Mrs. Lingle is forced by the avowed intention of the handful of Spaffordists now residing at No. 1084 West Monroe street to return to their home on the wall of Jerusalem this spring. The reason for the petition is the allegation that the moral atmosphere of the colony home is not proper for the children to be reared in. Among the bits of evidence to substantiate this charge, it is understood, there will be a deposition from Dr. Selah Merrill of Andover, Mass., formerly United States Consul at Jerusalem, and said to be well acquainted with the Spafford colony life there.

Mrs. Lingle is warmly seconded in her petition by her son, Prof. David J. Lingle of the University of Chicago. Their attorney is Edmund Palmer.

H. H. Bowman of Springfield, Mass., trustee under the will of Mrs. Whiting, the grandmother of the children, arrived in Chicago yesterday and will appear at the hearing today to give such information as may be in his power.

"It is a delicate thing to ask a court to separate a mother and her children," said Attorney Palmer yesterday, "but we feel justified in this case. In addition to the moral reason there is the property that belongs to these children to guard. Already something like $43,000 has been used by these Spaffords. They all believe what is one's is the property of all, and, if this fund from Springfield should get into Mrs. Whiting's hands, they would all get it. Mrs. Lingle and her son feel that the matter must be brought up now and everything be done to remove the children from the influence of the community life. If Mrs. Whiting could only be made to see that it is right for her and her children to withdraw from this influence, Mrs. Lingle and her son would be much better pleased than if the court should direct that the children be taken from her. Her mother feels sure if they were away from Mrs. Spafford she would soon be herself again."

Luther Laflin Mills is the attorney for the Spaffordists. They propose to contest bitterly the move of Mrs. Lingle and her son.

Spafford's colony isn't dying after all. The oriental house on the wall of Jerusalem is still held by twenty of the faithful, and the leaders, who have been in Chicago for a year, are going back soon to the ancient capital of the Jews. That is what they say. But they will not take with them $60,000, which they assert belongs to the Whiting children and for which, it has been charged repeatedly, they made the pilgrimage to America. In fact they insist they did not come for the property held in trust by H. H. Bowman at Springfield, Mass., but to answer a summons to show that Mrs. Mary E. Whiting was capable of taking proper care of her children. This, they declare, they were not required to do. When they came to face the music in Springfield the proceedings never materialized there. Mr. Bowman says he did not summon them to come to America, but notified them that guardianship proceedings were to be begun. They came ostensibly to get the Whiting money, and threatened to carry the case to the Massachusetts Supreme Court to make Mr. Bowman surrender the estate. Mr. Bowman welcomed this news and told them to go ahead, but they have not done so.

The colonists make a general denial of all the current gossip about them. They insist the name "Overcomers" was coined by some overbright narrator as a term of ridicule. They never dreamed that the second coming of Christ was to be materialistic. They never assembled on the Mount of Olives in their ascension gowns to await the coming of the Lord to catch them up into glory. The advent, they say, is a condition in the heart. Finally, they do not own up to overwhelmingly burdensome debts.

Those scheduled to go back to Jerusalem are the following:

William H. Rudy, Mrs. Amelia Gould, Mrs. Mary E. Whiting, Ruth L. Whiting, John D. Whiting, Mrs. Anna Spafford, the Misses Bertha and Grace Spafford, and Jacob Eliahu.

The original colonists went to Jerusalem from Chicago in 1881, it was said, to witness the second coming of Christ.

AFTER NICKEL-IN-THE-SLOT DEVICES.

Agents for the Society for the Prevention of Crime Begin a Crusade.

John Hogany, William Frankel, and William H. Thompson, agents representing the Society for the Prevention of Crime, yesterday swore out warrants in Justice Foster's court for the confiscation of nickel-in-the-slot machines in twenty-four down-town resorts. The first raid was made by Detectives Fitzpatrick and Stark upon the bar-room of the Grace Hotel. Three machines were taken and C. Van Dern, who was found in charge, was arrested. Additional warrants which charge a violation of the gambling section of the State law will be served today. A visit to nineteen saloons in the down-town district last night disclosed the fact that slot machines of some kind were in service in all except five. In three places nothing more formidable was found than a weighing machine or a phonograph. In eleven places there were from one to three machines each, which are supposed to return from one to three nickels for every ten placed in the slot. The most popular and at the same time most vicious device is a new one recently introduced known as the "Kalamazoo." It is a practical wheel of fortune. By the investment of 5 cents it will play and pay, and is an economical form of a gambling device. The machine is popular with players and frequently swallows up $2 or $3 in nickels from a single player.

CARRIER ON A WHEEL GETS HIM.

Lively Chase for a Fellow Mixed Up in Robbing Mrs. Robert Klotz.

Mrs. Robert Klotz, No. 676 Wells street, yesterday had a sign in one of her windows notifying passers-by that she had some rooms to rent. Two men came along looking for apartments. She showed them the rooms, but they did not suit, and the men went away. With them went a box of jewelry valued at $75. Mrs. Klotz soon discovered her loss and chased the men to La Salle avenue, where they separated. One of them ran down that thoroughfare, followed by a howling crowd, and when near North avenue was overtaken by a letter carrier on a bicycle, who held the thief until the Larrabee Street police patrol was called. The man arrested gives his name as William Wright.

To House the Government Departments.

Special Treasury Agent Flemming of Washington is receiving offers for the housing of the government departments, outside of the Post-office, during the erection of the new building. Among the places offered him yesterday were the Monadnock and the Marquette Buildings, by Aldis, Northcote & Aldis, the Adams Express Building on Dearborn street by a representative of the Carson estate, and the Western Union Building by Manager Mulford.

Jury to Try Hastings Secured.

It required five days' time and the examination of 275 men to secure a jury to try Henry C. Hastings, who is charged in Judge Windes' court with the murder of Edward P. Hilliard. The jury was completed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. B. F. Shedd, a venireman, said he could not try the case without prejudice "because he didn't like ex-Judge Wing's bulldozing tactics in questioning veniremen." He was excused.

The will of Dr. Henry B. Ridgeway of Evanston, who died March 30, was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge Kohlsaat. The estate is estimated at $26,000, of which $20,000 is real estate. The will leaves all the property to Rosamond A. Ridgeway, who is also made sole executrix.

A Chicago and Eastern Illinois freight engine was held up at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the company's yards at Thirty-fourth and Stewart avenue by three men. The engineer, Owen Bigelow, No. 3230 South Canal street, and the fireman, Charles Dollie, were robbed of their watches and small sums of money. The thieves escaped in the darkness among the cars on the side tracks.

GOOD SPORT AT ROBY.

LIGHT ATTENDANCE BUT FAST RACING THE SECOND DAY.

Dominico Makes a Sensation in Run for 3-Year-Olds—Nellie Smith, the Other Favorite to Win, Helps to Save the Bookies on the Day—Foxhall, Jim Head, and Freddie L. T. the Others First Under the Wire—The Entries for Today.

Roby's second day showed a diminished attendance and a consequent decrease of speculation. Although the betting was light the racing was excellent. Two favorites were successful—Nellie Smith and Dominico—one second choice (Jim Head) and two third choices (Foxhall and Freddie L. T.). The bookmakers were saved by the forward running of the outsider, McInerney, and the defeat of the "odds-on" favorite, Dockstader. Freddie L. T.'s win proved that the better way to ride a horse is to "lay off" instead of going to the front at a splitting pace.

Starter Dwyer made one bad start, but the other four were above the average.

T. W. Coulter showed another good 2-year-old in Nellie Smith, who won like a stake filly. It was rumored that she was backed heavily in outside pool rooms. Some of the bookies put up 3 to 1 against her, but these were probably "pluggers," and the bulk of the money was in at evens. The sensation of the day and year was sprung by a Chicago man, Abe Botto, a heavy property holder on the West Side. Dominico was the horse. As a yearling he was bought at a sale at Garfield Park. As a 2-year-old he went amiss, but for the last few weeks he has "outworked" every horse at Roby, and is credited with a quarter in 23¾ seconds. Touts caused the bookmakers to hoist the short odds of 2 to 1, which looked far from tempting as against a 3-year-old "maiden," and one who had not been to the post. Still, bets of as high as $500 were registered, but the bookmakers stuck out gamely, and 8 to 5 could always be procured. Dominico proved to be a 1 to 20 shot, as he simply played with his field.

Virginian's improved race was expected by those who saw him so badly knocked about Monday. Tit for Tat and Constant both ran good races.

Dan O'Leary has been appointed the agent of the judges in the betting ring. John Kelsey, ex-assistant Secretary of Washington Park, is the patrol judge, and Billy Myers, the light weight pugilist, has supervision of the bar.

Bad start, off in two divisions, Mordotte among the tailers. Jim Head and Julia O. raced like a team for half a mile, where the former drew away. Willie L. retained third position by two lengths until last eighth and was passed. Zaldivar and Constant raced to the wire, the latter being given place honors by the judges.

FIFTH RACE.

In compliance with the ruling of the New York Jockey club the Virginia Jockey club has closed its foreign book under penalty of revoking the Virginia's racing license.

In the mile handicap at St. Asaph yesterday Equity, favorite for the race, was beaten by Logan, a 5-to-1 shot. Reiff, McCafferty's jockey, rode Equity, and young Downing, the mare's owner, charged Reiff did not ride to win. Today McCafferty met Downing at the Old Dominion track and in defense of his jockey offered to bet $1,000 to $500 that the horse could beat the mare if the race were run over again. Conditional upon Shields permitting McCafferty to take Logan for the race a match was made, distance one mile, Equity to carry 107 pounds and Logan 105, to be run after the first race at St. Asaph tomorrow afternoon.

CROKER TAKES FIRST

HIS EAU DE GALLIE WINS CRAWFORD PLATE AT NEWMARKET.

Simms Rides the Son of Iroquois Splendidly, Taking the Lead at the Fall of the Flag and Never Being Headed—The Favorite, Erier, Is Close Up and the Issue Is but Once in Doubt—Winner Was Formerly Utica—Winners of Races on American Tracks.

Newmarket, Eng., April 16.—The Newmarket Craven meeting of 1895 opened today with brilliant weather but a small attendance. An American horse won the first big race. Richard Croker and Michael F. Dwyer saw their horses exercise this morning and were early upon the scene. American horses were entered for the double trial plate of 200 sovereigns for 2-year-olds, for the Crawford Plate handicap of twenty-five sovereigns each, for 3-year-olds and upward, and for the Apprentice's Plate, 103 sovereigns, 3-year-olds and upwards. Mr. Dwyer is satisfied with the appearance and standing of the horses. He says they never looked better, but added: "Of course the conditions are new to us and we are pretty heavily handicapped. I have no idea how I shall show up, but we ask no favors."

Mr. Croker's Eau de Gallie, formerly Utica, won the Crawford Plate. Ten horses ran. Later in the day Messrs. Croker and Dwyer decided to scratch all their other entries in events to be decided today. Eau de Gallie is a bay colt, 3 years old, by Iroquois out of Duchess. The following were the conditions of the race:

The Crawford Plate handicap, of 15 sovereigns each, 10 forfeit, or 5 only if declared by April 9, both forfeits to the fund, with 300 sovereigns added, the second horse to receive 50 sovereigns out of the stakes, for 3-year-olds and upwards; winners after publication of the weights, 5 pounds of a handicap, 7 pounds of any two races, or one of 500 sovereigns, 10 pounds extra. Bret by-stakes' course, 6 furlongs, 26 subscribers.

Estar, 4 years old, carrying 6 stones 8 pounds, the property of Sir J. Blundell Maple, was second, and Erin, 5 years old, carrying 7 stones 12 pounds, the property of Capt. Machell, was third. The starting prices were 8 to 1 against Eau de Gallie, 7 to 1 against Estar, 9 to 4 against Erin, 4 to 1 against Woolsthorpe, 7 to 1 against Marfleur II., 10 to 1 against Acrobat, 10 to 1 against Lord George, 100 to 8 against Paprika, 100 to 8 against The Nipper, and 100 to 8 against Telensinus.

Willie Simms was on Eau de Gallie, and made the running throughout. The boy rode in masterly style, and won with comparative ease. At the drop of the flag Simms was first away and was never headed. Erin, the favorite, ran almost even with the American horse, and the latter seemed to tire a bit coming up the hill, and towards the finish it looked dangerous for the son of Iroquois. Simms applied the whip just in time. Eau de Gallie responded gamely, fairly jumped ahead, and captured the prize.

The cheers which arose on all sides as the American horse won could not have been more hearty if an English horse had come in ahead. Messrs. Croker and Dwyer and Hardy Campbell, their trainer, were congratulated on all sides. When Simms rode into the paddock after the race the cheering was renewed and the unsaddling was witnessed by a great crowd of people, the majority passing favorable comments upon both horse and rider. Simms then went to the weighing rooms and sat on the historic Jockey Club scales, and soon the reassuring "All right" was called, an announcement which met with a cheer from the crowd.

TWO FAVORITES WIN ON A BAD TRACK

Results at Nashville Are Greatly Divided—How the Horses Ran.

Nashville, Tenn., April 16.—[Special.]—Rain fell throughout the afternoon at Cumberland Park, and the track was in a miserable condition. Buck Massie frightened all the others out of the first race and the fifth, which had thirty-five entries, was split. Two favorites, a second choice, and two outsiders won. The attendance was small and the betting light. The Fleishmanns' entry, Uncle Luke and Domingo, was even money for the Nicholson House Stakes, with a guaranteed value of $1,000 at six furlongs. The stable had to depend on Uncle Luke, as Domingo was never in the hunt. BOOKMAKERS HARD HIT AT MEMPHIS.

Four Odds On Favorites in Front, the Only Outsider Being Well Backed.

Memphis, Tenn., April 16.—[Special.]—The pencilers doing business in the betting ring are having a rocky road, seventeen favorites having first passed the winning post in three days. The only outsider in that time was Floreana in today's fifth race, and even it had considerable support at 6 and 7 to 1, a false price in the light of its good race of a few days ago. Falk and Ware, the bookmaker-owners, won well. The feature of today's card, the Pastime Athletic Association Handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth, was won by Santiago, who carried top weight and had to be ridden out to beat Joe Murphy. King William, the much-touted brother to Kingston, made his debut in the fourth race, but was outfooted all the way by Marsiana, full brother to Hankins & Johnson's sprinter, Roslyn, and owned by Pat Dunne. UMPIRE "JACK" M'QUAID IS DEAD.

Appendicitis Takes Off One of the National League Staff.

John McQuaid, one of the best of the staff of National League baseball umpires, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of his brother-in-law, Ald. Frank Lawler, No. 424 West Taylor street. Appendicitis was his trouble. McQuaid first complained of being ill a week ago Monday night. He went to bed then and was not able to get up again. No operation was performed.

[John McQuaid was born on the North Side thirty-six years ago. He became prominent in local baseball as a member of the old Chicago Blues. In 1882 he played with the Peoria team. Early in the following year he went to Bay City, Mich., but returned to the Peorias before the season ended. In 1884 he was an umpire in the Western League. During the next two seasons he umpired in the Southern League, and the two following was with the American Association. In 1889 he joined the National League staff and has served since then. He was due to report in Washington Monday. McQuaid was popular as an umpire with both spectators and players. The only fine he ever made "go" was a $25 penalty he inflicted on Pfeffer three years ago. Martin McQuaid, "Jack's" brother, went East last week to play with one of the Eastern league teams. There are three other brothers in the city.]

ANSON'S MEN SHUT OUT LITTLE ROCK.

Terry Does Good Work in the Box—By Clean, Sharp Fielding.

Little Rock, Ark., April 16.—[Special.]—The first of a series of two games between the Chicago and Little Rock Southern League teams was witnessed by 1,000 people. Threatening weather kept down the attendance. It was a hotly-contested game and was not over till the last man was out. Terry did excellent work in the box. Anson's men are in good shape and their fielding was clean and rapid. The two teams play again tomorrow. The score follows:

CAN'T FIND THE CASH.

WHISKY TRUST ACCOUNTS ARE IN A PECULIAR CONDITION.

Expert Accountants Find Actual Surplus Assets of but $1,358,395, While the Books, According to Old Methods, Show Surplus Assets of $4,063,646—Some Items That Need a Good Deal of Explanation—No Vouchers for Immense Expenditures of Money.

The result of the work of the expert accountants on the books of the whisky trust was filed in the Federal court yesterday. The report consists of balance sheets made from the books for March 31, 1893, and March 31, 1894. It also includes the statement of the total receipts and expenditures during the year 1893. It is signed by R. E. O'Brien, chief expert, and Edward H. Harrison and F. E. Bugbee, accountants.

The current assets March 31, 1894, are given as $3,238,920, and the balance of surplus assets at $1,358,395, with surplus assets shown by the company's books of $4,063,646. The report is exhaustive, inasmuch as it presents an analysis of the accounts of the trust as they have been kept. It shows, too, some peculiarly-entered items in the ledgers. The report as printed fills two broad sheets, with explanatory notes.

Entries Which Need an Explanation.

The company's books were under the charge of the treasurer, who is also one of the directors. Entries have been made in the books, it is said, which need an explanation in order to be understood. The treasurer, it is said, understood the books, but no one else did excepting possibly the directors. This was the reason given why it was impossible to audit the books, which show the expenditure of millions of dollars.

The report shows the sale of 34,984 shares of treasury stock at a reduction of $55 a share. This sale, it has been reported, was made to Greenhut and his associates. Of the purchase of the Shufeldt and Calumet distilleries the experts say:

> We find no vouchers showing the payments for the Shufeldt distillery. We find only a check for the amount charged on the books, $1,600,000, with a memorandum on the back of credits by payments aggregating $1,355,557, and of the balance of $244,443 to the D. and C. F. Co.'s credit, with Mr. Lyman J. Gage, then Vice-President of the First National Bank of Chicago, of which the books take no account.
>
> To meet cash payments required by contracts for purchase of Calumet distillery the following two deposits were made in Chicago: June 2, 1891, deposit of $100,000 in the First National Bank, Chicago; June 9, 1891, deposit of $150,000 in Chicago National Bank, Chicago; no voucher or check found showing to whom paid.

In the itemizing of the investment account the following note explains the showing of the books relative to the purchase of the Star, Crescent, Central, and Nebraska distilleries:

> We find no vouchers or other evidence of the expenditure of six drafts on J. B. Greenhut issued between Nov. 15 and 30, 1892, and paid through the German-American National Bank, Peoria, supposed to be drawn for cash payments account of these distilleries.

The matured notes of Samuel Woolner in favor of the Star and Crescent distilleries are shown paid in the aggregate of $185,000. It also shows two payments to Woolner of $100,000 each in February and March, 1893. A note to these items says there is no voucher, and an explanation is required.

Items to Be Accounted For.

Another feature of the report, called "items to be accounted for," which makes a total of $510,134, is as follows:

Payments to J. B. Greenhut— Jan. 13, 1893, through German-American National Bank		$ 9,000
Payments to Samuel Woolner— Jan. 12, 1893, check on Central Trust Co., New York, canceled check missing	$60,000
Jan. 14, 1893, check on Citizens' National Bank, Cincinnati, to order of said bank	81,000	141,000
Draft on National Bank of Illinois, Chicago, favor Counselman & Day or Co. (Bought Feb. 20, 1893, through German-American National Bank, Peoria. No voucher found, and only explanation being the words "settlement of purchases," written in books subsequent to the original entry)		204,703
Check on German-American National Bank, dated Dec. 23, 1892. (Cover payment of four Eastern drafts of $100,000 each in favor of Moore & Schley, dated at New York, Dec. 20, 1892, signed by J. B. Greenhut, President, and drawn on German-American National Bank, Peoria. Only explanation being the word "purchases" written in books subsequent to original entry)		400,000
Total items to be accounted for		754,703
Deductions— Credit in Central Trust Co., New York, dated Jan. 14, 1893. (Only explanation being the word "credit on account of entry of Dec. 23, 1892," written in books subsequent to original entry)		244,568

Opposite these items there appears the following under the head of loss charged against investment accounts:

Amount written off after the books were closed for the fiscal year 1893 (no details or information given)............$510,134

Loans made to L. H. Terrell, trustee, aggregating $27,000, are written thus:

Loan—H. L. Terrell, trustee.

Amount written off after the books were closed for the fiscal year 1893 (no details or information given)..............$27,000

Note—The above accounting for large expenditures is shown for the sole purpose of agreeing with the company's books, otherwise it would merit notice only as one of the methods used for accounting.

Receipts and Expenditures.

The statement of receipts and expenditures for the year ending March 31, 1893, shows the net receipts from distilleries operated by the company, $2,641,850; the net receipts from distilleries operated by other parties under contract, $70,046; and receipts from other sources connected with the business, $43,858, making a total of receipts amounting to $2,755,756, less general expenses of the company amounting to $315,364. Dividends were declared on this outstanding stock during the year of $874,876, leaving a surplus profit of $1,565,515. The total receipts from all sources were given as $3,506,204, and the payments made from these receipts are given as $3,309,076, leaving cash in bank March 31, 1893, of $197,128.

MEETING AT PEORIA WILL BE QUIET.

Greenhut May Be the Only Director of the Trust Present.

Peoria, Ill., April 16.—[Special.]—Notwithstanding its importance as marking the formal transfer of control from the party that has held it from the beginning, there is every indication tonight that the annual meeting of the whisky trust tomorrow will be quiet. It bids fair to be remarkable in one respect, and that is in the absence of the trustees appointed by the stockholders to guard their interests. Information apparently reliable is to the effect that Vice-President Beggs will not attend. As Directors Morris, Frieburg, Greene, and Hobart have resigned there will be left, therefore, only President Greenhut and Secretary Hennessy to represent the officers elected a year ago. It is an even chance, it is declared, that neither will attend, or, at any rate, that they will be present for no other purpose than to tender their resignations.

The unprecedented spectacle may be presented of an annual meeting of the stockholders of a corporation capitalized at $35,000,000, whose earnings since its incorporation have equaled $12,000,000, assembling with practically none of its trustees in attendance. If Greenhut attends it will be to listen to the adoption of resolutions providing for his removal. The resolutions have already been prepared and will be submitted to discussion at a conference of the reorganization committee tomorrow morning. The New York members of the latter, including Richard Hartshorne, F. M. Lockwood, J. I. Waterbury, S. Bache, A. N. Hutton, and N. Bijur, their attorney, are expected to arrive in their private car early tomorrow morning. Levy Mayer, the Chicago attorney of the committee, and S. M. Rice, its representative, came down in a private car from Chicago.

There are scarcely a half-dozen other distillery men here. The Reorganization committee holds proxies for all but a fraction of the stock. The man for President has not yet been decided on, though the choice lies between Messrs. Rice, Hartshorne, and Lockwood, with chances in favor of the former. There is even a chance that in view of the legal entanglements of the trust the elections may be postponed until after the Illinois Supreme Court hands down its decision in the appeal from Attorney-General Moloney's quo warranto case. In any event the officers chosen will be only temporary. At tomorrow's conference the question as to where the charter for the reorganized company shall be taken out will be taken up. It is possible West Virginia may be the State chosen in which to incorporate, its laws being probably the most liberal for the purposes of the new trust.

YACHT HARBOR AT LINCOLN PARK.

Lincoln Park Club and the Board Have the Matter Under Discussion.

Prospects for the establishment of a permanent yacht harbor off Lincoln Park at Fullerton avenue are bright. The members of the Lincoln Park Yacht club are disposed to furnish a portion of the money and expressed themselves to that effect through the Chairman of their Harbor committee, John McConnell, before the Lincoln Park Board yesterday afternoon. A delegation submitted plans for the proposed haven to the Lincoln Park Commissioners. As the entire board was not present no action was taken. The Chairman of the Harbor committee was not prepared to state what sum the club would be willing to contribute, and President Crawford suggested that the matter be taken under consideration and that the committee return with the information at the next meeting of the Park Board, three weeks hence. In the meantime Engineer Alexander was instructed to take soundings in the vicinity of the proposed harbor and prepare an estimate of the probable cost of construction. The club will probably appoint a committee to assist Engineer Alexander in his work in making the soundings.

The large steam yacht Sentinel, which will be here by the opening of the yachting season, has been purchased by L. C. Wachsmuth, who has owned the steel steam yacht Aeolus for the last two seasons. Capt. Joe Shalkenback will leave for Brooklyn next Tuesday night to sail the new craft to Chicago. The Sentinel is wood, 125 feet long, 19 feet beam, and 9 feet 2 inches deep, will draw 7 feet 8 inches with bunkers full of coal. The yacht is full schooner rigged. The complement of small boats includes a naptha launch and three rowboats. The Sentinel is guaranteed a speed of fourteen miles an hour. The Aeolus has been sold in Brooklyn.

BENT'S CLAIM TO THE ESTATE IS DENIED.

Administrator of His Dead Wife Alleges a Singular Marriage Contract.

Louisville, Ky., April 16.—[Special.]—The Louisville Trust company, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Mary E. Bent, in connection with whose death sensational charges of poisoning have been made, has filed an answer to the will contest suit of John W. Bent and John H. Farley, husband and son, respectively, of the dead woman. The trust company sets up the alleged fact that a marriage contract was entered into by Mr. and Mrs. Bent whereby neither was to have any claim to the estate of the other after the death of either.

Typhoid Fever.

(From the Greenville, N. C., Reflector.)

The following interview has just been given our reporter by G. A. Baker, the overseer at the farm of Col. Isaac A. Sugg of Greenville, N. C. It will interest any one who has ever had typhoid fever. Mr. Baker said in part:

"I was living in Beaufort County, and on the 2d day of October, 1893, I was stricken down with typhoid fever. I had the best physicians to attend me, and on the 15th day of January, 1894, I was allowed to get up. I was emaciated, weak, and had no appetite. I could only drag along for a short distance and would be compelled to sit down and rest. This continued for some time, and I began to give up hope of ever getting well. I lost my position in Beaufort County, and, having secured one in Pitt County, clerking in a store, I undertook it, but was so weak I could not do the work and had to give it up. The disease settled in my knees, legs, and feet. I was taking first one kind of medicine and then another, but nothing did me any good. I was mighty low-spirited. I moved out to Col. Sugg's about four or five months ago and commenced taking Dr. Williams' Pills. I took three a day for about three months. I began to regain my appetite in a week's time, and then my weakness began to disappear and hope sprang up with a blessedness that is beyond all telling. At the expiration of the three months I was entirely cured, and could take my axe and go in the woods and do as good a day's work as any man. I was troubled with dyspepsia, and that has disappeared. It is also a splendid tonic for weak people. I say, Mr. Editor, God bless Dr. Williams. May he live for a long time. I know he will go up yonder to reap his reward, for he has done a wonderful lot of good. Tell everybody that asks you about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale Peoule that if they will come to me I can certainly satisfy them as to their merits. I always carry a box of pills with me, and when I ever feel bad I take one."

These pills are now so well known that it is scarcely necessary to tell what they are for. But for those who do not know we wish to say they are used to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves, and are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, and in men cure cases arising from excesses or overwork. They may be had of all druggists or by mail from

SIMPLICITY ITSELF.

A SIMPLE HARMLESS REMEDY.

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by the simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fresh fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin, and golden seal, put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth, and thus mingling with the food in the stomach, digest it completely before it has time to ferment, decay, and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs, and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics, and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars' worth of patent medicines, and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

RACE OUTLOOK GOOD.

SANGER AND TITUS HERE ON THEIR WAY TO TRAINING QUARTERS.

Each Thinks the Prospect for a Big Year on the Track Excellent—Trainer Schafer Thinks His Man Should Beat Johnson—Manufacturers Will Not Put Up Cash for a West Side Track—Knickerbocker Club Members Arrange a Run to South Park Sunday.

Sanger and Titus, the bicyclists, together with their trainer, D. L. Schafer, arrived in the city yesterday morning. Sanger is in good spirits and expects to be in fine condition for his prospective races with Johnson. Bliss and Lumsden entertained the mighty pair last night. They start South for Birmingham, Ala., this morning, and will train at the same track with Arthur Gardiner, who left town Wednesday. Sanger and Johnson meet first in the East June 29, race again in the West Aug. 22, and are to arrange a mutually satisfactory date for the final struggle. Sanger and Titus, as a team, wish to meet all comers at Springfield in September.

"I never saw prospects better for cycling," said Sanger. "I only wish they could fix matters some way so that a Class B man could get some real benefit out of his prizes."

"Conditions are favorable to record breaking this year," said Titus. "We ought to smash a few, and also win a few races."

Neither Sanger nor Titus, both modest and diffident fellows, would talk much of the coming races with Johnson, but Trainer Schafer figured that Sanger ought to win on superior form as a racer.

Schafer has already picked the time winner in the Chicago road race. He banks on Arthur Gardiner, with Bliss and Peck as second and third choices.

Two of the crack West Side riders, Van Herik and Joe Skelton, will wander afoot for a while, and are fortunate in preserving their adventurous lives. Skelton and Van Herik, who are stars of the Thistle club, went out to Garfield Park for practice yesterday, and began speeding around the course at a furious pace. Finally Van Herik cut sharply across Skelton's path, too suddenly for the latter to slacken speed. The air was full of wheels for a second, and then Skelton, crawling out from under the heap, found Van Herik pinned down with a pedal on his neck, and dragged him off the track. Neither man was injured, aside from a few bruises, but their wheels were completely shattered.

SAYS MANUFACTURERS WILL NOT PAY.

Bicycle Men Do Not Believe a West Side Racing Course Probable.

"Where the money is coming from to pay for this proposed West Side bicycle track is something I can't figure out," said one of the manufacturers counted upon by the associated cycling clubs to help build a new racing course.

"I know that three of the largest manufacturers in the city are interested in the success of the South Side track and will do nothing to help any other. Fifty thousand dollars is not enough to build a track where it is proposed to build this new one, and that amount of money cannot be raised among the manufacturers. If they put up for this one on the West Side they would soon be asked to build another on the North Side."

The work of putting the South Side track in shape has progressed so rapidly it will be ready for use by the end of this week. That track at Wentworth avenue and Thirty-fifth street was headquarters for racing wheelmen last season and probably will be this.

KNICKERBOCKERS ARRANGE A RUN.

Women Riders of the Wheel Will Ride Through South Park Sunday.

The Knickerbocker Bicycle club met yesterday at the residence of Mrs. K. B. Cornell, No. 163 Twenty-fifth street. The meeting was called for 2 o'clock, and at that hour women on their wheels began pouring in from all directions. They wore their regulation suits—baggy knee trousers with short jackets. People in the street looked and turned to look again as pairs and groups of the wheelers sped past. Soon a whole herd of bicycles was congregated around Mrs. Cornell's basement door, and the owners disappeared inside.

The women seemed as unique in their own eyes as they appeared to outsiders. Every fresh arrival was greeted with bursts of laughter and a regular experience meeting was held as to what had happened to each on the way over. They all agreed that small boys are "just too mean to live." One pretty young woman, regal in a full suit of black, with a jaunty cardinal's cap, said the little rascals had pelted her with popcorn and yelled "Where did you get that hat?" until she felt ready to get down and box their ears, only she did not wish to be late at the meeting. Each one had some similar experience to relate as they sat around in groups. But they all declared that no power on earth would make them give up their knickerbockers.

The Knickerbockers take their first run Sunday, starting at 2 o'clock from Mrs. Cornell's house. The meeting was held yesterday to decide what the run would be. Michigan avenue was tabooed as too conspicuous. So the run will be made out Prairie avenue to South Park. The women will be accompanied by their escorts. They will also have the new club pennants, which are small tricornered American flags, attached to each cycle handle.

The club is growing in numbers daily and seems to be filing a pressing demand. There are no rules, by-laws, dues, or officers in the club—except that there is a President. Any respectable woman who wears knickerbockers can belong.

Kansas City, Mo., April 16.—An ordinance is to be introduced at the next meeting of the Westport Council by Ald. T. H. Wheeler which prohibits the wearing of bloomers on the streets. Westport is a residence town where many society people live. Bicycling has become the rage, and a great many bloomers are worn. Ald. Wheeler is a young physician. He has not yet decided on the penalty. It is highly probable the ordinance will pass.

Prize Drill for Militia in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., April 16.—A grand inter-State competitive military drill will be held in St. Louis the first week in July, under the auspices of the St. Louis Fair Association. The prizes, aggregating $16,000 in value, are guaranteed by the Fair Association, and the money is in bank to pay them.

THAT BIG NUGGET OF GOLD

What It Was and What It Came to Be—A Tremendous Rise in Values.

"That," said my friend, in reply to a question of mine, "is a very large and unusually rich nugget of gold ore. It was taken many years ago from a mine in El Dorado County, California."

"How much is it worth?" I asked. He looked at me with a shrewd smile and replied, "It is worth just nothing at all."

I thought that a queer thing for him to say, but held my tongue.

Two years later I again visited my friend's house in London, and this time I missed the big nugget from the cabinet where I had first seen it. But I made no comment. Presently he alluded to the incident of my former call and said: "I have something to show you." Opening a closet he produced a beautiful gold vase, and added: "That nugget of gold ore has taken this shape. Exclusive of the labor involved in its transformation the gold alone is now worth one thousand dollars."

What curious similitudes there are between things seemingly unlike. Here is one which it may be instructive to follow up. It is suggested by a sentence from a woman's letter: "In spite of all the nourishing food I took I neither gained flesh nor strength."

Now, why was that? Perhaps the history of the previous three years of her life may help to account for it. In January, 1892, she had an attack of influenza which left her in a low, weak, languid condition. Yet as most cases of this complaint end in recovery in a week or two, it does not explain the mystery of Mrs. Westfall's continued prostration.

She tells us that her appetite was poor, and that eating was followed by distress in the abdomen and pain in the chest, sides, and back. Hoping to overcome this state of things she took much simple but nutritious food. That an increase of strength should result from eating plenty of good food seems reasonable. How else can one gain strength? Yet, strange to say, no such effect followed. On the contrary her condition became worse, so that (to use her own words) she was "completely racked with pain."

The stomach, as we all know, is the only source of power in the human body and should feel warm, comfortable, and quiet. In Mrs. Westfall's case it was by no means so. She speaks of a craving, gnawing, sinking sensation in it, which was not relieved by rest or medical treatment. Certainly something quite different from influenza went to the making of that—we must delve deeper to find the cause.

Chemists often determine the character of a poison by observing the color it creates when applied to litmus paper; and it is sometimes possible to tell the nature of a disease by taking notice of what cures it.

The letter concludes thus: "In October, 1893, my state was miserable indeed. I ate so little that I was like a person starving in a famine. There was of course plenty of food, for we are well-to-do, but we might as well have been paupers for all the good it did me. There was a horrible taste in my mouth, almost daily vomiting, torturing sick headache, cold limbs and extremities, a tendency to catch cold and have shivers on slight exposure, deep mental worry and depression, and continued loss of flesh and strength. And I had taken drugs, tonics, and nervines until I couldn't bear the sight of a prescription bottle.

"How I was at last brought to try the Shaker Digestive Cordial I can scarcely explain to myself. At first I positively refused to have anything to do with it. But my husband and sister-in-law urged me to use it—not from what they knew of the medicine itself—but from the high reputation of the Shakers. They said those strange people were not only religious and honest, but had the name of understanding disease by a sort of intuition. At that time it seems the Shaker Digestive Cordial had not been as yet advertised, but was finding its way from hand to hand among those who knew the Shakers; and in that way my husband came to hear of it. He said the Shakers had a theory that most complaints were really either indigestion or results of it.

"On this I gave up my opposition and began to take the Cordial. Bad as I was then, in one week I was better, and in two months I was well. I write this a year later, having waited to make sure I was cured and not merely relieved. I AM cured, and willing the world should know how it came to pass. Some day I mean to visit Mount Lebanon, N. Y., and thank the Shakers by word of mouth." (Signed) Mary Westfall, Spring Valley, Mo., Nov. 3d, 1894.

And as to that nugget of gold ore. Ah, yes. Gold is worthless until it is manufactured, and food is useless until it is digested. Between the ore and the vase is the workman. Between food and strength also a workman—the stomach. And behind the stomach, when it is diseased and inactive, is the best of all remedies—the Shaker Digestive Cordial, whose excellence and promptness you can test for yourself by investing ten cents in a trial bottle at almost any drug store.
